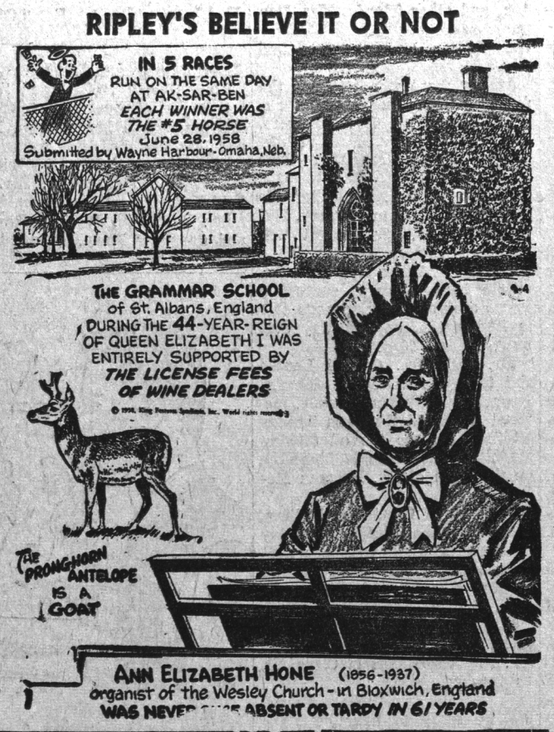
RIPLEY'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT



CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

QUIZ

The bidding has been One Notrump on your right, Two Notrump on your left, Three Notrump on your right. Which card do you choose as your opening lead in each of the following four hands?

1. ♠AQ94 ♥872 ♦6 ♣QJ543
2. ♠J10 ♥83 ♦J7643 ♣J982
3. ♠J7 ♥KJ432 ♦A9764 ♣5
4. ♠K83 ♥976 ♦K52 ♣QJ93

1. Four of clubs. Most notrump hands witness a battle between offense and defense for the establishment of low card tricks. The club is led in the hope that partner has either the king or ace, in which case it is probable that the entire club suit can be run outside of one club trick for the declarer.

The club is led rather than the spade, even though the spades are stronger, because of the greater length. The four of clubs is selected because it is the fourth-best club.

2. Jack of spades. Defense should always be a partnership effort. Although it would appear, looking at only these thirteen cards, that a diamond should be opened, since it is our longest suit, the thought should be abandoned because there is very little future to the lead. Even if the diamond suit becomes established we have no entry card that will permit us to run the suit.

In such cases it is generally better to take a shot at finding partner's long suit. He presumably has the entries to cash the long suit we hope to establish for him. The spade lead is preferred to the heart lead because the J-10 have a better chance to build up partner's hoped-for long suit.

3. Three of hearts. Here we are back to trying to build up our own hand. The question is whether it is better to lead a heart or a diamond, both being five-card suits. Either lead may work out well or badly, depending on what partner has in the two suits.

The heart is preferred because, all things being equal, the heart suit can be developed more easily. If partner has either the queen or ace, we are well on the way to establishing the suit. Even if partner has only the ten, we are one step closer to developing the suit. But a diamond lead practically requires partner to have two honors in the suit, a much less likely possibility.

4. Queen of clubs. Again we work on our own long suit because we have potential entry cards. Any honor card partner has in clubs will help us to build up our suit. Having no five-card suit, we do the best we can with what was dealt us.

In hands that contain sequences, such as K-Q-J, Q-J-10, J-10-9, the highest card of the sequence, and not the fourth best card, is led. The Q-J-9 is treated as though it were the Q-J-10. Hence, the queen of clubs is opened, not the three.

Macmillan Vows Crackdown On U.K. Racial Violence

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Wednesday night vowed a crackdown on lawless elements stirring up racial discord in Britain.

"The utmost strictness will be observed in the impartial enforcement of the law and in preventing the illegal carrying of offensive weapons," the prime minister said in a formal statement.

He said it is important that the significance of the incidents in London's Notting Hill district and in the Midlands industrial city of Nottingham should not be exaggerated at home or overseas.

The public could best contribute to the public peace by the exercise of "the utmost discretion" in avoiding situations in which they might become unwittingly involved.

FOLLOWS TALKS

The statement from 10 Downing Street, official residence of the prime minister, came after Macmillan conferred with Home Secretary R. A. Butler. Butler had received a report on the racial trouble from Joseph Simpson, newly - appointed head of Scotland Yard.

The disorders continued Wednesday. White youths in another London suburb stoned the homes of West Indians in the first daytime raids in Britain's current wave of racial brawls.

Okay Bridge To Link N.B. And Maine

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday approved in principle a bill for a bridge linking New Brunswick's Campobello Island with Maine.

Works Minister Green said the cost of the $1,050,000 bridge across Lubec Channel will be split 50-50 between Maine and New Brunswick with the federal government proposing to handle two-thirds of the province's share for the bridge and approaches. The province also would pay for linking existing highways with the approaches.

The agreement between New Brunswick and Maine would be subject to cabinet approval. Tenders would be called in Canada and the U.S. Canadian men and materials will be used on 50 per cent of the work.

Mr. Green said the bridge would not interfere with the Passamaquoddy tidal-power project under investigation.

Tuesday morning at breakfast time he was missing. He was presumed lost overboard.
