Discuss Anticosti In Quebec House

QUEBEC, May 27—(CP)—Premier Godbout said in the Quebec Legislative Assembly today that attempts of a German company in 1937 to purchase the island of Anticosti in the Gulf of St. Lawrence "may only have been a blind" to cover up study of the Gulf and the area on the north shore of the river.

The Premier, replying to opposition leader Maurice Duplessis' statement that he (Duplessis) had prevented the sale of the island, said that "preventing the sale was not the only important thing."

"Maps and plans of the area should not have been sold to the Germans," he added. In the House last week Mr. Godbout produced receipts for the sale of maps to the Germans in 1937 when the Union Nationale Government was in power.

"Their talk of buying the island may have been just a blind to cover up their study of the entry of the St. Lawrence, and the region around it, and possibly to allow them to make caches which they may be using now."

Applaud "Cadet Girl"

Carole Landis, George Montgomery Superb in Tuneful Hit

We always knew Carole Landis could sing—and now she has a real opportunity to convince all! 20th Century-Fox is justly proud of its swiftly rising young star, and has put her in a gay new film with George Montgomery — another youngster who is going places in filmland. The result is a compact, fast-moving, tuneful hit called "Cadet Girl" which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre.

Carole is in the middle of a muddle in "Cadet Girl," which tells the story of a West Pointer (Montgomery) who is ready to come to blows with his tune baron brother (John Shepperd) over the lovely vocalist. Neatly mixed in with the engaging story are five grand new tunes by Robin and Rainger. These include: "Uncle Sam Gets Around," "She's A Good Neighbor," "I'll Settle For You," "It Happened, It's Over Let's Forget It", and "My Old Man's An Army Man." When you see that gorgeous blonde, meaning Carole, warbling these tunes its worth the price of admission alone!

In addition to the songs, "Cadet Girl" has some exceptional acting. The performances turned in by Miss Landis, Montgomery and his screen brother, John Shepperd, are well-rounded and unusually convincing. William Tracy, cast as a cadet friend of Montgomery, does his share to put the picture over.

Excellent support is given by the cast which includes Janis Carter, Robert Lowery, Basil Walker, Charles Tannen and Chick Chandler. Director Ray McCarey has kept comedy, drama and the lilting music well balanced. The fine screen play was written by Stanley Rauh and H. W. Hanemann from the clever original story by Jack Andrews and Richard English. Sol M. Wurtzel was executive producer for "Cadet Girl."

Aged Resident of Indian River Called by Death

One of the oldest residents of Indian River, Mrs. Rebecca Ann Hillman, widow of the late Francis Hillman, passed peacefully away at the home of her grandson, Wesley Foster on Sunday, May 24th, in her 82nd year.

She was born at Margate, Feb. 11, 1861, daughter of the late John Tuplin and his wife Margaret Marks.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Alguire, and Mrs. Rubina Tilton of Cornwall, Ontario; and two sons, James Ernest of Deland, Florida, and John R. Hillman of Los Angeles, California. There are also 15 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

She also leaves one brother, Andrew Tuplin of Margate and one sister, Mrs. Josephine Slavin of Unity, Sask.

The funeral services were conducted by the Reverend Mr. Sterling from her late residence and burial was in the cemetery at Margate. The pallbearers were Fred Tuplin, Frank Marks, Orville Clark, Jarvis McLellen, James Sheen and Geo. Lockhart.

Rommel May

about 100 per cent concentrated on the British forward and rear positions.

The Royal Air Force sprang into the skies to sweep the battle lines, pound the German airdromes at Tmimi and Martuba and attack the German supply lines moving up to the front. In the first phases of this action, at least three German Junkers planes were shot down.

Intense Speculation

Rommel's ultimate intentions caused intense speculation in London, where a military commentator declared that the Nazis had undoubtedly loosed "an offensive of some sort," but added it was too early to tell much more about it.

There was some conjecture in London that Rommel actually is aiming at Egypt, at Iraq beyond and thus at the backdoor of the Russian Caucasus, although the difficulties and hazards of such a campaign at this season would be enormous.

There also was a possibility that all he now is doing was intended to serve as a screen for an attack on British-held Syria via the Island of Cyprus.

Three Enemy Divisions

Some in London believed that Rommel was advancing with three armored divisions, two German and one Italian, but they pointed out that the British tank brigades had been rested and re-equipped since the battles of last autumn.

The British position was seen as generally better than that of last fall, considering the fresh troops and supplies poured into great bases built by Britain and the United States snce the last campaign.

Rommel's army which also has been reinforced, was estimated in some quarters at more than 125,000 men.

Battle For Kharkov Of Great Ferocity

LONDON, May 27—(CP)—Paul Winterton, British Broadcasting Corporation correspondent in Russia, said tonight the battle for Kharkov has raged with "unparalleled ferocity" in the nine days since German forces began their counter-attack against Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red army forces. He referred to the fighting as a "giant contest of wills."

