New Party Considered For Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec may be giving birth to a new provincial political party with a name harking back to the politically and economically turbulent years of the 1930s.

J. A. Mongrain, mayor of Trois-Rivieres and two-time unsuccessful Liberal candidate for the legislature, said here he has been approached by a group from "all parties and all regions of the province" to head a third movement in the Nov. 14 provincial election campaign.

It would be against public ownership of electrical power companies, principal theme of the election called a week ago by Premier Lesage.

Premier Lesage said in Montreal Mr. Mongrain's statement was news to him. "He asked for an interview in my office tomorrow and I guess I had better talk to him about it then."

Told that Mr. Mongrain said the new party would be against public ownership of power companies. Mr. Lesage said "that won't do them much good in Quebec."

Opposition leader Daniel Johnson, at a press conference in Montreal, said he was surprised by the reports about a new party "but probably not half as much as Premier Lesage."

In Quebec City for a municipal convention, Mr. Mongrain said he would announce Oct. 7 if he will lead the new group. It was his impression it had been decided to form the new party when Social Credit decided not to contest the coming provincial election.

EAST BALTIC

Wallie MacKenzie and family of Souris accompanied by Mrs. Florence MacLaren, Souris West, were recent visitors to Red Point.

Glen Stewart of Quebec City spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stewart, Red Point. Mr. Stewart has just completed five years with the RCAF and is now holding a responsible position in Quebec City.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo MacDonald left on return to Dorchester, Mass., having spent their annual vacation at their summer residence in South Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Olderhead of Boston arrived by car to spend their holidays with the latter's brothers, Clayton and Wallace Rose, East Baltic and Mrs. E.S. Rose.

Wilbur Jarvis, Peter Stewart and Arthur Robertson of Kingsboro are erecting a new house for Mr. Marigold, Souris West.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stewart of Red Point motored recently to Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris of Elmira have as their guests Mrs. Harris' niece, Mrs. David Eaton and Mr. Eaton of Halifax, N.S.

The East Point Baptist Church, Kingsboro, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Arlene Dale Winters, formerly of Souris and now residing in Fortune, became the bride of Hartely Hennsble, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hennsble of Half Island Cove, Guysboro County.

Rev. W. Smith, pastor, performed the ceremony. Following the marriage, a buffet lunch was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Clive Bruce, Elmira, and several guests were present. Later in the evening a reception was held in their honor at Fortune Community Hall.

Irving Winters of Chepstone attended the wedding of his niece, Miss Arlene Dale Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gallant and family of Charlottetown spent the weekend at Red Point beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John White and daughter Karen White of Montague were Sunday visitors with Mrs. John Dixon and family, East Baltic.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jannock of Hamilton, Ontario and two children are guests of Mrs. Jannock's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Harris and Mr. Harris, Elmira.

Mr. and Mrs. Obe MacCallum of North Lake spent the weekend at their home in Alliston.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah MacDonald, Kingston, were guests at the wedding reception in honor of Dolly Young, held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Young, Albion Cross. Her marriage to Lyman Acorn took place August 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood of Rollo Bay attended the Winters and Hennsble wedding at East Point Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brown of Newton, Mass., are holidaying at their summer residence in Kingsboro, accompanied by their sons Paul and Thomas, Mrs. Brown, and baby daughter Martha.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Massey returned to their home in Bothwell after a month's visiting different parts in Ontario, New York and Boston.

Mrs. Joseph MacDonald of Norris Pond attended the Winters and Hennsble wedding at East Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacPhee celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary recently.

The bidding:

Opening lead — four of diamonds.

Part of the skill in defense consists of giving the declarer a chance to go wrong. If you sit by idly and allow declarer to follow a line of play that will inevitably result in his making the contract, you are not doing enough.

This hand was played in a team match, and at both tables South became declarer at four hearts. At the first table, a diamond was led and returned. West ruffed and shifted to a low club.

South had no choice but to finesse. When the queen held, declarer cashed two rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and ruffed a diamond high. After drawing West's last trump, declarer led a spade. West had to take the ace — otherwise he would have lost it— and South made four hearts.

The declarer at the second table didn't have such an easy time and wound up going down one. The play started the same way. A diamond was led and returned. But the West at this table cashed the ace of spades at trick three and then led a club.

This sequence of plays presented South with a problem that did not exist at the first table. Had declarer finessed the club, he would have achieved the same result as at the first table, but he decided instead to go up with the ace, choosing not to stake the hand on the club finesse.

He then played a low heart to the queen and another heart back to the king. This method of play would have succeeded all right if West had started with one, two, or three trumps, because declarer could then lead the jack of diamonds through East's queen to make the contract.

But when it turned out that West had started with four trumps, South had to lose a club and go down one.

It could be argued that declarer should have seen through West's scheme and finessed the club, but the fact remains that West's clever defence gave South a chance to go wrong and hence is worthy of note.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
