(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 — Sir George Perley was buried today in snow-clad Beechwood Cemetery after a funeral service at All Saints' Anglican Church where he worshipped for many years.

Thousands lined the streets of the residential Sandy Hill district through which the cortege proceeded with its cavalry escort of Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Hundreds jammed the church and heard Archbishop J. C. Roper say of the veteran statesman: "We are thankful for the life which he led and the example he gave us."

Heading the procession into the church were Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative leader Bennett, whose chief lieutenant Sir George was. Six cabinet ministers and Col. Eric MacKenzie, representing the Governor-General followed. The aged Duke of Connaught, former Governor General of Canada and a friend of Sir George, was represented by Lieutenant-General Sir Richard Turner, V. C., his former aide-de-amp. Edmund F. Burritt, K. C., represented Lieutenant-Governor Herbert Matthews of Ontario.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Jan. 7—In a cold driving rain that failed to prevent thousands from paying tribute, William M. Ryan, member for Saint John-Albert in the House of Commons, was buried here today. He died Tuesday following a major operation.

Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception was crowded to the doors as Bishop P. A. Bray celebrated Pontifical High Mass of Requiem. Other mourners stood bareheaded in snow and rain as the cortege made its way to St. Josephs' Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Federal Minister of Fisheries J. A. Michaud, Mayor D. L. MacLaren, Judge H. O. McInerney, W. A. Ross, L. McG. Ritchie and Allan B. McAvity. Knights of Columbus marched ahead of the hearse and formed a guard of honor at the Cathedral door.

FERRY SERVICE CONTINUES—The Rocky Point ferry "Fairview" continues to make the crossing between Charlottetown and Rocky Point although the harbor is full of ice. A lane has been kept open by the boat and each day the falling tide clears most of the loose ice out of the ferry channel. Last year the "Fairview" maintained an uninterrupted schedule until late in February.

TRAIN DELAYED—The Borden train did not arrive in Charlottetown until 7.45 last evening, an hour and fifteen minutes late. Railway officials said much of the delay was caused by a heavy track due to snow which had fallen during the storm which started at 1 p. m. and continued until 5 p. m. A snow storm began in Charlottetown shortly after 2 o'clock and turned to rain late in the afternoon.

SEED INSPECTION—By error in a former advertisement, we asked parties having timothy seed for inspection to send same to Ottawa or Nappan. This should have read to the Seed Branch at Sackville or Mr. Gordon McMillan, Dominion Seed Inspector, who is in charge of the seed cleaning plant in Charlottetown. You might have seed cleaned and inspected there. Department of Agriculture.

REV. B. MANZER IS SPEAKER AT SERVICE

Fifth Meeting Of Week Held In Trinity United Church.

Despite the inclement weather a good-sized congregation attended the Week of Prayer service held last evening in Trinity United Church. Those who were present heard a fine address by Rev. Byron Manzer of North River on the subject, "The Church and the Nation."

Tonight at 7.30 p.m. the final service of the week will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel when Rev. J. R. Skinner of Winsloe will speak on the subject, "The Church and Evangelism."

Rev. A. E. MacKenzie welcomed the congregation to Trinity Church as well as those who assisted him, namely, Rev. H. D. Raymond, Rev. S. C. Cooper, Rev. H. L. Denton, Rev. G. C. Webster, Adjt. Lynch, and the speaker of the evening, Mr. Manzer. Those present were pleased to see Prof. Kendall presiding at the organ for the first time following his illness. During the offering the choir rendered the anthem, "Come, Everyone that Thirsteth", in which Mr. Harvey MacPherson took the solo part.

Mr. Manzer's text was Luke 2:12 —"And this shall be a sign unto you". As Christ was the sign in the days of His flesh, so today the Church is the sign. A sign of direction and a sign of power. The speaker mentioned the warfare that is constantly being waged between materialism and the Church, and stated that all of us must again get back to Jesus Christ, the foundation of the Church.

In this day there are three signs that the Church should be holding out to men and women: the signs of Love, of the Cross, and of Immortality.

FORMAL STEP

The announcement fixed Feb. 19 as the closing date for the submission of briefs by importers, exporters, producers or manufacturers, and for applications to be heard at the public meetings.

Hull said a British delegation of trade experts would sail from Great Britain around Feb. 1 for the United States to begin discussions with United States experts.

The trade agreement with Great Britain, if successfully completed, may be regarded as the climax of Hull's economic program. The United Kingdom absorbed $440,122,000 worth of United States exports in 1936 and sold $200,385,000 worth of goods to America.

United States exports to Britain constituted 18 per cent of the total of all countries, and imports from Britain eight per cent of the total from all countries.