British Truce In Politics Still Holds

By Douglas Amaron
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 27 —(CP Cable) —The wartime electoral truce among the major political parties emerged shaken but still in being today from a stormy Labor party session after a spirited appeal for fair play by Home Secretary Herbert Morrison.

By a slender majority, delegates to the party's annual conference rejected an amendment which would have sent back to the executive committee a resolution urging maintenance of the truce and "general co-operation with the other parties participating in the government in promoting the return of government candidates at Parliamentary byelections."

The vote, cast on the basis of members represented by the delegates actually voting, was 1,275,000 to 1,209,000.

Mr. Morrison was the centre of a debate so lively he at one time had to remind the delegates that "shouting at each other won't settle the argument." He told the conference:

"If you are participating in a government you cannot give aid to the government and support candidates who are running in opposition to it.

"That is not the straight and honorable thing to do. The British electorate like straightness in their politics."

(Mr. Morrison is one of labor's "Big Three" in the government, the others being the party leader, Clement Attlee, who is Dominions Secretary, and Ernest Bevin, labor minister.)

The whole argument, Mr. Morrison declared, should be directed to the point whether the truce was or was not necessary for the winning of the war. If labor had refused to take part in the present government the party would have been guilty of political cowardice, he added.

An executive committee recommendation which was approved called for "one comprehensive scheme of social security" to include family allowances, national medical service and adequate state provision for dependents of those killed or disabled in war.

Other resolutions adopted demanded increases in old age, supplementary and disability service pensions, and the raising of the school-leaving age.

language he had used."

"In view of this dispute as to the facts," Mr. St. Laurent said, "it has been decided to institute proceedings against Mr. Chalouit under the defence of Canada regulations, in the district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed."

Will Issue Summons

Outside the House, Mr. St. Laurent said the first step in the proceedings against Mr. Chaloult, member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Lotbiniere, will be issuance of a summons calling him into court at Montreal to stand trial.

He declined to say what section of the defence of Canada regulations would be the basis of the action.

"That is a matter to be decided by the lawyers of the Justice department," the minister added.

When the summons will be issued could not be learned immediately.

(In his May 22 speech in the Quebec Legislature, Mr. Chaloult said he was informed a chain letter had been started and directed to Ottawa asking that he be arrested. Then he added:—

("At the meeting at St. James Market (in Montreal May 19) I said no more than I said in this House, and I was congratulated by the members of the House for my moderation.

("I have nothing to retract from what I said, but I do object to being credited with things I did not say. There have been taken from my speeches little pieces here and there, and in some instances this has resulted in making me say some things completely contrary to what I said at the meeting and in the House.")

As he announced the intention to take court action against Mr. Chaloult, the Justice minister—"so that there may be no misunderstanding about the policy of the department under the defence of Canada regulations"—said the decision does not mean there has been any departure from the policy of ordering detention "when it is found to be necessary."

"Seditious conduct or utterances cannot be tolerated," he said. "During peacetime the procedure for repression is prosecution before the courts under the Criminal Code; during wartime, there may be prosecution before the courts, or detention.

"Everyone is agreed that, in such a case as this, prosecution before the courts is the preferable method when it can be looked upon as sufficiently effective.

"But the repression must be effective and when it appears that prosecution before the courts does not produce the desired result, or does not produce it with sufficient dispatch, the interests of the state require that detention be resorted to; and in these last mentioned circumstances detention will continue to be resorted to."

Mr. St. Laurent in his statement to the House today did not give any indication what reported quotations from Mr. Chaloult's May 19 speech at Montreal would be the basis of the action against the Quebec Legislator.

(At the Montreal meeting, Mr. Chaloult was quoted as saying that he "hopes Canada will resolutely break away from the British Empire as soon as the war is over and will become a member of a Pan-American union."

(Mr. Chaloult was quoted further as saying that he did not hesitate to repeat words for which some already wanted to have him sent to a concentration camp. He said: "This is my previous statement: never will French Canadians accept to bear arms against France in the event the present situation worsens between Vichy and the United Nations."

(The press censors advised that publication of this reference to bearing arms against France might be an offence under the defence of Canada regulations and for this reason it was not carried by The Canadian Press. It appeared, however, in several newspapers.

(Subsequently, in the Quebec Legislature May 22 Mr. Chaloult said in reference to his Montreal speech that "I said that we are against conscription, because our young men did not want one day to be forced to fight against the country of their origin. . . In regard to the argument I used, I repeated what Lapointe said—namely that never, never, never would Quebec accept conscription, and I do not think there was a demand for the arrest of Lapointe."

(This reference was passed for publication by the press censors and was carried by CP.)

Does Your Stomach Rebel After the Meals You Eat?

Make 23 - Day Voyage In Open Boat

NEW YORK, May 27 — (AP) — Three survivors of the Lammot Du Pont, 5,102-ton United States freighter sunk near Bermuda April 23, described today a 23-day voyage in an open boat during which eight men died. At least 26 of the crew of 35 survived.

