From The Ranks To A Bishopric

When the Synod of Nova Scotia assembled last year to elect a coadjutor bishop for the diocese of Nova Scotia, the general public and the Synod for that matter looked to either Dean Lloyd or Archdeacon Armitage being elected. At the eleventh hour the news flashed out that Rev. John Hackenley had been selected. And then the people wanted to know who John Hackenley was. They have found out since. Everybody in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island knows him. They know him as one of the most powerful preachers in the Anglican communion, as a man of rare gifts, eloquent sincere; indeed his sincerity is almost childlike. For John Hackenley was an every day parish priest of the church, laboring at the time of his elevation to the town of North Sydney, and for some years before that in a part of the province inhabited almost entirely by fisherfolk, an environment not distasteful to him, for he loved the water and boats and the plain people. To leave the strenuous work and its hardships with all his joys and its sorrows was in his case, akin to sacrifice. His was a case where the office sought the man.

father was a priest of the church who came to Nova Scotia when the subject of this sketch was only a year old. So the boy grew up a Nova Scotian, attended a Nova Scotia Theological college. Kings, at Windsor, and in the course of time entered the ministry. Since his consecration he has been traveling through the province and also Prince Edward Island, which is part of the diocese of Nova Scotia. He has met with a wonderful reception, not only from his own people, but from the members of other denominations, for his principles are broad and deep and sound. Occasionally he preaches in one of the Halifax churches, but as yet he is without a cathedral or even a pro-cathedral, as it will require an act of parliament to make him a member of the chapter of All Saints, the Anglican cathedral of the diocese. —MacLean's Magazine.)

At the new Tube station now under construction beneath Piccadilly Circus, London, an area of 15,000 square feet will be devoted to the bookstall and news. This will necessitate the removal of about 10,000 tons of London clay. When completed the station will be able to handle 50,000,000 passengers an England, born to the cloth, for his naturally.

Ringwood Women's Institutes

The annual meeting of Ringwood Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Angus McEachern on Nov. 25th. The Supervisor, Mrs. McKenna presided. Meeting opened by singing the Ode. After roll call, the Secretary read the minutes of last annual meeting also regular meeting, both were unanimously adopted. Reference was made regarding proper lighting of school as suggested by Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Doy's suggestion regarding library was dealt with and received favorable comment, no doubt a library will be started in the near future. It was decided to hold entertainment in Elliott Hall on Dec. 15th.

As it was such a short time since our last annual meeting, all the officers were re-elected for the coming year. The evening was made very pleasant by the hostess inviting the members of Fairview Institute, also the presence of one of our old members, Mrs. Frank Smith. Mrs. Allison McMillan read a paper "How to make Our Meetings Interesting", which was very suggestive of the work that lies before us, and was very much appreciated.

After a bountiful luncheon, remarks were made by Mrs. Wm. Mutch and Miss McKenna. A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess by Mrs. McMillan on behalf of Fairview institute to which she eloquently responded. The singing of Ode! Canada brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

Following is the President's report: This being my first annual meeting as President of Ringwood Women's Institute, I feel that any words from me may be of little avail as I am only n.w. in the work, however, during the few months that have elapsed, with the help of good members, we have carried on successfully, endeavoring to do our best, but we must realize it is up to everyone of us as true and loyal members to strive for the betterment of school and community, each member feeling it is her duty to do her very utmost for the advancement of our Club, ever bearing in mind that our order is one of the best organizations in Canada today, I say it boldly from the fact that we are working for Home and Country, which embraces all.

TREATMENT OF CANCER DISCUSSED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 2. — Two internationally known X-ray specialists, one of Germany, the other of France, and both honorary guests of the Radiological Society of North America, came forward yesterday with contrary theories as to the nature of cancer.

"Cancer is not the result of a general diseased organic condition," he said, "it is entirely local. Its destruction is possible by application of X-rays. Curative treatment for the rebuilding of the tissues must follow. One can never claim cancer, however, even in its initial stage, that it can be cured with a certainty."

An honest man will find you will you have proved beyond a doubt that you are acting dishonestly. A man who is acting dishonestly will believe all other men to be dishonest until each one proves beyond a doubt that he is honest.—Adele M. Nerly.
