Richard Burton, Liz Taylor Expected To Marry Shortly

LONDON (AP) — Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor hope to marry soon although he doesn't find her "particularly attractive physically," according to Burton's younger brother.

Graham Jenkins, youngest of Burton's six brothers, says he understands Burton will settle $1,500,000 on his estranged wife, Sybil, and still regards her as highly he would solve his problem by having two wives if the law would let him.

Welsh-born Burton, 37, has been married for 13 years to former actress Sybil, by whom he has two small daughters: Kate, 6, and Jessica, 3.

English-born Miss Taylor, 31, has been married four times.

Burton's real name is Richard Jenkins.

Burton and Miss Taylor are currently living in adjoining penthouse suites at London's Dorchester Hotel.

Graham Jenkins writes in Sunday's News of the World:

"Soon Richard and Elizabeth hope to be married and a long period of anguish and misgiving will have ended, certainly for my brother. . . .

FELT GUILT

"I have watched him these last months wrestling with the sense of guilt . . . of remorse, which has interposed itself between him and absolute happiness with Elizabeth.

"If it were possible, under our Western code, for a man to have two wives, I believe this would be Richard's solution.

Jenkins quotes his brother as saying:

"Elizabeth isn't particularly attractive physically. She has the shape of a Welsh village girl. Her legs are really quite stumpy. Her chest isn't anything extraordinary."

Jenkins continues:

"But to him, as to so many, she has an indefinable quality, the quality that makes her the biggest star in the world. . . .

"She can be a jolly-good-fellow in a pub drinking her pint with the next; her language can be as salty as a sailor's but she is essentially a very feminine person."

Opening lead—two of hearts.

I came across this deal recently which was played in the national pair championship at Skytop, Pa., back in 1935. The hand received wide publicity at the time because it was one of the first examples published of the ruffing convention which I introduced into tournament play at this event. The convention is now widely accepted, and is also known as the suit - direction or Becker convention, as well as by other names.

The idea advanced was a simple one. By the judicious use of spot cards in a ruffing situation it became possible for a defender to indicate which suit he wanted returned when his partner was about to ruff a suit.

I held the East hand and my partner, Waldemar von Zedtwitz, led the two of hearts. It was at once obvious what the situation was. My partner had not led a club, though I had bid that suit, and the best reason seemed to be that he did not have one to lead.

Furthermore, the deuce of hearts, supposedly his fourth-best heart, could not be on the level because he would not have bid a heart with a four-card suit headed by the jack. So I read his low heart as being irregular and as a call for me to return the low suit, clubs.

Accordingly, I won the heart with the king and returned a club—the three. This low club return indicated that after von Zedtwitz ruffed the club he was to return the lower - ranking suit (as between hearts and diamonds).

Everything came out as planned. Waldy ruffed the club, and paying obeisance to the suit-direction signal, returned a diamond. I won with the ace and gave him another club ruff. We got no more tricks, of course, but South was down one.

The mechanics of the ruffing convention are very simple. A low card calls for a low suit return; a high card calls for a high suit return.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
