Canada Stresses Importance Of World Radiation Watch

By JIM PEACOCK

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The importance of keeping the world alert to the hazards of atomic radiation and of expanding knowledge of its effects was stressed by Canada in a call for strengthening of world machinery to collect information about it.

In another step in the drive Canada began in 1961 to have the UN broaden international research into atomic radiation, Canadian Ambassador Jean Chadeaine introduced a resolution that would continue United Nations studies of radiation problems.

The resolution, initiated by Canada and sponsored by 18 nations, was quickly given unanimous approval by the General Assembly's speech political committee and now will go before the assembly for final implementation.

Chapdelaine, speaking in French, said the dangers from atomic radiation continue despite a limited nuclear test-ban treaty, although this treaty was a major step in reducing atmospheric radioactivity.

RADIATION RISES

The fact that during June and July of this year Canada registered a rise in the levels of atomic radiation as a result of nuclear tests almost a year ago illustrated the need for continued surveillance, he said.

The resolution came before the special political committee at the same time as the UN's main political committee was passing by a vote of 97 to 1 with three abstentions a motion calling for extention of the partial test-ban treaty to cover nuclear tests of all kinds.

This resolution, which also goes now to the assembly, was sponsored by the 17 active members of the 18 - nation Geneva disarmament committee, which includes Canada. France, which has boycotted the committee's disarmament discussions, was one of three nations abstaining. The other two were the Central African Republic and Cuba.

Albania, an ally of Communist China, which has refused to sign the partial test-ban pact, voted against it and Cambodia did not participate in the vote.

Savings Increase Reported By Bank

OTTAWA (CP) — Savings on deposit in Canada's chartered banks at Sept. 30 amounted to $1,118,000,000, up from $1,078,000,000 a month earlier and the $1,000,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1962.

The chartered bank statement for September also showed that call and short loans in Canadian funds amounted to $232,000,000 compared with $204,000,000 a month earlier and $275,000,000 a year ago.

Sugar Company Denies Making Huge Profits

TORONTO (CP) — Canada and Dominion Sugar Company's Redpath sugar division has denied it is "making windfall profits" as a result of the high raw sugar market.

"We are depending on our normal refining margins over raw sugar costs and not speculating on supplies," said a statement issued by the company, which has refineries in Toronto and Montreal.

"In 1921 a similar situation existed. Canadian refined sugar prices were extraordinarily high for the same reasons as today. World supplies of raw cane sugar were short.

"But supplies caught up suddenly and prices plummeted, almost wiping out many large food manufacturers and Canadian sugar refiners loaded with high priced inventories."

The price of refined sugar has changed 89 times since Jan. 1 —65 increases and 24 decreases. The price was raised 20 cents to $18.65 a 100-pound bag again Thursday.

tion" after skimming through a five-volume report on the feasibility of building the complex. The report, by three engineering firms, was formally presented to him Thursday.

The report now will go to a committee of high civil servants and their recommendation is expected in early January, Premier Lesage said. Then it will be up to the cabinet.

The project, which the Liberals have been talking about since 1960, has reached "the phase," remarked Rene Levesque, provincial natural resources minister.

The group of engineers was asked to study a plan that could turn out 600,000 tons of finished steel a year from a site on the St. Lawrence River.

The report "conforms to this mandate and replies favorably to the problems laid down," the government said in a formal statement.

RISING PRICES

The cost of living in Mexico has climbed recently because of a rise in clothing prices.

Okay Expected On Steel Plant

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government has come another step closer to a decision on whether to build a steel complex. There were indications the decision could be to go ahead.

Opening lead — three of spades.

This hand occurred in the Swedish team of four championship several years ago and played a decisive part in determining the winners. At the first table, the final contract was six spades, which was easily made.

But at the second table, the South player was more ambitious and arrived at seven spades. He undoubtedly should have passed six spades after North, who had assumed the captaincy by using Blackwood twice, decided that only a small slam could be made — but South boldly carried on.

His enterprise was richly rewarded when he succeeded in making the grand slam through a fortuitous combination of luck and skill. He drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace of clubs, entered dummy with a trump, and cashed the king of clubs, on which the queen fortunately fell. He then cashed the J-10 of clubs.

Having discarded three hearts on the clubs, he played two more rounds of trumps and cashed the ace of hearts, whereupon this became the position:

North
♠ Q
♦ A 8

West
♥ K
♦ K 10

East
Immaterial

South
♦ Q 3

Declarer now led the nine of spades and West was squeezed. He could not spare the king of hearts, so he discarded a diamond. Declarer thereupon discarded the queen of hearts and played a low diamond. When West produced the king, South took the last two tricks with the ace and queen and then had something to talk about.

There are those who would say that South had the hand properly, since he made the grand slam and won the championship as a result, and there are those who would say that South was quite lucky. Certainly this writer comes from the latter school, but how can you argue with results?