United States exports to the British colonial empire (including Newfoundland but excluding the dominions, India and Ireland) in 1936 were $49,000,000. Imports, chiefly of essential raw materials were $230,000,000.

Included in Deal

Hull issued a list of the British colonies, protectorates and mandates included in the negotiations. They literally take the negotiator around the world.

In Africa they are Kenya, Uganda, Tanganyika, Nyasland, Northern Rhodesia, Zanzibar, British Somaliland, Nigeria, Gold Coast including Togoland Territory, Sierra Leone, Gambia, St. Helena, Ascension.

In the Mediterranean they are Gibraltar, Malta, Cyprus and Palestine, including the Transjordan mandated territories.

In the east they are Ceylon, Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, Johore, Kedah, Kelantan, Trengganu, North Borneo, Brunei, Sarawak, Hong Kong, Mauritius, Aden, Seychelles.

In the Pacific they are: Fiji, Gilbert and Ellice Islands, British Solomon Islands and Tonga.

In the West Indies and elsewhere they are: The Bahamas, Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, Jamaica, Gayman Islands, Turks and Caicos Islands, Leeward Islands, Trinidad and Tobago, Windward Islands, Falkland Islands.

The announcement of intention to negotiate definitely starts the Anglo-American negotiations on their way. First intimation that they were considered was on Nov. 17 when joint announcement was made by London and Washington of "contemplation" of a trade agreement.

cause of some races being held at distances of a mile and a half, notably a handicap trot for fast record stars. Rosalind, three-year-old champion of 1936, was trained for the above event and it was found that she could finish her miles better because of the longer distance training. Rosalind took a record of 1.59 1-4.

The Yank, holder of the world's trotting record on ice—2.15 1-2—made at Mount Clemens, Michigan, January 14th, 1924, was inclined to be a bit short at the end of his miles, so was given a liberal quantity of double-headers in training at Dufferin track, Toronto, and Mount Clemens, and very few single miles, none faster than 2.20. The system worked well, and Ernie McTague, who trained him, had the gratification of securing a world's record for his charge.

Getting nearer home, the season before last Heatherbell was trained at irregular distances, double-headers, mile and a half and sometimes when he would take hold very hard, just one or two single miles. He was brushed quite a bit to keep up his speed. The system worked well with him as he lowered the Provincial record to 2.08 1-4 and trotted the three fastest heats to the credit of a Maritime trotter the season of 1936—2.09, 2.08 1-2, 2.09 at Fredericton. There is no question but that we are all inclined to stick to one groove, and perhaps versatility in distances could be adopted with benefit to more horses.

With the advent of Futurities in this Province now a regular feature, and with owners breeding with the avowed intention of developing a Futurity winner, the writer would like to emphasize the importance of substantial feed for the young ones. The reason they grow them so big in Kentucky is because they feed generously—four times a day—and they have plenty of rich grass for the summer. That, together with oats and corn, develops two-year-olds that are as big as aged horses in this country. We mentioned in our fox columns a few weeks ago the success which has attended Raoul Reymond's efforts in breeding at Southport. Mr. Reymond has a wonderful feed formula and uses plenty of it. He can grow them quite as big, as strong, as beautiful, and as well developed as they are in Kentucky.

John Hervey writing in Hoof Beats, says: "There is one quite extraordinary fact about the two phenomonal three-year-olds of 1937. The trotter Dean Hanover 1.58. 1-2 and the pacer Billy Direct 1.58. That is, both of them were got by such very old sires. Dillon Axworthy was 23 when he sired Dean Hanover, and Napoleon Direct was 24 when he sired Billy Direct. While Napoleon Direct has for years led all sires of 2.10 pacers, one thing remained a somewhat doubtful fact, namely, that among them all there was none that we might term his own equal. This fact was repeatedly mentioned to me by men interested in pacers, pacing and breeding and blood lines and an explanation sought. There was no explanation. Napoleon Direct had lived to be an old horse; had sired 500 or more foals of which over 200 were in the speed list. Why had none of them been able to go as fast as he? Well, the explanation has finally been provided and it has come in the shape of Billy Direct (3) 1.58, a colt that could have beaten his sire had it been possible for them to come together when each was at his best.

Napoleon Direct was one of the fastest pacers that ever lived. As for speed, that Billy Direct is no faster or ever will be, that I must be permitted to doubt. When Napoleon Direct was racing I repeatedly saw him display bursts of speed that fairly took my breath away. His strength was enormous, his determination relentless, his will to win would not brook denial. However, his gait was not equalized and he gave Mr. Geers (who raced him throughout his career) many anxious moments. He went very high in front, being one of the few two-minute pacers ever seen racing in elbow boots. He also went equally high behind, requiring protection that we would ordinarily see there only on trotters. In making his prodigious bursts of speed he even struck himself, which caused him to go rough-gaited, break and get into all sorts of trouble. The average trainer would have clapped a set of hopples on him plus a lot of other tackle and hardware, and in that way simplified for them the task of racing him, but as Mr. Geers was not that kind of a trainer he continued to the end of the chapter to race Napoleon without hopples, jibooms, birdcage bits or anything of the kind.

