IN MEMORIAM

MR. PATRICK I. MCCORMAC

The news of the death of Mr. Patrick Isadore McCormac, which took place at his home in Launching, on July 26th, brought deep grief to the loving home circle and saddened many hearts beyond, but his home was where he was at his best loved. Though not in robust health for the past few months, he was able to be around at his work as usual and was always cheerful and uncomplaining, so that friends and neighbors did not realize until a few weeks before his death that he was suffering. The late Mr. McCormac was of a good disposition, he was loved by all who knew him. His death was a great loss to the family and the community. He was a member of the St. John's Church and a devoted member of the St. John's Guild. He was a very kind and generous man and was always ready to help those in need. He was a very successful businessman and was a member of the St. John's Chamber of Commerce. He was a very popular man and was loved by all who knew him. HUNTING OIL IN AUSTRALIA

A remarkable expedition is about to set out from Sydney, to search for all in Central West Australia. The Australian Commonwealth Government has offered a reward of £50,000 for the discovery of oil in commercial quantities. The expedition, which will be away several months, is being led by L. T. Jones, and he is taking with him a team of camels, a wireless apparatus, and probably an aeroplane. This strange company will set out to explore a land 250 miles from the farthest borders of civilization, and while they may not reap the reward of a big oil discovery and the prize it would mean to them, a careful geological survey will at any rate be made of a hitherto unexplored part of the Australian continent. Colored velvet hand bags are new and promise to become very popular.

VISITING SPECIALIST.—Dr. David MacKenzie, pre-urological specialist and professor at McGill University who was in Summerside last week, highly praised the local hospital saying among other nice things, that for its size the Prince County Hospital was the best kept and most up to date hospital he had ever visited, and he has visited a very large number, his work taking him to all parts of Canada and to several States. For instance, navy blue crepe de chine has the color contrast given by the addition of a girle and hands of vivid red embroidery. The embroidery appears too at the waist where a tight band catches in the wide sleeve.
