PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

THE publication here of the List of Prizes awarded at Georgetown, for horses, cattle and sheep, the morning immediately following the show, was a journalistic feat never before performed in this Island; and, therefore, we shall not be surprised to learn that the list contained some errors. In fact, the arrangements of the Secretary were such that it was simply impossible to obtain an official return.

Our thanks are due Mr. Maor and his assistant for their aid in making our list up from the Judges' returns, and also to the Hon. Daniel Gordon for courtesies extended. The errors—if there be any—will be corrected as soon as possible. The following list of prizes, in the "Exhibition Department" will, we think, be found correct:—

The Petite Moniteur devotes a long article to the inner life of Marshall MacMahon. He always rises at 6 in the morning, shaves and dresses and descends into the cabinet de travail. At 7 o'clock he receives the high functionaries of his civil and military households, with whom he works till nine. He then goes out for a ride for a couple of hours, when there is no Cabinet Council. The Council sometimes lasts three hours. "The Marshall," says the writer, "very rarely speaks, but when he does his language is always concise, sensible and to the point."