It was a man's sized job for sure, and I have seen the grand old man get down from behind Napoleon after a hard heat, looking and acting as if he was about all in; but did he deliver the goods? He surely did. If you will turn to the Year Books you will find that Napoleon Direct was an almost unbeatable race horse. It was in the season of 1916 that he took his record and he was the first horse that Mr. Geers ever drove into the two-minute list. That season he started in nine races, won eight of them and in the other won a heat and made Single G. go in 2.00 3-4 to beat him. That season Napoleon Direct and Single G. met eight times and Napoleon won seven and Single G. once.

Napoleon Direct is represented in this Province by the stallion Sampson Hal 2.02 3-4, the greatest three-year-old pacer in the United States in his Futurity form. That he will also prove a sire of speed is the prediction of many horsemen in this country.

SNAKES, LIZARDS FOOD FOR OFFICER

(By The Canadian Press)

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Jan. 7—Dr. Donald Thompson, special patrol officer of the Commonwealth government, was back here today after 15 months among the aborigines of northern Australia.

During that time Dr. Thompson travelled 1,500 miles to study various tribes. His only weapon was a rifle for shooting game.

When game was scarce he was often forced to eat snakes and lizards, or partake of native food

RENDERING First Aid TO FAMILY BUDGETS

In the home, as well as in government or business, balanced budgets are important. The comfort and well-being of the whole family depend on wise expenditures of the family income. The Canadian housewife keeps her household accounts "out of the red" by making up her shopping lists from the advertising columns of the local daily newspaper. She makes sure of getting best value for every penny spent by keeping informed of what and where to buy. She gets accurate information about what is available and about relative values by reading the advertisements every day. Her choice is made before she sets out on her shopping expedition. Consequently, when it is considered that the spendable income of the average Canadian home is $1,500 a year, the importance of these advertisements in the newspapers to merchant and consumer alike is apparent.

the Doctor said.

Mr. Lester Douglas, who had been presented with a life saving medal at Summerside 28 years ago, offered his congratulations to Miss Cooke.

Prémier Campbell in making the presentation said that it was usually with pride that Islanders referred to the bathing beaches which feature the shores of the province, especially on the north side. Occasionally, however, there were occurrances similar to the one which shocked the people on the 1st of August. The hearts of the people of Prince Edward Island went out in sympathy to the parents of the two children who lost their lives on the beach at Stanhope. And, as Dr. Yeo had said, a third child would have shared a similar fate but for the prompt action of Miss Cooke. The facts of the case when presented in formal manner had been duly recognized by the Royal Canadian Humane Association.

Following presentation of the certificate the audience united in singing "For She's A Jolly Life Saver". The meeting closed with the National Anthem. Miss Cooke was congratulated by all present on her reception of the certificate on recognition of her heroic act.

Nearly all stores closed as most townsfolk refused to pay their share of the fine. Troops and armored cars were sent to the Hebron region yesterday to assure order.

Hugh R. Wilson, assistant secretary of state, to be ambassador to Germany.

Joseph E. Davies, ambassador to Soviet Russia, to be ambassador to Belgium.

Three of the new appointees, Armour, Kennedy and Wilson will leave for their posts after the customary month's "period of instruction," during which they will read up on State Department archives relating to their respective countries of assignment.

Davies will not go to Brussels until Spring. He will remain in the United States until that time. His millionaire wife, the former Marjorie Post, has been in ill-health.

Today's shakeup leaves open:

The post of minister to Ottawa

The post of ambassador to Moscow.

The position of assistant secretary of state.

The question of what will become of Hugh Simons Gibson, until now ambassador to Belgium, remained unanswered. Asked this question today, President Roosevelt said he did not know.

The shifts mean that Moscow will, before many more months see the third American ambassador since diplomatic relations were resumed four years ago. William Christian Bullitt, first ambassador there, is now ambassador to France. Davies was there one year.

Much importance is attached to the President's sending, in this difficult international moment, one of his trusted lieutenants to London, capital of another great democracy, with which the President is aligning himself, at least on ideological grounds.

Significant is the fact that today's changes throw the balance of United States ambassadors decidedly in favor of "career-men,"—diplomats who came up through the ranks of third, second, first secretaries and counselor, as opposed to the non-career men, or political appointees. There are now nine career men out of 14 ambassadors and one vacancy.
