REMOVE THE CAUSE.

"Remove the cause, and the effect will follow," So say those who talk about the misery of the poor, who condemn preachers, tract writers, and people generally, for not doing more to alleviate the misery of those who suffer from crime and poverty.

Remove the cause—aye, remove it; but you can't do it by writing editorials, if you should try till the year 1900. Neither can making books help it, nor enacting laws, nor building churches, poor-houses, alms-houses, soup-houses. Neither founding protective societies nor benevolent institutions. Still will the destitution of the destitute send them for lodgings in miserable out-houses, under door-steps, and in the abodes of misery. The poor will still want for the beggar's crust, the drunkard still abuse his family, the outcast still thread the public streets seeking for prey.

Until you remove the cause, these things will be. While there are men that will take the last three cents from the drunkard—nay, that will take from his trembling hands the garments of his wife and children for rum—and while such men are protected by law, what is the use to talk of reformation? While women have to work on six, eight and ten cent shirts, their children must remain ignorant, and for want of proper attention grow up lazy and vicious.—While young girls coming from rural homes into the busy city, instead of being protected and encouraged, are sought after by the myrmidons of wine-drinking, beastly, sensual men, and by process too heart-rending to mention, lured from innocence to wretchedness, talk not of reform. Your rum-shops keep children from school, and their parents from the church. Your billiard saloons and infamous resorts take money that "the heathen" had better have—far better.

But what's the use of talking, or writing either, for that matter? The girl of the present age is led to think,from what she sees at home, that to dress fashionably is of the utmost importance, woman's sole need and mission in this world; the boy, that money is the only God worth worshipping. She one grows to maturity narrow-minded, selfish, ready to grind the face of her poorer sister, never looking upon destitution but to despise it—the other eager to sell his birthright or his soul for the dross that shall buy him a little false honour, and make men cringe, that would bow down to any golden calf.

When we see young girls bedizened with finery, we cannot shut out the thought of the almost starving women who are going down to the tomb, old before their time. When we notice the strut and consequence of the monied young man, whose motto is "Any business that will bring in money," we think of the thousands daily going to ruin through the portals of the wretched traffic that leads to utter destitution.

Remove the cause—remove the liquor trade, and the oppression of poor women by monied aristocrats, and the result will soon follow—a mighty, a glorious result, that shall make angels wonder, and mortals rejoice. Till those things are done, never think of lessening want or crime.—Boston Olive Branch.

LOUIS NAPOLEON.—"Louis Bonaparte," says Victor Hugo, "is a man of middle height, calm, slow in his movements, having the air of a person not quite awake. He has published, as we mentioned before, a tolerable treatise on artillery, and is thought to be acquainted with the manœuvering of cannon. He is a good horseman. He speaks drawlingly, with a slight German accent. His histrionic abilities were displayed at the Eggliston Commission. He has a thick moustache, covering his smile, like that of the Duke d'Artois, and a dull eye, like that of Charles IX."

Among the curiosities at the Berlin Library are the bible which Charles I. bore with him to the scaffold; Luther's original MSS. of Goethe's Faust. Luther's MSS. show many erasures, additions and amendments, particularly in the book of Job.

On different kinds of love by a young lady.) The sweetest—a mother's love; the longest—a brother's love; the strongest—a woman's love; the dearest—a man's love. And the sweetest, longest, strongest, dearest love—a "love of a bonnet".

COWS HOLDING UP THEIR MILK—A gentleman at Huntingdon, L. I., writes as follows:—It is known to many farmers that when cows first come in, when the calves are taken away, they will hold up their milk for a short time, and some will give it down. A few years ago, I bought a young cow which proved to be very wild, and when I took away her first calf, she would not give her milk. I heard a remarked, that putting a weight on the cow's back would make her give milk down. I accordingly drove her into a stable, got her a bushel of grain and put it on her back. While kept in this position, she had no power to hold up her milk, for it came down freely. After doing this a few times, and afterwards putting my hand on the back of the cow, she would give milk, and she would immediately give down her milk.

The farther we travel northward, milk will always be found the richer. This observation has been made by others, and I can add my testimony to its truth. Anderson says of Iceland, that milk is as good as cream in England. This is a curious fact; it proves that rich pasture does not produce rich milk.

