Premier Bennett Seen Winner In Columbia River Agreement

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Bennett of British Columbia appears to have won a hands-down victory—political and otherwise —in the Columbia River agreement with the federal government announced Wednesday.

He and many observers feel that he got everything he asked —either from the former Conservative government or from the new Liberal administration whose attitude he is "very happy with."

In the next breath Wednesday at Victoria, the man who is rated as one of Canada's most skilled politicians, breathed fire at his provincial Conservative and New Democratic Party foes.

Mr. Bennett has a provincial byelection coming and also may be thinking about a strategic date for another provincial general election, although he could continue in office until September, 1965.

One question in Ottawa is just where the federal-provincial accord leaves the B.C. Liberal party. Leader Ray Perrault told the legislature in February, 1962, that no Canadian power should be sold in the United States for less than five mills per kilowatt hour net.

Mr. Bennett stopped talking about a flat five-mill figure some time ago, conceding that he wants only the "equivalent" of five mills.

On the federal scene, only the New Democrats are left in active opposition to the whole treaty, signed in 1961 with the U.S. but not ratified by this country.

The federal Liberal stand, as it turned out, was sketched pubicly last Oct. 4 in the Commons by Jack Davis (L—Coast-Capilano) in his maiden speech.

This former Gordon commission staff member and an economics consultant said then that the "only way which we Canadians can rescue this treaty is to sell our share of the . . . power to the U.S.'

"We must sell it or forget the treaty. And we must sell it for a much higher price."

That is the key point in the document disclosed Wednesday. Unless the price is right, the whole project is done for.

Mr. Davis, who has been the government's main adviser from within the Commons, called last year for a lump-sum U.S. payment of $500,000,000 to rescue a treaty which otherwise, he said, "will place Canada and Canadians at a serious disadvantage for many years to come."
