While shunting at Emerald Junction yesterday afternoon the engine of the Cape Traverse train was backed over the points of the rails at an open switch. The tender wheels went off on the sleepers but were placed on again by the engine itself. There was about two hours delay but no damage by the accident.

The Moncton Transcript says:—The Charlottetown Guardian complains that The Transcript gave credit to a contemporary for an enterprise which was really first undertaken by The Guardian. This journal has no intention of being unfair to The Guardian which is an excellently conducted and most up-to-date newspaper.

W. A. Hawley will be the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon. During his recent visit in London, Mr. Hawley has seen many branches of Christian work in operation the description of which will prove of great interest. The meeting will be prefaced by a song service beginning at 3.45. Visitors, tourists and citizens are cordially invited.

FULLY 250 excursionists and regular passengers were on the S. S. City of London when she left Charlottetown for West River yesterday afternoon. There were chairs sufficient for all and ample room for the little ones to enjoy themselves. As the steamer approached Charlottetown earlier than usual an extra sail, was made around the harbor to the new Hillsboro Bridge.

While the special was returning last night from Souris when about three miles east of Mount Stewart, the right cylinder of the engine blew out thus disabling the train. Mount Stewart was reached however by the other cylinder and another engine was telegraphed for to Charlottetown. No. 3 was sent out and the special reached the city about half past eleven o'clock.

MEDICINES YOU CAN TRUST.
There are no family medicines that have such a firm hold on the confidence of the people as those of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous physician and receipt book author. The expert skill as a physician and the integrity of character for which Dr. Chase is everywhere known stand as a guarantee for his medicines, on every box of which are found his portrait and signature.
