Federal Candidates Head For New Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The list of candidates for the June 18 election is mounting rapidly to what appears to be the largest field in Canadian history.

With the June 4 official nomination day still more than three weeks away 776 candidates have been named at conventions or by their parties for the 265 seats at stake. The record of 954 was set in 1945 when 245 seats were contested.

With the choices of Wednesday's meetings included, the Liberals head the list with 240 candidates, followed by the Progressive Conservatives with 222. The New Democratic Party has 152 men and women in the race, Social Credit 149 and the Communists 13.

The 1957 and 1958 totals of 862 and 831 candidates respectively should be passed within a week as the parties seek to complete their slates.

Contests involving the four major parties already are assured in 76 ridings.

The western provinces are the closest to completing nominations with 252 candidates named for the 70 seats at stake. Progressive Conservatives have completed their slate in all four provinces.

In Ontario, 256 candidates have been named so far for 85 seats, topped by the Liberals with 84, and in Quebec 196 names have been listed for 75 seats with Social Credit in front with 67. There are 67 candidates for the atlantic provinces' 33 seats.

The current total is completed by five candidates in the Yukon and Northwest Territories ridings.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is the only party leader whose seat, in Prince Albert, is still uncontested. Liberal Leader Pearson has two opponents in Algoma East, NDP Leader Douglas two in Regina City and Robert Thompson, Social Credit chief, three in Red Deer. Leslie Morris, head of the Communist party, is one of five candidates in Toronto Trinity.

Twenty-two women have been named so far, one more than in 1958 when two were elected. Three others subsequently entered the House after byelections. The PCS have named seven women candidates, Liberals and NDP six each, Social Credit two and Communist 1.

The June 4 nominations will be for 244 seats. Nomination day for the other 21, in constituencies where extra time is needed to distribute election supplies, will be Tuesday, May 22.

Cigarette And Cigar Firms Merge

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Montreal cigarette and cigar manufacturers, Benson and Hedges (Canada) Ltd., and Canadian Tabacofina Ltd., announced they have agreed to merge.

Financial terms of the merger were not disclosed. Both companies will continue to operate independently while organizing plans are being developed.

Benson and Hedges manufactures Trump and Gold Band cigars in Montreal, and Alpine and Parliament cigarettes in Brampton, Ont. Canadian Tabacofina Ltd. manufactures Belvedere and Mark Ten cigarettes in Montreal.

Ike Comments On Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former president Eisenhower has expressed strong disapproval of the Kennedy administration's domestic program. But, he called for full support for its foreign policy.

The 71-year-old ex-president told reporters at a press conference that no one, in or out of office has sufficient knowledge to criticize President Kennedy on his handling of foreign policy.

Without mentioning any specific events, Eisenhower said he applauded what he called "a growing firmness in the administration's handling of its difficulties with the Soviets."

On the domestic front, however, Eisenhower expressed concern about "the strenuous efforts of the administration to increase greatly the power of the executive branch of the government," and "administration insistence upon increasingly heavy federal spending on all fronts."

Opening lead — seven of spades.

Suppose you were declarer at six spades and West led a trump and East took the ace and returned a trump. How would you play the hand?

There doesn't seem to be much to the play, but yet the hand is worthy of serious thought. To begin with, if you can make the slam but wind up going down one, you score minus 100 instead of plus 1,630 points. That makes a difference of 1,730 points, and that ain't hay in any language.

Suppose, after you win the trump return, you cashed the A-K of diamonds, which is one of the ways to play the hand. In the actual deal, East would show out on the second diamond lead and you would then find the slam difficult to make. You would have a legitimate squawk coming because it is unlucky to find the adverse diamonds divided 5-1, but we doubt that this would enlist a great deal of sympathy from the opponents.

Analysis would reveal that if you had commenced by first cashing the A-K of hearts and ruffing a heart, the hand would be made. You could then trump a club in dummy, ruff another heart, and claim the balance. The K-J of clubs would be discarded on the fifth heart in dummy and a high diamond.

That is really the right way to play the hand. By attacking hearts first, you assure the contract, if the suit is divided 3-3 or 4-2, regardless of how the diamonds are divided. If it turns out that the hearts are (unlucky) divided 5-1, you can still switch over to diamonds and make the contract if that suit is divided 3-3 or 4-2.

But if you commence by playing diamonds first and get a bad break, you will pretty surely be sunk unless the hearts are specifically divided 3-3.

By playing hearts first, you are sure to make the slam if either suit is divided 3-3 or 4-2. Attacking hearts first is therefore the indicated play.
