SOLDIERS SETTLEMENT

A paragraph appearing in "Repatriation", a monthly Bulletin published in the interests of returned men in Australia, quotes the speech delivered in Sidney by Premier Holman, of New South Wales in which he stated that that State had settled 1,100 men on the land. The Premier claimed that this was a much larger number than had been settled in any of the other States.

New South Wales sent to the Battlefields of Europe thirty-nine per cent. of the total of the Australian Expeditionary Force. If the proportion of ex-service men settled on the land in the other States was equal to that of New South Wales the figures would be for the whole of Australia 2,820 men benefited by the Land Settlement Act up to the date of the Premier's speech.

Up to the 17th of May, the Soldier Settlement Board of Canada had approved of 7,900 applications for the benefits of the Soldier Settlement Act and a great many more applications were before the Qualification Committees in the various Provinces. These figures which will be largely augmented by the returns for the last two weeks of May and for the present month show that Canada is well in advance of the sister commonwealth in providing suitable farms for her war heroes.

Capt. (Dr.) C. E. Flatt, of Tantallon, Sask., was in Ottawa a few days ago on his way to England. Both Capt. Flatt and his son served overseas and are entitled to the loan privileges of the Soldier Settlement Board. Previous to the war Capt. Flatt was an extensive farmer and grain grower in Saskatchewan and with his son operates a section of land in that Province.

He intends adding considerable equipment to his 640 acre farm, but is not applying for financial assistance. He however, estimates that he will save at least $1,000 on cost of farm implements and lumber for buildings this year by buying through the Soldier Settlement Board.

Whether a borrower from the Soldier Settlement Board or not, an eligible and qualified returned soldier receives the benefits of cheaper machinery and lumber.

INTERESTING CEREMONY AT HALIFAX

85th Battalion Colors Given to Lieutenant-Governor Grant For Safe Keeping Until a More Fitting Place is Secured.

HALIFAX, June 18.—With notable ceremonial dignity and military eclat the King's and regimental colors of the 85th Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders, were delivered into the custody of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Grant for safekeeping in the Government House.

At 2.30 o'clock p. m. Colonel J. L. Ralston, D. S. O. and bar. Officers and men, numbering all told about 100 of the 85th Battalion, assembled at Grafton Park and formed up in fours

On the arrival of His Honor Lieutenant Governor Grant and his aide-de-camps, Major A. N. Jones and Captain Eric Grant a royal salute was given. Colonel Ralston moved to the side of the color bearers and addressed the Lieutenant Governor as follows:—

"Your Honor,—On behalf of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 85th Canadian Infantry Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders, it is my privilege to respectfully request that you will receive into Your Honor's custody for safekeeping the King's colors represents and exemplifies our loyalty to our sovereign, while the Regimental color, which will bear upon it the names of the engagements in which the unit has taken part, will represent for us the history, traditions and the achievements of the battallion, contributed to not only by those who have returned and are returning to these shores but by the gallantry and devotion to duty of those who rest in France and Flanders. The colors are the most precious possession of the battalion—for they are its very soul. We thank you for having done the 85th the honor of signifying your willingness to accept this trust. We are sensible of the distinction which we, along with our sister battalions in the province, have conferred upon us in having our colors rest at the Government House."

in reply His Honor said:

"Colonel Ralston,— It gives me great pleasure to receive into my custody the King's and Regimental colors of the 85th Battalion. They are worthy of a royal depositary. I recall the gallant deeds of the battalion on the battlefield and the glory which the colors gaied on the field. I shall receive them into my safe keeping in Government House where they shall repose until a more fitting place is made for them and the colors of the sister battalions of the province. It gives me great pleasure to receive the colors into my custody."

Another royal salute was given as the color bearers bore forward the colors and gave them into the hands of aide-de-camps Majo A. N. Jones and Captain Eric Grant. At the dipping of the colors a general salute was given and the formal ceremony was over. The 85th reformed in fours and marched from the Government House to Grafton Park for dismissal. Here Colonel Ralston addressed the officers (and men and thanked them for attending and doing honor to the colors. Private George A. Pyke called for three cheers for Colonel Ralston which were given with the soldiers' hearty vim, and the company dispersed, to carry away with them the last noble memory of the officers and the colors under which they fought in France and Flanders.

SOCIETY WOMAN LIVES IN A STABLE.

LONDON, June 18.—(By Mail)—In the present time of house and flat scarcity a countless number of people are dwelling in very queer places, says London Answers. Quite a widely known society lady—a figurehead in woman's movements—has had converted into a house a tumbledown stable in Bayswater. And a very comfortable home it is, even though the stairway is steep and narrow.

Caravans of all sorts and descriptions are in use, and you can't get hold of them quickly enough. A few years ago you could invariably induce a gypsy to part with his caravan for something like fifteen or twenty pound, and after a little judicious cleaning and painting, you had a really nice home for the ensuing summer. But you won't find a gypsy nowadays who will sell you the most dilapidated caravan for anything under $250. And at that price the roof very often leaks, the chimney smokes and the whole thing is in a state of disrepair.

But perhaps the queerest dwelling place can be seen down at the Thames-side resorts—Walton, Sunbury and Shepperton—where, even in the cold weather, it is no uncommon thing to find people of means living in old motor busses. Sometimes these people own them, but usually the rental for the summer months is from $130 to $150.

There is a fortune for some one in army huts. To purchase a large quantity of small and large huts when they are released, to furnish and let them isn't a big task if you have the available land on which to erect them. Instead of camping out of doors, our campers of old will be spending their summer holidays at the hut camp, Sloshton-on-the-Sea.

The Story of this Home

THE perfect preservation of woodwork and floors tells its own story of surface protection. Keeping wear from reaching the surface has kept it uninjured through constant use.

And so with everything. Surface protection is supremely important—save the surface and you save all.

Look at property for a minute—so subject to losses hard to prevent, like increased taxation, depreciation of neighborhood, loss of tenant, etc.

Lack of surface protection means a money loss, too, but one readily prevented. With surface protection wood cannot rot or wear—with surface protection metal cannot rust.

Any deterioration is a loss, whether of buildings, inside or out, of iron or wooden fences, furniture, carriages, wagons, farming machinery—everything. Anything with a surface needs protection—all wear and tear starts first at the surface—save the surface and you save all.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is issued by the Canadian Save the Surface Campaign Committee, for the purpose of educating the public in the Preservative and Protective value of Paint, Varnish and Allied Products for the Conservation of Property, and has received the approval of the Canadian Trade Commission in the following words:

"The realization of the above objects will lead to employment during the Reconstruction Period and bears our entire approval.
