SEEMS LOGICAL

When Lord Leverhulme was settling the tenancies of his newly purchased island of Harris, his lawyer drew up a very elaborate contract to be signed by each tenant. It contained no fewer than twenty-six clauses or stipulations.

"One old fellow," Lord Leverhulme related with great gusto, "returned the contract unsigned, and sent it with this note: 'I haven't been able to keep the Ten Commandments for the sake of a mansion in heaven, and I'll be hanged if I'll agree to keep twenty-six commandments for a wee hoose in the Island o' Harris'."
