Telephone Takeover Plan Sparks Bristling Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposal by Conservative Louis - Joseph Pigeon the Bell Telephone Company of Canada be nationalized by the provinces set off a bristling argument in the Commons.

Mr. Pigeon, from Joliette-L'Assomption - Montcalm, and Auguste Choquette (L — Lotbiniere) were the main combatants.

Mr. Choquette said the words of Mr. Pigeon were hare-brained. Mr. Pigeon shot back that Mr. Choquette's father sat in the "rottenest government in the history of Quebec."

The Conservative member also claimed that he was called a Communist by the Liberal member.

When Lloyd Francis (L — Carleton) rose to object to Mr. Pigeon's proposal, Charles Lamb (PC — Victoria, Ont.) asked how many shares Mr. Francis had in Bell Telephone. Mr. Pigeon later asked him the same thing, and this brought H. A. Olson (SC — Medicine Hat) to his feet to say it was a violation of the rules to impute such motives, and the two Conservatives should apologize.

Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux poured oil on the swirling waters and the debate moved on.

MONOPOLY CHARGED

The Bell Company is the greatest monopoly in the world, said Mr. Pigeon. It had a net profit of more than $68,000,000 last year and this was exorbitant. The federal government should immediately revise the Bell charter and the provinces should nationalize it.

He said the company controls all of Montreal and most of Quebec. "If it is going to make an exorbitant profit, let it $$ adequate promotion to French-Canadians."

Mr. Choquette said Mr. Pigeon had been rejected by his party because he refuses to vote for the Union Jack and he was betraying the party by becoming a socialist.

The bill under discussion at the time would increase the number of Bell directors to 20 from 15, and Mr. Choquette said he couldn't understand how the Conservative member could "develop such a ridiculous argument."

"Wonders never cease," said H. W. Herridge (NDP — Kootenay West). He never thought he would see a Conservative become an advocate of socialism—"welcome into the ranks" —and a Liberal supporting the worst kind of free enterprise—controlled from the United States.

OWNS COMPANY?

But wasn't it true, asked Mr. Choquette, the NDP member actually owned a telephone company?

"Yes. I am quite willing to admit that," said Mr. Herridge. It was a 40-mile line, "thoroughly socialistic," which he set up so he could talk with his neighbors. He said he had one subscriber at $2.25 a month and he lost $700 a year.

He would be delighted if it were nationalized.

The bill, which arose in the hour devoted to private members' business, still was being debated at the adjournment.

Timmins Not Fully Happy Over New Ore Discovery

TIMMINS (CP)—The people of Timmins calmly accepted the announcement by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. of New York that its orebody 15 miles north of here now is estimated at 55,000,000 tons bearing strong copper, zinc and silver values.

The company originally estimated the orebody as in excess of 25,000,000 tons.

An orebody of 55,000,000 tons, one of the largest ever found in Canada, probably has a net worth of more than $1,000,000,000.

John Angus, manager of the Timmins office of Doherty, Roadhouse and McCuaig Bros. Ltd., said people in this Northern Ontario town of 29,000 felt the orebody was originally conservatively estimated.

When Texas Gulf announced the find April 16, stock market reaction was wild. The Toronto Stock Exchange April 17 traded 28,704,000 shares — the largest share volume ever recorded on a North American exchange.

REACTION QUIETER

Reaction this time was quieter. Stocks with property close to Texas Gulf were only mildly excited as investors discounted the news. Trading on the Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges was moderate, with none of the fantastic price swings seen during the initial rush.

The U.S. company said in New York Thursday it had outlined 55,000,000 tons of ore with 26 drill holes down. Of 17 assays received to date, findings have been 1.33 per cent copper, 7.06 per cent zinc and 4.85 ounces of silver per ton.

Claude O. Stephens, president of Texas Gulf, said the company will start clearing roads immediately for a facility to mine and process 6,000 tons of ore daily. This will necessitate a capital investment of about $25,000,000, he said.

Concentrates from the mine probably will be sold to outside smelters initially, he said, but the company is considering building its own smelter.

This is the fly in the ointment for the people of Timmins. The town has long been threatened with near-extinction since longrunning Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd. said its mine may close in early 1965. The Texas Gulf find was a boon to Timmins—but the town needs the smelter to create employment.

The Hollinger closing would throw about 1,350 men out of work, whereas the Texas Gulf mine could employ up to 2,000 if a smelter was built.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

This deal was played last year in the match between Italy and the United States.

At the first table, Pabis Ticci (partnered with Belladonna) became declarer at four hearts on the bidding shown. He won the diamond lead with the queen and cashed the A-K of hearts, going down one when he later lost a spade, two hearts and a club.

At the second table, the American declarer, Peter Leventritt (partnered with Howard Schenken), also got to four hearts, but made it as the result of very good play.

Forquet (West), generally regarded as one of the world's best, also led a diamond. Leventritt won it with the ace, cashed the ace of hearts, and then, attempting to guard against a 4-1 trump break, led a spade.

Forquet took the ace and led the six of clubs, thus initiating the only line of defense that could possibly beat the contract. Declarer took the club with the queen and led the jack of hearts. East showing out.

Forquet won with the queen and now played the seven of clubs, underleading his ace for the second time. This play might have succeeded against a lesser opponent, since South could easily have concluded that West had the jack and East the ace, in which case putting on the ten would have been the winning play.

But Leventritt considered the matter at length and finally diagnosed Forquet's diabolical defense correctly. He put up the king, which held, and then crashed the ten of hearts and king of spades.

He next played a club, forcing West to win with the ace and could then claim the balance regardless of what Forquet returned. The club play was a safety measure to guard against the possibility that West had started with a singleton diamond.

Forquet did everything it was possible to do to defeat the contract, but Leventritt, using fine judgement, avoided the trap that was set for him.
