One of the oldest women's organizations on the island, the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association, was organized in 1918 It counts today among it's members, Mrs. Mary MacDougal the only living charter member.

The LOBA, has the honor of having Mrs. Jessie Larter at present holding the office of Grand Mistress of the Grand Lodge of British America; this is the first time in the history of the Orange Association of P.E.I. that an Islander has held this office.

Mrs. Florence Ross is the senior officer of the Grand Lodge of P.E.I. and has been successful in organizing two more lodges on the Island in her term as Grand Mistress.

In 1963 the ladies moved to their new home on Kirkwood Drive. In addition to helping furnish it, the LOBA, provided a propane stove for the kitchen and other necessities.

City's Queen Mary branch thought only one in Canada

The Queen Mary Needlework Society is almost unique in the fact that there are only three meetings during the year, and that there is no membership fee, the treasury depending entirely on free will donations.

The three meetings are the annual gathering held in late January or early February, a sewing meeting and the yearly display of the season's work in June.

The four-fold aim of the guild is as follows: the donation of a box of children's clothing, in lieu of fees to head office, is sent directly to the Queen Mother, who succeeded Queen Mary as Patroness, from where it is sent to the Queen Mary Maternity Hospital and distributed to other sources known to the London branch.

Another box of children's garments is donated to the Prince Edward Island Protestant Orphanage. Clothing is donated to the Service Bureau and knitting, etc., to the refugee work centre through the head offices of the Unitarian Service Committee.

The Charlottetown branch of the guild was started in 1918 by the late Mrs. A.A. Bartlett and has flourished, increasing its membership until today it has some 140 members.

The guild was originally founded by the late Queen Mary, two days after the 1914-18 war broke out. Today, as far as is known, the Charlottetown branch is the only one in Canada, although there are branches in Nassau and Connecticut, and of course the United Kingdom.

MRS. J. C. A. GORDON

Each year an invitation is sent to the Charlottetown guild to attend the London branch's annual meeting and tea at which the Queen Mother presides in St. James' Palace. Many members have had the pleasure and privilege of attending this function and have had the work of this branch singled out and complimented by the Queen Mother.

Later in January two members of the guild will be interviewed on TV by Mrs. Herring.

Cash donations to the club are sent to several of the local charities.

Officers of the guild are: patroness, Mrs. W.J. MacDonald; president, Mrs. J.C.A. Gordon; vice- president, Mrs. George D. DeBlois; treasurer, Mrs. F.A.S. Jones; secretary, Mrs. A. B. Cosh.

Other members of the executive are: Mrs. W.H. Pethick, Mrs. W. Chester S. MacLure, Mrs. A.G. Putnam, Mrs. E. V Bell, Mrs W.E. Champion, Mrs. H.E. Miller, Mrs. R.R. Bell, Mrs A.B. Fisher, Mrs. L.H. Davision, and Mrs. N.H. DeBlois.

B and P organization seeking 'to improve status of women'

The Canadian Federation of Business and Professional women's Clubs was originally founded by Dorothy Heneiner, Montreal, in 1930, although there was an earlier branch in the United States.

Purpose of the club is "To improve status of women."

Gertrude Love, Charlottetown, was founder-president of the Charlottetown branch in 1949. The club on the Island has a total of 90 members in the Charlottetown and Summer side branches.

Regular meetings are held on the second Monday in the month at the Charlottetown Hotel Provincial meetings are held annually in the fall at either place.

In 1963 the Island branches contributed to the Federation's project of educating seven girls in Ramallah, Jordan.

Elsie Gregory McGill, national president, was entertained here during the club's annual B and P Women's week in October.

Also in October, the club held its annual tea in the Royal Canadian Legion Home in Charlottetown.

We Like LADY DRIVERS

- - - and we think they like us, too — probably because every time they drive in we greet them with a smile and provide prompt, courteous and efficient service. And, also, we don't believe all those stories about women drivers - - - most women are pretty good drivers!

ted as an educational project, the Cerebral Palsy Centre in Charlottetown. It contributed both money and equipment to the Centre, including a portable typewriter, dictionary, and record stand.

In June a successful tea was held with the Anne of Green Gables Chapter, the money being used for educational projects.

The Chapter also played its part in the successful production of the IODE "Red Glove Revue." Several members took part in the show itself, while the remainder worked "off-stage".

In the field of services, the Chapter again made contributions, both in money and overseas gifts.

At Christmas time, the Chapter supplied treats for a Christmas party at the Cerebral Paisey Centre, and at the workshop for Retarded Adults in Charlottetown.

Slipper chapt. adopts centre as main project

The Lady's Slipper Chapter of the IODE was formed in Charlottetown in March 1961. Once again, its members, working with the national and provincial orders, have been active, particularly in the field of education and services.
