Facts are Stubborn Things

So is Bad Blood. The difference between them is that a fact is here to stay. Bad Blood can only stay until Burdock Blood Bitters is used, then it must go. It takes facts to prove this to your satisfaction, and we give them to you every time we catch your eye. Here is one of them. Don't throw the paper down, but read this letter from Mr. Fred. Taylor, a detective of Winnipeg. We present his portrait, together with that of his little daughter, mentioned in his letter.

MR. AND DAUGHTER.

ONE OF THE GALLANT 60TH BATT.

DEAR SIRS,—Having felt out of order for some time, and having no energy or appetite, blotches on legs, tumor on neck—arising from impure blood, doctors doing me no good, I was induced to buy some B.B.B. I was very much against patent medicines at the time having tried so many, but after using two bottles I began to get better, and at the fourth bottle was completely well and around again. I believe in B.B.B. now, I tell you. I send you a photo of myself and little daughter, Lilly. B.B.B. cured her of nasty blisters which came out on her lips. Yours thankfully,

F. TAYLOR,
9 St. Stephen St., Winnipeg, Man.

A Child as Security.

OTTAWA, March 18.—One Burns and his wife have been tenants to a man named Taillon. A few days ago Burns left the place. Mrs. Burns informed Mrs. Taillon that she would not meet the rent and was about to leave. Mrs. Taillon replied that she was welcome to go, but she would keep her (Mrs. Burns) child as security for payment of the rent. The rent is still unpaid and the child is in Mrs. Taillon's possession.

Lord Tennyson May Not Sing.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 18.—Lord Tennyson, England's poet laureate, has accepted an honorary membership in the World's Fair auxiliary. The poet has been urged to compose a song to be sung at the opening of the exposition in 1893. This he would not promise, but the following note has been received from him:—"I accept your offer of an honorary membership not without gratitude, but as for a song I am an old man, verging on eighty-two, and cannot promise."

England in Egypt.

The London Times claims great credit for the British government for what they have accomplished in Egypt in the past eight years. "The credit of Egypt has been restored; her armed forces have been re-organized; oppressive taxation has been removed; the area of cultivation has been enlarged; water distribution has been increased; the fluctuations of the Nile are being regulated; and lastly, the fellaheen, as the peasants are called, have been relieved from their oppressive task masters. The record is certainly one of which any country might be proud.

The New Orleans Tragedy.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 21.—Detective O'Malley, of New Orleans, is at a hotel in this city and registered under an assumed name, and said to a reporter that he intends to return to New Orleans next Wednesday or Thursday and expose the workings of Mafia, concerning which he claims that he has information possessed by no other man. He declined to say anything about the bribing of the jury, except that he thinks they were bribed. He says six of the Italians who were killed were guilty of complicity with Hennessey murderers.

Easter Dates.

The fact that Easter falls on a very early date this year, March 29, has caused a "friend of fact and figures" to collect some curious statistics. In 1883, he says Easter fell on March 25, and it will only once again this century, namely, in 1894 fall on so early a date. In the three following centuries it will occur only eight times on the same date, namely, in 1951, 2035, 2046, 2057, 2103, 2114, 2125 and 2198. The earliest date on which Easter can fall is March 22, and this will happen in case the moon is full when this date happens to fall on Saturday March 21st. This combination of circumstances is extremely rare; it occurred in 1590, 1761 and 1817, and will happen again in 1990, 2076 and 2144, while during the three following centuries it is not once "on the books" at this early date. On the other hand, Easter never falls later than April 25; this was the case in 1666, 1734 and 1886 and will only happen once in the next century, namely in 1943.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Smart Boy.

A learned professor was explaining to his class how the identity of a thing might remain even with the loss of its parts.

"Here," he said, "is this penknife. Now, suppose I lose this blade and replace it with a new one—you see it has three blades—is it still the same knife?"

"Yes, yes!" cried the class.

"And suppose," he said, "I lose a second blade, and replace it with a new one—is it still the same knife?"

"Oh, yes!" said the class.

"And suppose," he said, "I lose the third blade, and replace it with a new one—is it still the same knife?"

The class eagerly responded "Yes!"

"Now," said the professor, triumphantly, suppose I lose the handle, and have a new one made—is it still the same knife?"

"Certainly!" roared the scholars.

But here a youth arose—one of the clear-headed kind. "Professor," said he, "suppose I should find those three blades, and that handle, and put them together again—what knife would that be?"

The professor's answer is not recorded.

The Keynote of Reform.

