"SAN DIEGO I LOVE YOU" STARS ALLBRITTON, HALL

Universal's comedy, "San Diego I Love You," which is said to be one of the funniest films ever to come out of Hollywood, is due to arrive today at the Prince Edward Theatre.

With the exception of the opening scenes, the picture, which co-stars Louise Allbritton and Jon Hall, has the busy city of San Diego, with its wartime problems of housing and congestion as its background. Appearing in support of Miss Allbritton and Hall are Edward Everett Horton, Eric Blore, Buster Keaton and Florence Lake.

In the film Horton, who usually plays bachelor roles, is the father of five children—Louise, his daughter, and four sons portrayed by Rudy Wissler, Charles Bates, Don Davis and Gerald Perreau, the boys ranging in age from six to sixteen.

The story concerns the family's departure for San Diego to promote a collapsible life raft Papa Horton has invented, and their experiences there are reported to be hilariously funny.

Airmen Returning From Overseas in Increasing Numbers

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 — (CP) — An increasing flow of airmen back from overseas is resulting in a steady demobilization of R.C.A.F. administrative officers from Commonwealth Training Plan stations throughout Canada but the discharge of non-flying personnel overseas is slower, an Air Force spokesman said yesterday.

Previous to the November 17 partial demobilization announcement, there had been scattered discharge of administrative personnel who had either lost their essentiality to the air force or were needed in essential industry or both.

But under the Nov. 17 announcement:—

1. Non-flying personnel in Canada who submit their application for return to civil life could be demobilized if they were no longer needed or repatriated airmen were available to take their places.

2. Where administrative surpluses developed in Canada as a result of the gradual closing down of the training plan and the increasing flow of repatriates from overseas, administrative discharges will be mandatory.

3. Overseas administrative officers with more than three years' service overseas will be repatriated for demobilization unless they wish to remain in Britain and if "suitable employment" is available there.

4. Administrative officers with less than three years' service overseas will be sent home if they so desire or if they become surplus to air force requirements.

The partial demobilization program includes a plan by which repatriated aircrew have an option of discharge or succeeding administrative officers in ground posts. With a decreasing need of aircrew to staff the reduced air training plan there is a rush of fliers for ground jobs in Canada.

However, aircrew must first qualify as administrative officers before taking these posts and when they are unsuccessful they stand a chance of being discharged if there are no flying berths available. Meanwhile this discharge does not bar them from posts in the post-war R.C.A.F.

As stations close down in Canada, however, fewer administrative officers are needed and in some cases they will be automatically discharged.

Among the branches of non-flying officers affected by the R.C.A.F. partial demobilization program is the public relations directorate. And, as is the case of many other sections, there is little overseas demobilization but in Canada there have been a dozen discharges within the last few months—the most notable being Wing Cmdr. Roger Irwin, who has gone back to newspaper work in Toronto. Wing Cmdr. Irwin was formerly chief public relations officer overseas.

Japs Short Of Naval Aircraft?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—(AP)—Belief that Japanese naval aviation has been "practically eliminated" was expressed today by Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, commanding officer of a Pacific fleet carrier task force.

Admiral Mitscher made his remarks at a news conference in which he revealed navy fliers have shot down approximately 4,000 Japanese naval fliers in the past year and a half and added:

"I have an idea Japanese plane production is not as great as they would have us believe."

IN MEMORIAM

MR. WILLIAM PIPPY

There passed away on June 15, 1944, at his home in Mount Herbert, Mr. William Pippy, one of the oldest residents of the community in his 86th year.

The late Mr. Pippy was a life long resident of Mount Herbert, and spent his life at his chosen occupation, farming. He was of a kindly and quiet disposition. During his long life he always enjoyed good health until about two years ago, but owing to his advanced years, he began to fail physically, and for the last twelve months was confined to his bed, during which time he was tenderly cared for by his daughter Minnie and granddaughter Phyllis.

He was a son of the late William and Flora (Hillman) Pippy, and was the oldest and last surviving member of a family of four, his two brothers and sister having predeceased him a few years ago, viz: Charles H. and George of Mount Herbert, and Mary Alice, Mrs. William MacGregor of Charlottetown. His wife predeceased him about twenty years ago.

His funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, June 17th at 2 o'clock from his late residence, Mount Herbert, where a host of friends and relatives gathered to pay their final tribute to the deceased. In the absence of Rev D. K. Ross, the funeral service was conducted by Flt.-Lt. Rev. W. R. Braine of the R. C. A. F., Charlottetown.

The deceased leaves to mourn his passing two sons, Roy on the homestead and John of Charlottetown, one daughter, Minnie at home, and four grandchildren.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. M. W. Wood, Francis Driscoll, Joseph MacEachern, Albert Ings, Ernest Mutch and Malcolm MacDonald. Interment was in Mount Herbert cemetery. 12-1-11

EDWARD VICTOR WALLS

After a comparatively brief illness brought on by a heart condition, Edward Victor Walls passed away in the Briar Bush Hospital, Stouffville, Ontario, on Nov. 28th, 1944.

