COUNSEL COMMENDED.—In the course of his charge to the jury in the case of The King vs. William Munn, charged in the Supreme with having stolen goods in his possession, knowing them to have been stolen, the Chief Justice said: "I think that I should make special reference to the assistance which the Court and jury have derived from Mr. McNeill's advocacy of the defendant's cause; because you know, in every British Court, it is always regarded as of the first importance that a person accused of a crime shall have a fair trial, and where a case involves so many points of law and questions of fact as the present case does, the aid of competent counsel is one of the elements necessary to a fair trial. I think the Court would fail in its duty if recognition of the services which Mr. McNeill has rendered in this case were withheld. Counsel for the Crown has also made a fair and full presentation." Mr. R. N. McNeill was assigned counsel for the Court when the accused appeared for trial without counsel, and had a very short time to prepare his case.

THE MARKETS

MONTREAL, Que., July 8. —The demand from foreign buyers for Canadian grain continued of an in-different character on the Montreal market today. There was some de-mand from local buyers for Cana-dian western No. 1 feed oats and sales were made one cent per bushel over the Winnipeg July option C. 1. f. Montreal. In sympathy with the further strength in the Winni-peg market for oats, spot prices at the close of the day were marked up one cent per bushel, No. 2 C. W. closed at 75c and No. 3 C. W. at 71 1/2c per bushel. The movement of spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued limited but the under-tone was firm. A moderate am-ount of business was done in most grades of milled and values were unchanged, business in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but the feeling was firm. The egg market was moderately active and the receipts 2,648 cases. The de-mand for new crop American pota-tos was fair and prices were un-changed. Car lots of No. 1 Grade were quoted at $6.00 to $6.25 per barrel, and No. 2 grade at $3.70 to $4.00 per barrel ex-track. The trade in old crop Canadian pota-tos was slow with our local Que-bec white B grade offering at $1.50 to $1.60 per bag, and reds at $1.30 to $1.40 per bag of 90 pounds, in bulk ex-track. A fair trade was done in butter and prices were steady. Eastern town-ships No. 1 pasteurized was quoted at 34 1/4c to 34 1/2c per pound. The receipts were 4,295 packages. A feature of the cheese trade was the improved demand from Eng-lish importers and a little business was done in this respect. The local demand was quiet. The receipts were 7023 boxes.

OTTAWA, July 8. —There is a real steadiness reported from Cana-dian egg markets today although a quiet feeling is prevailing on the larger consuming centres of the East.

TORONTO—This market is quiet and unchanged with dealers quot-ing country shippers extras 32 to 34, firsts 30 to 32, seconds 24 to 27.

MONTREAL — This market is quiet and under heavier receipts and more liberal offerings has worked slightly lower in a jobbing way.

EDMONTON—The egg market here is steady. Dealers are paying country shippers extras 26 1/2, firsts 24, seconds 18. Prices to re-tailers are extras 34, firsts 32, sec-onds 26.

CALGARY.—The Egg receipts here are very light. The market is unchanged in tone and prices with dealers quoting country shippers extras 27, firsts 24, seconds 18.

VANCOUVER — There is no change in this market with dealers quoting producers extras 27 to 28, firsts 25 to 26, seconds 22 to 24. Carlot shipments have fallen off for the present and wholesalers are competing keenly for local bus-iness.

ST. JOHN, N. B. — There is no change in the market situation here with prices steady at the recent ad-vance. Dealers are quoting country shippers delivered cases returned, extras 33, firsts 29, seconds 23.

HALIFAX — There is no change in the egg or poultry market here. Receipts of eggs are light and sup-plies are arriving from Charlot-te-town.

Jas. Gormley

louch McKenna. He went back to get the other keg, but he didn't get it. The shot was fired the second time he went in. He didn't lay a hand on McKenna that night.

Cross-examined, he went over the movements from the time he first encountered McKenna. He couldn't say if there was anybody around the gangway. He couldn't say what was going on when he was away.

