year. He had a better opinion of Mr. Bennett than that. He asked for the support of the people on election day because by voting for Mr. Campbell they would be lending their support to "your Farmer Premier."

TRENCHANT ADDRESS BY HON. J. D. STEWART

Hon. J. D. Stewart, leader of the Opposition, was greeted with great enthusiasm. He complimented the Ellerslie district on the acquisition of such a splendid building. He also complimented Mr. Sharpe on his speech, which left him very little to do but endorse his remarks. He apologized to the electors of the Second District for his inability to be present before owing to physical indisposition. He was glad to see such a large gathering because it indicated that the electors were taking an active interest in political matters.

Mr. Stewart made some scathing remarks on the vexed matter of prohibition. The enforcement of the law was the question before the electors. It was useless he said, for Mr. Campbell and Mr. Lea to draw red herrings across the trail. "They have accused me of dragging this into politics. That is a false statement!" (Applause.) "I believed that Government Control would be better for the Province. However, you have your right to which course you will take. And you have chosen Prohibition. What was the other party's attitude? They took up the question for party purposes. They told you this law could be properly and thoroughly enforced. It is true, they made amendments to the Act, but have they enforced them? One of these amendments provided that landlords were bound to eject tenants if they were convicted for having rum on their premises; if not they would be penalized. Have you ever heard of a case since that law came in effect where the landlord ejected the tenants? And yet nothing was done to the landlord. What was the use of a law like that? (Applause.)

"Another amendment was that every man who was brought before a Magistrate for being drunk was compelled to state where he obtained his liquor.

"Mr. Lea says that prisoners were pardoned by the Governor General under the Conservatives. That may be true. But this government has let them out, in a great many cases, without being ill and the men have gone right back to their business." The speaker knew of one instance where a man was convicted and in a few days was taken out to clean the jails and then allowed to go home. This is the way the law is being enforced.

Mr. Stewart said he understood that Mr. Campbell had stated at some meeting that because he had (Mr. Stewart) not come forward and stated his policy that the people did not know what his attitude was. "It is not a question of my attitude," said the speaker. "I would be a poor citizen or leader of a party in the Province if I did not stand by the decision of the people. (Applause.)

In speaking on the road policy Mr. Stewart did not think that lawyers were the best judges of that question. He did not agree with Mr. Campbell that the roads were better than ever they were. Since the highway improvement scheme was inaugurated the roads have never been worse. This Government may have good machinery but they will never have good roads unless they have a patrol system and keep the holes filled up. The widening of the road was the only commendable bit of work that was done to justify the cost of the expensive machinery. These machines only have a certain life so that there should be a capital investment to replace the machinery.

Touching briefly on the financial issue the speaker gave figures which showed convincingly the increase in the net debt under the Liberal rule. Quoting from the auditors report on page 18 of the Provincial report, Mr. Stewart gave the following:

Blanchet debt, 1924, $1,549,528.
Scarth Poole debt 1927, $2,020,660.
Conservative increase in four years, $471,032.
Debts at end of 1929, $2,558,740.
Showing an increase under Liberal rule of $538,080, which proves that they increased their liabilities very much more than the Conservatives.

The speaker said he was amused at Mr. Campbell saying that a sinking fund had been provided to pay for road machines. The money was taken from the pockets of the people and while paying the mortgage off, the machinery was depriving the people of money to spend in the public service.

The subsidy claims were dealt with by Mr. Stewart, who remarked that the present Government deserves to be condemned when they allowed the greatest opportunity to slip by, that the Province ever had to have their claims settled when the Inter-Provincial Conference was called. They should have urged the adjustment of our claims at that time. Now they say it has been referred to an Audit

Liberal Policies Under Fire At Ellerslie Meeting

Enthusiastic Reception Accorded Conservative Candidate And Hon. J. D. Stewart, Provincial Leader, Whose Address Is Feature Of The Evening.

The largest and most orderly of any meeting during the campaign in the Second District of Prince was held at Ellerslie on Wednesday evening. The issues pertaining to the forthcoming by-election were ably discussed by the different speakers and were listened to with keen attention by an audience which filled the commodious hall to overflowing. Each speaker in turn congratulated the people of Ellerslie on their splendid hall, which is the finest in West Prince.

Mr. Percy Adams very capably presided.

On the platform were Mr. Shelton Sharpe, Conservative candidate, Hon. Thane A. Campbell, Liberal candidate, Hon. Premier Lea, Hon. J. D. Stewart, Hon. Peter Sinclair, Mr. A. F. Arsenault, M. L. A., and Mr. J. F. Arnett.

Mr. Campbell was the first speaker and received an attentive hearing. In his opening remarks he charged the Conservative speakers with having no constructive platform. The main issues in the present campaign and not cost the people one cent. The question of using Island gravel was also mentioned. The Attorney General endeavored to defend his Department against the criticism of the opposition speakers. His department, he said, was greatly handicapped until the appointment of Mr. Trainor, by having no system of organized police. There was no responsible head. Each department has been working independently. Now that there are so many motor vehicles on the road something was necessary. The passing of the act to have Provincial Police was the greatest forward step and on a par with other progressive steps of the Government.

