Speaker's Ruling Given Challenge

OTTAWA (CP) — The judgment of the new Commons Speaker, Marcel Lambert, was strongly challenged by Paul Martin (L—Essex East), who accused him of disregarding "the customs of this House."

Speaker Lambert replied he was trying to be reasonable and to correct some "extra latitude" that had been given in the past in the interpretation of Commons rules.

Speaker Lambert, whose role is that of impartial arbiter of Commons rules, was named to the post one week ago.

At the start of Thursday's House sitting, Mr. Martin attempted to ask the government a "supplementary" question to one asked by a Liberal colleague.

Mr. Lambert ruled that it was a "related" question that could be asked later. He said he was not trying to bar proper questions. But in the past, too much latitude had been given in allowing supplementary questions and this usurped the right of others to ask questions.

Mr. Martin replied that for four years in the last Parliament former Speaker Roland Michener had treated supplementary questions in that way.

"Your honor has no power to disregard the customs of this House, certainly as established by Speaker Michener."

SAYS NOT URGENT

Mr. Martin got his question in several minutes later describing it as "a supplementary related question."

Later, Robert Muir (PC—Cape Breton North and Victoria) was ruled out of order when he attempted to ask about progress on the proposed ferry service between North Sydney, N.S., and Argentia, Nfld. Speaker Lambert ruled it wasn't a matter of urgency, one requirement of the rules for the question period.

J. W. Pickersgill, Liberal MP for the Newfoundland riding of Bonavista - Twillingate, immediately came to the aid of the Nova Scotia Conservative, suggesting that the matter was urgent and of great importance to the two provinces.

Mr. Muir made an attempt later to convince the Speaker that his question was in order but Speaker Lambert refused to budge.

Mr Pickersgill, on a question of privilege, said such questions had always been permitted during his nine years in the House and suggested Speaker Lambert had "improperly prevented" the asking of a question of great interest to two provinces.

Blank Spots Seen In Tourist Trade

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Tourist Association convention here made pleas for more industry research and a better selling job to attract travellers.

Wilfrid Sanders, a Toronto advertising executive, told the 350 delegates "you have not mastered your subject."

Mr. Sanders, vice-president and general manager of the J. Walter Thompson Company, said there are as many blank spots as known facts in the tourist industry.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	1♠	Pass
6♠	Pass	6♠

Opening lead—ten of hearts.

Declarer starts the play of some hands with little or no chance of making the contract, but that shouldn't stop him from giving it the old college try.

The secret of playing these hands is to assume the opponents' cards are so divided that you can make the contract. This is a sensible attitude to take, since, if you play on the basis that the cards are stacked against you, you will seldom achieve the desired result.

South got to six spades on the bidding shown. He didn't have the values for his six spade bid, even with 12 points, nor did North quite have the values for his jump to four, but that was the way they bid it.

West led a heart and South saw he was in bad shape. He knew there was little chance of making the slam, but what little there was he played for.

He won the heart in his hand and led the queen of clubs, covered by the king and ace. He then played a club to the jack and ruffed a club in dummy.

Off to a good start, he now cashed two more rounds of hearts and then played the ace and another spade. When East followed with the nine, he finessed the ten, losing to the king.

West by now had only diamonds left. Forced to lead one, he returned a diamond which South took with the queen. Declarer was then able to ruff his last club with the eight of spades and take the last three tricks with the ace of diamonds and the Q-7 of spades.

Of course, South was phenomenally lucky to make the hand. The club finesse worked, the clubs were divided 4-3, the hearts were divided 4-3, West had the K-x of spades, and, finally, West had the king of diamonds.

But all this would have meant nothing if South had not played for these conditions to exist. Without the elimination play and his attitude of never - give-up, he would have been defeated.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