You may talk to many, perhaps most, moderate drinkers about the danger they incur, and your talk will be wasted. They are bomb-proof against all that kind of thing. But show such a man that, whether he ever indulges to the point of inebriety or not, the baleful effects are almost certain to be visited upon his offspring, and you strike him, unless he is a brute, where he has no armor to return the blow. A man may be strong in will-power, strong in physical constitution, able to drink and able to stop without making a fool of himself—but WHAT OF HIS CHILD? The voice of science answers that his child will almost inevitably start on the race of life handicapped because of his father's "moderate drinking. Handicapped in his will, which is weaker, handicapped in his nerves, which are less controllable; handicapped in his constitution, which is less impervious to the shafts of disease—handicapped, altogether too likely, in an organism wrecked before he was born by that strong willed, confident father of his, who ought to be his best friend, and who has been the worst enemy the devil himself could devise for him. It is not the temperance "fanatic" who says this, but the voice of science.

Perhaps, after all, the keynote of the temperance reform lies in the word Heredity, as the keynote of political reform lies in the word Prohibition. The father who can read those letters on the adjoining page and then turn to his glass with the same sang-froid as before is a man we don't care very much about "tying up" to. Do you?—The Voice.

Parliamentary Amenites.

Another pleasing episode in parliamentary debate has occurred in the cheerful legislative body of Arkansas. One member accused another of the dreadful offence of shaking hands with "niggers," whereupon the accused declared that the accuser stated that which was not true. The hurling of an inkstand was the response to this, and a retort in kind was made. A duel in which paper weights and cuspidors were the weapons, was interrupted by the arrest of the combatants who were forced to apologize for their behaviour. The exhibitors showed how superior these "gentlemen" were to any such degrading practice as shaking hands with "niggers."

The Arab Widow.

If an Arab woman who has lost her husband decides to marry again, she visits the grave of her husband the night before her second marriage and prays him not to be offended. As, however, she feels that he will be offended she takes with her a donkey laden with two goat skins filled with water. The prayer ended she proceeds to pour water on the grave to keep the first husband cool under the circumstances about to take place, and having well saturated him, departs.—Rochester Democrat.

Editorial Drawbacks.

There are drawbacks about the profession of course. If he sticks to it long enough he will probably, in the interest of truth, say something disagreeable about everyone whom he knows that is worth speaking of. The result will be that he will be disliked, and will only be able to have a limited amount of fun at home, among his neighbours. But there is no reason why he should not go away from home now and then, and enjoy himself very much, particularly if his journal's circulation is judiciously limited, and he can get out of its territory without undue fatigue and without expense. When he dies, he can count on having a large and enthusiastic funeral, and laudatory notices from all the contemporary journals that have thumped him while he was still in the flesh. It may even happen that his successor may be such a person as to make his loss sincerely regretted, but no wise editor will count on that.—Rochester Union.

Your Name by Magic.

By use of table given below you can ascertain the name of any person or place, providing the rules below the lettered diagram are strictly observed:

A	B	D	H	P
C	C	E	I	Q
E	F	F	J	R
G	G	G	K	S
I	J	L	L	T
K	K	M	M	U
M	N	N	N	V
O	O	O	O	W
Q	R	T	X	X
S	S	U	Y	Y
U	V	V	Z	Z
W	W	W
Y	Z

Have the person whose name you wish to know inform you in which of the upright columns the first letter of the name is contained. If it is found but in one column, it is found by adding the alphabetical numbers of the top letters of the columns in which it is found the sum being the number of the letter sought. By taking one letter at a time, in the way outlined above, the whose word or name may be spelled out. Take the word Jane for example. J is found in two columns beginning with B and H which are the second and eighth letters down the alphabet; their sum is ten, and the tenth letter down the alphabet is J, the letter sought. The next letter, A, appears in but one column, the first, where it stands at the head. N is in the columns headed B D and H, which are the second, fourth and eighth letters of the alphabet, added they give the fourteenth, or N, and so on.

An Indian Conference.

The Canadian Indian Research and Aid society which was inaugurated in Ottawa a year ago with the Governor-General as patron and Sir William Dawson as president, will hold its annual meeting in Toronto on Thursday, May 15th, there is to be held an "Indian conference," at which the most intelligent and best educated of the Indians from the various Ontario reserves will be invited to attend as delegates to discuss with their white brethren their present position in this country as a people and their future prospects. The idea is to give the Indian an opportunity to speak for himself.

With a view to providing subject matter for the coming conference, the following questions have been prepared and are being sent to each Indian reserve:

1. Do you desire that the Indian reserve system and the holding of land in common by the whole tribe or band be continued, or would you prefer for each Indian to have his own holding in the same manner as the white people?

2. Looking into the future, is it your wish that Indians should continue to dwell in separate communities and to retain their own language, or do you wish your children to become one with the white people and adopt their language?

3. Do you wish to have more voice in the management of your own affairs than at present, and if so, to what extent and in what way?

4. Would you favor the formation of a "native Indian missionary society," whereby the Indians, instead of contributing as at present to the white man's mission funds, would have their own missionary organization and send out teachers, supported by themselves, to their own heathen?

5. Will you state any matter that you think might conduce to the advantage and advancement of your people, which might not occur to the mind of the white man, but which the Indian from his point of view is more readily conversant with?

6. Will you send delegates to the proposed conference and meet their travelling expenses?—Montreal Gazette.