The third naval district, making public the interview, permitted publication of the vessel's name since its torpedoing was announced in Rio De Janeiro May 11 when eight other survivors landed at Recife, Brazil.

Only one lifeboat got away when the ship was torpedoed. Eight men in the lifeboat picked up 27 others. Fifteen were then placed aboard two life rafts.

Meanwhile, the submarine surfaced, raised its Nazi flag and went off. Two days later, the men on the rafts were rescued but the lifeboat, separated, sailed toward Bermuda. A change in wind kept them from that island so they headed toward Puerto Rico.

On May 16, the boat was sighted by a Pan-American airways plane off San Juan and the plane dropped provisions and a note saying help would come later. That evening a United States vessel arrived and brought the men to San Juan.

Is Missing

Sgt. Observer and Pilot Donald C. MacDonald (above) of North Bedeque, who was recently reported missing after air operations overseas. Later word stated that he was an observer of a bomber which crashed into the sea approximately one mile off Donna Nook, Lincolnshire, England. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. MacDonald, North Bedeque.

Doctors To Convene at Jasper Park

JASPER PARK LODGE, Alta., May 27—When Dr. A. E. Archer, of Lamont, Alberta, president, calls to order the 73rd annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association, taking place here June 15 to 19, he will be addressing the largest convention ever to convene at this famous summer hotel, operated by the Canadian National Railways.

Doctors and surgeons from all parts of the Dominion will attend, in some cases accompanied by their wives. Reservations have already been made for 750, according to Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Association, Toronto, and it is anticipated that this number is likely to increase before the opening of the convention. A wide variety of subjects will be discussed and one hundred and twenty speakers will address the convention.

Montreal is sending over twenty five delegates, headed by doctors Wilder Penfield, C. A. Peters, Keith Hutchinson, F. S. Patch, L. P. Nelligan, A. G. McAuley, Howard Reilly, D. W. McKechnie and C. E. Tremble. Ottawa will also be represented by a delegation including some of the prominent medical men of the capital.

Heading the Maritime Provinces delegation are Doctors R. J. Collins, and Skinner, Saint John, W. J. P. MacMillan, Charlottetown, O. E. Moorhouse, Fredericton and H. S. Everett, St. Stephen, N.B.

After the close of the convention, some of the delegates will continue to the Pacific coast before returning home.

Allied Plans for Invasion Discussed?

LONDON, May 27 —(AP) —Two of the chiefs of the United States army's three commands conferred with their British counterparts tonight, and informed observers believed that plans for an invasion of the continent as well as a vast air assault on Germany were being advanced.

The arrival today of Lt.-Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the U. S. army service of supply, virtually completed a war council which these observers declared is the "prelude to a vast increase of American ground forces to give the Allies immediate, overwhelming local superiority in men and equipment for an invasion of the continent."

It was understood that the conferences may also be concerned with such world-wide co-ordinating efforts as a joint smash at the Japanese from India and blocking of an Axis offensive in Africa.

Somervell's arrival followed the appearance yesterday of Lt.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air forces. This left only Lt.-Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commander of the ground forces, out of the circle, but the presence of Maj.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, head of the operations divisions, seemed to assure that land as well as air plans are afoot.

The veteran ex-mayor, who will be 95 next July, was present at the ceremony with other members of the family.

Mrs. Yould was born in Dartmouth, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Arthur Lovett, on May 24, 1850. Her marriage to Mr. Yould took place in St. Paul's church, Halifax, October 29, 1867, the year of confederation.

Today was Whit Sunday, and following celebration of the Holy Eucharist and suitable hymns by the choir, directed by A. H. Morash, the window was dedicated. On the altar was placed memorial flowers.

Designed to depict charity, it is inscribed "The greatest of these is charity." It was Mr. Yould's first public appearance since he was taken ill with pneumonia last winter.

All four daughters were present: Mrs. A. W. Hyndman, and Mr. Hyndman, Charlottetown; Mrs. George Wilson, Windsor; Mrs. George H. Turner, Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., and Maude Yould at home; a grandson, William Wilson, and Mrs. Wilson, Berwick, and a great-grandson, William Wilson, Jr., Berwick.

French Tempers Flare As Italy Seeks Territory

BERNE, May [illegible] —(AP) — Italy's new demands for territory from France have produced an upsurge of anti-collaborationist sentiment in that country in which the veteran military leader Gen. Maxime Weygand is taking an active part, it was reported authoritatively tonight.

Weygand, it was reported, has plunged into discussions in an effort to prevent the handing over of Tunisia or other French territory to Italy, thereby disclosing that important anti-collaborationist feeling still exists in Vichy.

The tempers of at least some sections of the French public is sharp, a fact brought out clearly today at Beziers, in unoccupied France, where allied sympathizers broke up a parade of French Fascists in a street fight involving about 1,500 persons.

Minard's kills pain.
