

DIFFERENCE IN FEET

The French foot is meagre, narrow, and bony. The Spanish is small and elegantly curved—thanks to its Moorish blood, corresponding with the Castilian pride—high in instep. The Arab foot is proverbial for its high arch. "A stream can run under the hollow of it." The foot of the Scot is large and thick. The Irish foot is flat and square. The English short and fleshy.

THE SECRET BLOTTER

Every foreign office of Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use for blotting paper was discovered that it was possible to cause a blotter to give up jealously guarded secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existence of such a thing, the British Foreign Office used a sand shaker to dry its important written documents. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used, but this was not found to be absolutely safe, and a return of the sand shaker was contemplated, when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down a document once or twice, the clearest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.—"Harper's Weekly."