He was born at Newtonbrook, near Toronto, on May 24th, 1872, and spent the early part of his life in that city. For the past twenty years he operated a fruit farm in Stouffville and was active until three months before his death. Mr. Walls was a life-long member of the I. O. O. F. and a Communicant of St. James' Presbyterian Church. Interment was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Richmond Hill, Ontario.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. T. H. Bussell Somers of Charlottetown.

BRIDGETOWN W. I.

The annual meeting of the Bridgetown Women's Institute was held on the evening of Nov. 1st at the home of Mrs. C. B. Clay, with the president, Miss Margaret MacLeod, in the chair. Following the opening exercises, the minutes of the last annual meeting and of the last monthly meeting were read and signed. Dues were paid in for the new year. Sick, visiting and school committees reported. The secretary then gave a report for the year, in which she mentioned money given to various charities as follows:—

From Institute funds: For the new Montague Hospital, $60.00: milk for Britain, $10.00: the Protestant Orphanage, $13.00

Collected in the district: For T. B. League, $33.00; for the new Montague Hospital, $105.00; for the Salvation Army, $35.00.

During the year the members did knitting and sewing for the Red Cross.

After reports on work done, the election of officers followed. Miss Margaret MacLeod was re-appointed president; Mrs. R.B. Clay, vice-president, and Miss Enid Morson the new secretary.

A questionnaire on Local Industries was read by Mrs. S. Morson, and discussion followed. An interesting contest was conducted by Mrs. Morson, also.

After a period of business, plans for next meeting were made.

After adjournment the hostess, Mrs. C. B. Clay, served lunch.

Discusses Value Of Pea Soup

TORONTO, Nov. 29—(CP)—Albert E. Cliffe, a Montreal chemical consultant and vitamin authority, said today that pea soup may provide the scientific explanation of the large birth rate among French Canadians.

"The percentage of sterility among French-Canadian women is the lowest in the world," Mr. Cliffe told the Electric Club of Toronto.

He explained that garden peas are the richest source of Vitamin E and that cooking in the preparation of pea soup does not destroy the vitamin which is necessary to health of reproductive organs.

209 Aircraft Sold By War Assets Corp.

MONTREAL, Nov. 29 — (CP)— War Assets Corporation, set up to dispose of surplus war materials, today announced the sale of 209 aircraft of various types and one Link trainer for $305,345.

The announcement said 185 of the planes sold were small aircraft "which had seen considerable instructional service" and that nearly half of them would be stripped by purchasers to provide replacement parts.

Two Grumman Goose aircraft brought $35,000 each. The announcement did not give the names of the purchasers, but said one would go to Ecuador and the other would remain in Canada. The Link trainer was purchased by Trans-Canada Air Lines for its Winnipeg school.

All the small planes were sold for use outside the Dominion, with most of them going to Mexico, Brazil, Ecuador and Peru. The type was not named but the announcement said the aircraft "is no longer manufactured in Canada, and with spares and replacements not available their value and usefulness here has greatly diminished."

Sale of six Avro - Anson trainers to the Brazilian Trans-Continental Airlines was announced here last night.

To Move Home Defense Troops Back To Quebec

(By The Canadian Press)

Announcement of plans to move some French Canadian home defence troops now in other parts of Canada back to Quebec came today following demonstrations in the last two days against the Government's overseas conscription policy.

The disturbances, which centred in British Columbia, received official attention in the Commons where the members, meeting to discuss the use of conscription to provide reinforcements, were told by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that the situation was "completely controlled."

From Terrace, B.C., came reports that a troop train, scheduled to carry a Saskatchewan regiment to another British Columbia point and delayed as a result of a demonstration by a Quebec regiment yesterday, was still idle on a railway siding.

Late last night Pacific Command headquarters had reported that the train had moved without any incident occurring.

While there were no disturbances at Terrace today small parades were staged in the business section. The beer parlors and liquor stores remained closed following a request of military authorities.

Defence Minister McNaughton in an interview at Ottawa said the disturbances were due to a comparatively small minority—some of them drafted three years ago, who were stirring up other members of the home defence units.

Brig. Edmond Blais, officer commanding Military District No. 5 at Quebec, made the announcement regarding the movement of French Canadian personnel. He said all home defence troops from his district would be returned there within a few days and would be trained under their own officers. He expressed confidence that he would be able to obtain enough volunteers to keep his two reinforcement units up to strength.