NEW USE OF MILK.—A novel discovery has recently been made, which is likely to effect a revolution in the milk trade. In consequence of the advance in the price of olive oil, from £40 to £70 per ton, a manufacturer of woollen cloths, in the neighbourhood of Thurlstone near Penistone, tried whether milk mixed with oil would not answer the purpose. The experiment exceeded his most sanguine expectations, the mixture being far better for the purpose than olive oil alone. The consequence has been, that millpeas and olive oil, which for years past the neighbourhood of some of the woollen cloth mills, and cows are being bought up in all directions.

JUST RECEIVED,

Gleason's Pictorial Drawing Room Companion,

PUBLISHED IN BOSTON, MASS.

WILL commence on the 1st of January, 1853, a new Volume—being Volume IV—of this elegant illustrated Journal. It will appear with new type, new heading, and splendidly improved in every department, besides which, the price is to be greatly reduced. The publisher is resolved to commence the new year with a cheap and improved Journal, and, therefore, offers the most liberal inducements to clubs. Realizing the spirit of the age, the great increasement in the cost of paper, and the consulting intelligence of the people, the publisher, with this change of prices, will vastly improve his already splendidly illustrated journal. Especially will a great improvement be made in the engraving department, as well as in the literary character of the paper; so that the Pictorial shall appear in a style, not only to merit all the encomiums it has so lavishly bestowed upon it, but also to challenge increased respect for its enhanced excellence and perfection. In short, the whole paper will be far superior to anything ever yet offered to the public by the publisher. By reference to the following list, which forms a part only of the regular contributors to the Pictorial, its high literary character will be at once understood.

Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, Mrs. L. H. Sigourney, Mrs. Alice B. Neal, Miss Phœbe Carey, Miss Alice Carey, Mrs. Caroline Orne, Miss Anne T. Wilbur, Mrs. S. P. Dawight, Mrs. E. A. Hopkins, Mrs. M. T. Eldridge, Mrs. E. R. B. Waldo, Rev. H. Hastings Weld, Hon. Wm. Herbert, T. B. Read, T. S. Arthur, A. J. H. Duganne, Epes Sargent, George W. Denvey, Francis A. Durivage, Park Benjamin, Dr. J. V. C. Smith, Benj. Perley Poore, &c., &c.

The following are the terms of the paper:—One Subscriber, one year, $3.00; two subscribers, $5.00; four subscribers, $9.00; eight subscribers, $16.00. The paper will be for sale at all the periodical depots throughout the country, after the 1st of January, at 6 cents per copy.

☞ Any paper inserting the above editorially, with this paragraph, shall receive the Pictorial one year.

Subscriptions received at Geo. T. Hazzard's Bookstore.

The "HORTICULTURIST," And Journal of Rural Art and Rural Taste.

THE Subscriber, who has long been connected with Mr. BARRY, as one of the editors of the Genesee Farmer, has purchased the Horticulturist, so ably conducted by A. J. DOWLING, and after the conclusion of the present volume, it will be Published at ROCHESTER, and Edited by T. BARRY, assisted by many of the best Horticulturists of the country, whose communications will materially add to its value. The ARCHITECTURAL DEPARTMENT will be conducted by gentlemen of ability and reputation.

To render the work accessible to a greater number, and consequently more beneficial, the price will be reduced from Two DOLLARS per year, to dollar, and at the same time various improvements made. Each number will contain a full page engraving of some new, rare, and valuable fruit or flower, drawn from nature, and engraved in a style not excelled.

Still further to add to the value of the work, and meet the improving taste and increasing wants of the horticultural community, it will be published in an edition with COLORED PLATES, each number containing a full page engraving of some new, rare, and valuable fruit or flower, drawn and coloured from nature, by the best living artists in this line. This will be a new and important feature, in this country, and most commend the attention and patronage of both professional and amateur Horticulturists. As the number of colored plates we can furnish will be limited, from the care and time required in their preparation, subscribers who desire Colored Editions of the Horticulturist for 1853, will do well to order immediately. Price with colored plates, FOUR DOLLARS, in advance.

All who cultivate fruit or flowers, should read the Horticulturist, as it is devoted entirely to Horticulture, and its kindred arts, Landscape Gardening and Rural Architecture, and will keep the reader advised of everything new on the subject, either in Europe or America.

It will be our aim not only to make the Horticulturist superior both in style and matter to any work of the character in this country, but equal to any of the Horticultural Journals of Europe; and we confidently ask the aid and cooperation of the Horticulturists of the country. The work is published monthly, and contains forty-eight large pages, without advertisements, stitched in a beautiful and appropriate cover.

These Reprints have been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase, notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class, and from the numerous Eclectics and Magazines made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption.