He saw McKenna there and was afraid to take the second keg. He met his brother at the corner who told him he was shot. The witness then left his brother, went and got a hand-sled and went after the keg. He put the keg down on Paoli's Wharf. He met McDougall after that but couldn't remember where. The keg which he took was stolen from him. He was found guilty of stealing lead from Dalton's boat in 1917. He was convicted of killing a horse. He be-lieved he was charged with enter-ing Goff's. He never took liquor from McKenna before.

To Mr. Shaw: Beer and Goff's was in 1917. He had two accidents when a young fellow—a broken arm and head split open. His memory of sight is not very good. Doyle was standing up.

To Justice Arsenault: I didn't know there was a keg of rum there. The shooting took place the second time I was there. When I took the keg across the street I thought it was mine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gormley was re-called to the witness stand to give evidence that the memory of James Gormley was defective.

Mr. Shaw in his address to the jury thought they must have been surprised by evidence of Patrick Mc-Kenna, the man called, to find him handling liquor in large quan-tities apparently. There were two kegs of liquor in his sleigh and he didn't know where it came from. Under the Prohibition Act, it would be inferred that such conditions should not exist.

Mr. Shaw reviewed the evidence. "We have cases of assault," he said, "I am a magistrate and hear more cases of assault than anything else and there was no case before the Supreme Court." McKenna himself says, he is not permanently shaken up. "You are not to be carried away by the terms" he said when refer-ring to Dr. Ledwell's evidence. "It has been shown he was not seriously hurt." There was no assault oc-casioning actual bodily harm. It is just an ordinary case of a rum fight and should never have been in this court, the police brought the case into court, to get at the bottom of things, William Gormley was never in McKenna's at all. There is no doubt somebody beat McKenna up. An innocent man got the worse of it in that case.

In the evidence there is only one witness that McKenna was beat up that witness is McKenna himself. Why wasn't Doyle brought here. His evidence could have been given here to corroborate the evidence of McKenna who comes here in a half-hearted way. He is sort of com-pelled to come here.

On the other hand you have Wm. Gormley who comes here and in a straightforward manner tells you how things happened. Mr. McKin-non made no impression of that boy's evidence. There is the evi-dence of Mr. Gormley which cor-roborates that. They were not to-gether. You must have been impressed by the evidence of Clarence Dunn. He has no interest in the thing whatever. McKenna doesn't know these boys. Dunn's evidence showed he didn't know William Gormley. He was right as regards one of the Gormley boys, but evidently he doesn't know the boy that was shot.

You must be impressed by the story of James Gormley. He admit-ted he took the keg of rum. Al-though his memory is not good, he remembers not the details but the main facts. "I am claiming he is not responsible for what he does, but I claim he is lacking in detail."

You are upholding one criminal against the other if you find a ver-dict against the prisoners and I say that is against the policy of the law. It is not known to whom the rum belonged to. It seems they steal from one another.

I don't believe you will send these boys to Dorchester. Donald McKinnon, K. C., in the course of his address, said the case being tried is the King vs. James Gormley and William Gormley, not Patrick McKenna vs. Jas. and Wil-liam Gormley. That means it is a case which the whole province is interested in, not only Patk. Mc-Kenna. It is not a question of what McKenna does or does not do. At the present you have nothing to do with Patk. McKenna's case or his business. The assault was commit-ted upon him and that is why he is here. It doesn't matter who or what the citizen is he has the right to protection.

"They say this is not a serious case but the Magistrate thought it serious enough to send it up to the Supreme Court as did also the Grand Jury. You are to see that law is so enforced in this country to see that such things will not happen. There is really only one witness on the part of the Crown. Why should the Crown summon Doyle. If Doyle was not there, as the Crown claims they summon him. The de-fence claims he was there. Why didn't they summon him?"

James Gormley admits he and McDougall went to the yard and that he saw McKenna.