In summing up Mr. Campbell said he could not see any advantage of electing Mr. Sharp to fill the vacancy for just one more year, after which the electors would have the opportunity of turning out the Government if they saw fit.

Mr. Sharpe's Address

Mr. Sharpe received a tremendous round of applause as he came to the front of the platform. In his opening remarks he expressed pleasure at seeing such a large audience and felt sure they would feel well repaid for coming, after they had heard Hon. Mr. Lea and Hon. Mr. Stewart. He noticed that Mr. Campbell was acquiring more and more of Premier Lea's speech as he went along. He was proving an apt pupil of the Premier's. The speaker denounced the present Government, for not keeping their election pledges. The right thinking people had voted for Prohibition thinking the amendments promised would be carried out but no attempt has been made to fulfill those promises. Mr. Lea had said there was more evidence of temperance, but they had found it necessary to send policemen to keep order at picnics. In the old days there did not require the police. Now there are such quantities of booze about that large sums of money out of the Provincial treasury has to be spent for policemen to keep order. But the Government say it is not their fault; they put the blame on the Prohibition Commission, after changing the personnel from 7 to 3. They wash their hands of the whole affair but they cannot shake off their responsibility in this manner.

Mr. Sharpe next took up the road policy and criticised the present administration for their extravagance and for doing away with Statute labor. He declared it was false economy on Mr. McIntyre's part to purchase out-of-date machinery because it cost less.

After purchasing large carloads of imported gravel the present administration is finding out what the Conservatives had found out long ago, that Island gravel is good for the roads, and can be utilized at half the cost. If the Island gravel were used it would give labor to our Island people and develop an Island industry. "That would be far better than having to sell your geese at $1 a piece to pay your taxes." (Applause.) Speaking on Mr. Lea's promise to the Premiership of the Province, Mr. Sharpe said that he only got there because there was no one else to take the office.

The subsidy claims were very ably dealt with and the failure of Messrs Saunders, and Lea to come to an agreement on the matter was severely criticised by the speaker, who pointed out that according to Premier Lea's own "brief" that we have been the losers of three or four million dollars on that account. It was up to the people at this election to show their disapproval of such actions by their votes on October 21st. The Premier had contended that the Conservative party had not acted according to Hoyle when they contested the seat in Second Prince but Mr. Sharpe said that the people had a perfect right to have the choice of selecting their own representative.

Premier Lea

The Premier in defending the accusations made by Mr. Sharpe on the way the Prohibition law is enforced, said, "anyone would think we created the law, instead of it being the law when we took office." He blamed the Stewart Government for the present state of affairs because they had come out with Government Control for their policy. "We have done our best," declared the Premier.

He was surprised at Mr. Sharpe attacking the Provincial Police as that progressive move was left to this Government to adopt, and did not cost the country one cent, with the exception of Mr. Trainor's salary.

In speaking on roads Mr. Lea blamed the dry season for the rough roads and said it was untrue that the young men had to go abroad to earn their taxes as every man can get work on the roads. ("Yes, Liberals," from the audience.)

Mr. Lea produced from his pocket a sample of Island gravel mixed with eight percent asphalt which they had reason to suppose would make good permanent roads.

Voice: "High time!"

The speaker paid Mr. Bennett a very high tribute when he stated that he did not think for one moment that the Prime Minister would pass up our claims if this Government was returned to power next Board. That was only a bluff. Is it any wonder the sister Premiers did not go with Mr. Saunders the last time he went to get an adjustment of our claims? They knew perfectly well that the whole thing was buried until such time machinery is set in motion to have all the provinces working together. Additional revenue from the Federal Government would be of the greatest benefit to this Province. In closing Mr. Stewart asked for the support of Mr. Sharpe on the grounds that there should be a thorough investigation at the last session of the present Parliament and that they would need a man from their own district to look after their interests in that investigation. It is not important, as Mr. Campbell states, to have him, Mr. Campbell, elected to provide a lawyer in the House, as there is a lawyer paid to do the work required while the House is in session. Mr. Stewart was loudly applauded as he sat down.

Mr. Campbell in his rebuttal speech tried to answer Mr. Sharpe's accusations but did not succeed very well. In reply to Mr. Stewart, that man were not asked in Charlottetown Courts where they had obtained their liquor Mr. Campbell said he would look into the matter at once.

Replying to Mr. Stewart's statement regarding the increase in debt under Liberal rule Mr. Campbell complained that it was unfair as Mr. Stewart had not quoted the increased assets. He then quoted figures, which were not in the General Report, that showed an increase in their assets.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion. Miss Savine, school teacher, asked Mr. Sharpe why he considered it an extravagance to have Provincial Police in this Province and Mr. Sharpe replied that conditions were not the same here. There was no foreign element and other things of a like nature to contend with and not until this Government had failed to keep order in regard to the Prohibition law and bootlegging became rife in the country had there ever been any need of Provincial police. This was greeted with applause.

The meeting closed with the King—

Building Scaffold For Oct. 17th.

ST HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 16—Work was going forward tonight at the county jail where a scaffold was being erected for the execution of Osborne Royle, native of Hamilton, Ont., who is under sentence to be hanged Oct. 17 for the murder of a Richelleu farmer, Mark Ward, last January. It is understood that the Department of Justice was considering an application for commutation of sentence but no official advice had been received by the authorities.
