S'side Pollution Solved, Way Cleared For Park

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

The way was cleared yesterday for elimination of pollution in Summerside harbor, and the proposed establishment of a provincial park along the Summerside waterfront, when the provincial department of health confirmed that they had given their approval to two of five proposed plans submitted by the Town of Summerside for the elimination of the harbor pollution problem.

Hon. Dr. Hubert MacNeill, provincial minister of health, said details of the proposals would have to be made public by the Town of Summerside, and confirmed that approval for two of the plans had been forwarded to Summerside civic officials two days ago.

Previously, Summerside Mayor J.E. Morrison stated that approval of one of the proposed plans had been indicated by the federal department of health, and the provincial public utilities board, and that only the approval of the provincial department of health was needed.

TOWN CAN PROCEED

With this approval from all three levels, the town can proceed with their plans for elimination of the harbour pollution resulting from sewage disposal.

Completion of this project would leave the way open for establishment of the provincial park proposed by the centennial committee, to be located on the Summerside waterfront just west of the town, and extending from this point to also include the area reclaimed by the sanitary landfill method a few years ago.

A new roadway, commenced last year from Hippenstall's corner on Water Street West, will extend along the shore line to the shore road near the golf and country club, and extending later to the Linkletter Shore park area, providing a new scenic shore route.

The proposed new park has the joint approval of Summerside and St. Eleanor's, and would provide a park area immediately adjacent to the town and within walking distance of all, where park facilities and salt water bathing would serve residents of both communities, as well as tourists and visitors to the area.

The centennial committee already has endorsed the proposed park, and offered several suggestions that might add to its use and enjoyment.

PROBLEM WORSENS

The harbour pollution problem which has plagued the town for years, has worsened, and the harbor has been declared unfit for bathing. Public opinion has steadily increased in support for some sort of sewage disposal system that would eliminate the pollution problem, and several proposals have been considered over the past few years. The most recent action by the council has resulted in preparation of engineering proposals, which have now advanced to the point of having been given the necessary approval by provincial and federal departments.

At press time, Mayor J.E. Morrison stated that with approval of the sewage disposal proposal, the town will take action immediately to initiate the project. He said "We will go ahead with the project at once, and it is thought likely that it will be completed this year.

Island-Mainland Traffic Booming

By NEIL A. MATHESON
Provincial and Farm Editor

The almost one-half million passengers ferried last year on the Borden-Tormentine run is only one example of the tremendous increase in traffic on all transport links between this province and the mainland in the past two decades according to figures released Wednesday from the office of B. Graham Rogers, director of transportation. The 482,791 passengers ferried between Borden and Cape Tormentine last year compare with 157,318 in 1941, an increase of 307 per cent in the 20-year period.

AIR TRAFFIC UP

The 35,250 passengers flown last year by Maritime Central Airways to and from this province represents an increase of almost 300 percent over the 1941 figures of 9,913, and the 165,010 passengers ferried on the Wood Islands - Caribou route is more than 500 percent above the modest 25,303 people carried in 1941 when the service started, and the 546,875 cars ferried in 1962 compares with 6,527 cars ferried in the first year of operation. There have been 1,823,120 passengers ferried since the service was inaugurated.

The truck traffic increase at Wood Islands is even more impressive; there were 10,285 ferried last year, compared with 629 in 1941.

The 8,447 carloads of potatoes shipped out of the province last year was by far the biggest rail export item. There were 1,053 carloads of livestock exported and 147 carloads of meats, according to the Canadian National Railway figures.

The 55 carloads of frozen foods is an indication of the progress this relatively new industry is making, and here's a surprising item: there were 439 carloads of gas and oils exported. Manager J. H. Cerry, Imperial Oil, explained yesterday that some of the products brought here by tanker are shipped out again. Imperial ships bunker oil to Mt. Allison University at Sackville, for example, and also ships products to such places as Port Elgin and Amherst.

Gas and oils was the biggest single import item, with 1,826 carloads. There were 1,218 cars of brick and cement; 1,042 of flour and feed; 646 of fertilizer; and 506 of asphalt.

There were 110 carloads of liquor, the report reveals; 104 of hardware, and 453 cars of building material.

Tyne Valley Forms Group

The province's 14th resources development group was formed Wednesday night in the Tyne Valley area.

Provincial research director Hartwell Daley said about 100 persons attended the meeting in Tyne Valley Hall and 65 signed up for the home study course in community development.

Chairman of the meeting which was sponsored by the Ellerslie Branch of the Canadian Legion, was Dr. G.E. Robinson.

Two community development films were shown and the group was addressed briefly by Robert Grindlay, MLA.