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ascendancy, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns, and in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer), "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous extracts have been made in the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. Scott and Co., as the subscribers to the Reprint of the Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

WONDER OF THE WORLD.

Gravel Cured of five years standing.

Messrs. CURTIS & PERKINS, Bangor, Me.

Gentlemen,—I have been entirely cured of the Gravel, by the use of your Cramp and Pain Killer. I commenced taking the Cramp and Pain Killer in the Spring of 1851—I had been a great sufferer for ten years previous; some four or five years of the time I suffered beyond all my powers to describe.

During that time, I have tried many medicals, and tried various spe-cifics, but found very little relief until I obtained your Cramp and Pain Killer. In one month after I commenced using it, I began to grow better. I continued to use it for a year, and the time improving until I was entirely cured. MILES STAPLES.

Prospect, Me., Jan. 29, 1851.

We, the undersigned, are well acquainted with the above case, and are willing to the above statement of facts.

CHARLES CLIFFORD,
HANNAH CLIFFORD,
STANTON ELLIS.

Doctor Toby, a regular practising Physician, of East Machias, writes us under date of March20, 1847:

"Please send me half a gross more of your Cramp and Pain Killer—it is the best medicine to cure what it is represented to, that I ever used."

The Doctor first received it of us in his own case, for a severe spasm in the shoulder, caused by the upsetting of a stage, and found immediate relief, and soon recommended it in his practice.

Read the Letter from Dr. Toby. It speaks for itself.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

I certify, that I was afflicted with a violent Rheumatic pain in the small of my back, which entirely disabled me, so that I could not get up without the greatest pain and effort; nor could I walk without a cane, and but very little with. I applied Doctor Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, of Liquid Opodeldoc, and several other remedies, without any relief. After suffering in this way about a week, I purchased a bottle of Cramp and Pain Killer, prepared by CURTIS & PERKINS, Bangor, and before the bottle was exhausted I was entirely relieved and free from pain, and am now entirely well. I also cured a friend of mine, who had been suffering for a long time with a bad side, with the same bottle. I believe it the best medicine in the world, and am happy to add my testimony in its favor

OLIVER TUPPER.

The International Journal,

Devoted to the Commercial, Literary, and Social Interests of the United States and the British North American Colonies.

THE mutually important and rapidly increasing Trade, and the social intercourse between the United States and the neighbouring British Colonies, called the "International Journal" into existence twenty years ago; and the prosperity and gratefully acknowledge a liberal assistance in their efforts to give it permanency and influence. The experiment has been signally successful; and after mature reflection and consultation, the Proprietors have the pleasure of announcing a reduction in the price, to

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR; OR, SIX COPIES FOR FIVE DOLLARS.

Having closely watched the onward progress of the Colonies, we have watched with feelings of pride the advances they have made in solid improvement during the year just closed; but there is a wide field and a fair scope for further strides in the march of prosperity; and, fully impressed with the importance of the press in its influence, we wish to reach the fireside of every family in these three attentively weekly in a friendly conversation on those important interests which so much affect their welfare,—some of which have been, and still are, commanding the attention of the leading statesmen of Europe and America.

Our past course is before the public. We have no regrets to express, nor apologies to make Our motto shall be, "the prosperity of our native land" and, profiting by a year's experience, we shall be enabled to improve the INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL, so as to increase its importance both to the American and Colonial mind. A wider social space will be given to Colonial writers. Commercial reports, shipping intelligence, markets, prices current, &c., will receive a larger share of attention; and all our colonial and international interests, commercial, literary and social, will be watchfully fostered. But without a union of effort, and the friendly co-operation of all who approve our principles, we cannot be so useful, and our labors less effectual. Members of the Legislature, Postmasters, Merchants, and all who feel interested, will strengthen our hands and aid our usefulness by becoming subscribers, and recommending the JOURNAL, when convenient, to their friends.

Terms: $1,00 a year, or six copies for $5,00, paid in advance. Subscribers who do not give notice that the term has expired, for which it has been paid, Remittances may be made (post paid), to the publishers in Boston, or to the undersigned agent. The JOURNAL will be sent to the principal towns in the Colonies by express, and there delivered or mailed to subscribers for 12½ cents extra, per annum, or if preferred, the paper will be sent to Halifax, free of postage, for 25 cents extra, remitted (if more convenient,) in Colonial post office stamps.

New yearly subscribers will receive the paper free, after the receipt of their remittance, until the commencement of the 2d volume, Feb. 26.