Brig. Blais said he had been unable to obtain Maj. Paul Triquet, V.C., as officer commanding a reinforcement group for the Royal 22nd Regiment and that Lt.-Col. Paul Garneau, D.S.O., would command the unit instead. He announced also that Lt.-Col. Dollard Menard, who won the D.S.O. at Dieppe, was promoted to a full colonel and would be in command of Valcartier military camp.

Meanwhile military investigations are being conducted at other British Columbia points where there were anti-conscription demonstrations by home defence troops and at Loretteville, Que., municipal officials are inquiring into a report that a Union Jack was destroyed at the end of a demonstration by several hundred youths last night.

Cardinal Stresses Vital Principals Involved in War

QUEBEC, Nov. 27 — (C P) — Cardinal Villeneuve, archbishop of Quebec, in an address Sunday declared that "the present conflict has long since developed into one of opposite ideologies; one which tends to dispossess man of his most precious liberties, of his very soul, to make him a blind tool of the state; the other which fights to preserve, amid the vicissitudes inherent to man's fallen nature, the Christian concept of man's dignity."

The Cardinal spoke in English over a national network of the CBC, and later in the evening delivered in French over a French-language network a pastoral letter addressed to the faithful of his archdiocese.

The Cardinal said this war had developed into one of opposite ideologies, "whatever might have been, in its remote or immediate causes, the origin of the conflict—and it must be frankly admitted that some of these causes could have been eradicated."

He continued:

"In all frankness, I must say . . . that there are other doctrines which present as grave a menace as does Nazism to the peace of the world and all democratic freedom-loving peoples, doctrines which, like Nazism, have been denounced in the strongest terms by His Holiness the Pope with all the knowledge and authority he derives from his exalted position.

Christian Duty

"It is the duty of all good Christians in this country, not only to watch and pray, but work also, that our people, after having been spared through the mercy of God, from the horrors of war, do not fall a prey to the teachers of doctrines, as pernicious in their ultimate logical consequences, as the barbarous, and therefore more strikingly repellent, spirit of world domination against which our Canadian boys are fighting overseas."

The Cardinal did not state what doctrines were referred to.

His eminence, who recently returned from a visit to the Vatican and the fighting fronts, spoke words of comfort to those at home and added:

"All chaplains have told me the same thing: Nothing keeps up the morale of the troops as do news and parcels from home. Write regularly and write often."

His Eminence stated that his trip had "no political significance whatsoever," nor was he entrusted with any official message from any persons, high or low, to any one on the other side of the Atlantic.

Still Seeking To Settle Difference In Air Conference

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 — (AP) — British and American delegations to the international civil aviation conference today presented new and widely differing proposals designed to end their deadlock over agreement on plans to control global air commerce.

The American plan, presented early this afternoon, abandoned all the complicated proposals of earlier drafts and simply called for complete freedom of the air under the supervisory authority of an international organization.

The British delegation, which has been fighting the idea of open competition for global air routes, offered a new plan based largely on a Canadian compromise proposal submitted Monday, but putting the allocation of frequencies in the hands of an international authority acting on certain basic principles to be set forth in the convention.

Both new plans are expected to be discussed tomorrow at a joint sub-committee meeting. The American plan, submitted by Adolph Berle, head of the United States delegation, was reported to be the last compromise that country will submit although it will give consideration to the British proposal.

The new American proposal simply defines the five freedoms and accords them to countries signing the convention. Traffic with non-signatory states would remain on a bi-lateral basis as it now is.

These freedoms are:

1. To fly across country without landing.
2. To land for non-traffic purposes.
3. To set down passengers, mails and freight from the country whose nationality the aircraft possesses.
4. To take on traffic bound for the country whose nationality the aircraft possesses.
5. To pick up and set down in states other than those of aircraft operating between termini separated by one or more countries.

The long deadlock has arisen over the American stand for exercise of the fifth freedom and application of pick-up traffic so obtained to the decision of the international authority when a company seeks rights to operate more planes.

The British delegates have fought this firmly on the basis that it enables big, well-prepared operators to pre-empt the international aviation field before others could get ready to participate.

BENITO'S MOSQUITOES

(Tune, "Clementine")

Near a fountain, on a mountain,
As the sun was going down,
A mosquito bit Benito
Just beneath his massive frown.

Benny muttered, then he sputtered,
And he struck with all his might
But his fist, (ER, yes,) it missed her,
Benny got another bite.

This put Benzy in a frenzy,
And he screamed, "I never dreamed
A mosquito'd bite Benito;
I thought I was more esteemed."

Did Beneeter HIT the skeeter?
THOUGHT he did, but he was wrong.
The moskeeter was much fleeter,
And again broke into song.

Yes, Benito, a mosquito
With its irritating sting,
Closed your eyes to Hitler's lies.
Benny, you have had your fling

Chorus:
O Benito, O Benito,
Poor bombastic stupid chump,
You are down and out forever.
You have surely been a "frump".
