Lady Cynthia Mosley

For the dredging and filling the area needed for the first unit $200,000 has been provided by the Federal authorities with promises of additional grants as the work progresses.

The new work, the preliminaries to which will start Monday will provide four berths each six hundred feet long or in all a total wharf frontage of 2,400 feet along the eastern shore of Courtenay Bay and north of the drydock. The plans call for warehouses of permanent construction with complete equipment for handling all kinds of freight which may be hauled over the Canadian National Railway and with a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels.

For the dredging and filling the area needed for the first unit $200,000 has been provided by the Federal authorities with promises of additional grants as the work progresses.

A. W. Tomlin, Canadian exhibition commissioner, has interested himself in the proposal. The exhibition will be conveyed from town-to-town by rail, the cost being approximately a quarter of a million dollars. Representative exhibits from each Dominion and Colony are being taken, each to be housed in a section of its own. The exhibits of the original exhibition will shrink in rooms, brightly decorated with scenes of Dominion life.

In one respect this miniature Wembley exhibition will be even more effective in promoting the habit of purchasing Empire produce than its parent. It has the advantage of trying to find out where they could purchase a particular kind of bacon," remarked Mrs. G. H. Atkinson, an organizer of the exhibition. "In many cases they fail, but in our miniature exhibition we shall be able to supply inquirers with the names of wholesalers in this country dealing with goods they desire."
