CHARLOTTETOWN'S BIG DEPARTMENTAL STORE

Clearance Sale Ladies' Tailor-made Skirts!

FAR too many skirts in stock—the result of the modish full length coat that's worn this season! So, to reduce number in stock before taking we are radically reducing the price of every skirt in stock! THIS SALE affords a splendid opportunity for the purchasing of a new skirt. As most of P. E. Island's ladies are aware our specialty in ladies' wear is the celebrated "Northway" garment which we have found most satisfactory in quality, perfect fitting, and splendidly finished.

Out They Go! 171 Skirts Slaughtered

Our showing is composed of the season's newest and best styles faultlessly tailored. Sizes range from 23 to 36 inch waistbands and there's a splendid showing of tweed and plain colors, as well as black skirts.

Note The Reduced Prices!

We haven't a thought about profit in this sale. Our aim is to reduce quality quickly—to make the clearance sure!

The Guardian is in receipt of one of the handsomest and most useful calendars of the season, from the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada. The F. B. Moore Co., Limited, Provincial Managers, are distributing them.
Miss Harrison, who is organist of St. James Church, City, has been presented by the members of the choir, with whom she is deservedly popular, with a silver music box and a fountain pen. The Y.M.C.A. also presented each member with a nice box of chocolates.
The latest arrival of produce laden vessel from P. E. Island ports, says the Sydney Post of Dec 27, was the schooner He's Dicks, Capt. Dicks which arrived from Montague and Georgetown. The Dicks has a full cargo of hay, potatoes, vegetables, pork butter, etc., and will dispose of same at Dominion Wharf.
T. A. Stewart, City, the general manager of the S. S. Hillsboro was last week presented by his employees with a valuable fountain pen and a most flattering address which was greatly appreciated by Mr. Stewart, who has made himself most popular during the past summer with the travelling public and those engaged in his service.
The Guardian acknowledges the greetings for 1907-1908, very tastefully conveyed by card, from Lieutenant Colonel Stewart and officers of the 8th Abegweit Light Infantry. The card contains the Regimental crest which was designed by the members of the Regiment, is neatly engraved in gold, silver and green and is a very creditable specimen of work done in Charlottetown.
The contractor for the conveyance of the mails within the City informs The Guardian that notwithstanding the reports by the Railway and Post Office of the arrival of the mail on Thursday nights as opposed to Saturday's Guardian, the mails are always delivered at the Post Office in from fifteen to twenty minutes after their arrival at the Railway Station, unless something unforeseen occurs which it seldom does.
The Sydney Post referring to the death of Samuel McDonald of Cavendish, says: "After suffering much as a result of the terrible burns he sustained during the recent explosion at the blast furnace a week ago, Samuel McDonald died at three o'clock this morning. Arriving here from her home at a village called Caledonia, P. E. Island, shortly after she heard of the explosion, the widowed mother of the young victim was at her son's bedside when the final message came."
Jimmy Williams, a well known Charlottetown hockey player, now with the New York Wanderers, was in a rough game at Brooklyn last week. A Brooklyn paper says: "Judging by the exhibition of hockey last night at the St. Nicholas rink, there are several men on the team of the Wanderers who will spend considerable time on the side lines unless they speedily change play. Princeton was the opponent of the new club and the Wanderers won by 8 goals to 4. The game was a better exhibition than was the Yale Wanderers' contest, but it is the first exhibition of "rough house" hockey seen this winter."

The Union Commercial College re-opened Monday, Jan. 6th.
T. White is a candidate for the City Council. See ad in this issue.

Rev. R. Hensley Sivert occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church at Compton, N. B., on Sunday last. Mr. Sivert has just returned from a very pleasant trip to his home in Wilmet Valley P. E. I.—Moncton Transcript.
Hyndman & Co., agents at Charlottetown for the German American Insurance Co., New York, have sent The Guardian some of the firm's calendars for 1908 which are quite attractive. The figures are large and may be seen at a distance, which greatly enhances its usefulness, while the months, Sundays and holidays are made distinctive by red ink. The different phases of the moon are also plainly given.
A very pleasant event took place on Christmas eve when Katherine Margaret, daughter of Donald McLellan, Pleasant Valley, was united in marriage to Charles McKean of South Granville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Gillis of Strathalbyn in the presence of eighty invited guests. The bride who was charmingly attired in white silk was attended by Miss Elizabeth Gillis of Haverhill while W. M. Gunn, Head of Hillsboro, supported the groom. After a most enjoyable supper and pleasant evening spent in games, music, dancing etc., the happy couple drove to their future home in Granville amid the good wishes of the company assembled.
Announcement is made of the forthcoming marriage in Paris, France, of John Maynard Waite, son of John and Mrs. Waite, of Wilmet Valley, to Miss Braef, the Knopf, daughter of Auguste E. and Mrs. Knopf, of 98 Riverside Drive, New York. Mr. Waite sailed for Europe on the White Star Line steamship Adriatic on New Year's day to visit the Knopfs in the south of France, where they are spending the winter months. The marriage will take place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Knopf in Paris, on January 14th. The young couple will leave immediately for London, and after visiting a number of the large European cities will return to New York, which city they will make their home. Mr. Waite is at present the general New York representative for Henry B. Harris, one of the most important theatrical operators in the United States.
