Delicate Radio Parts Receive Expert Care
Ever look into the interior works of a radio? Delicate little mechanisms there, aren't there? It takes special skill to repair those intricate radio parts and beside skill adequate repair equipment is also needed.
That is why it pays when radio trouble develops, to entrust your set only to qualified radio technicians. You may safely leave your set troubles with Bowlan's Radio Service, 119 Fownal St. in Charlottetown. Mr. Walker M. Bowlan, the proprietor, is a veteran who established this business in January, 1946. He has considerable experience in radio service, and guarantees all work.
When your radio goes to 119 Fownal Street you can be sure that it's troubles end at "Bowlan's". Phone 2176-L for quick and efficient service.

Queen Street Service Station
Showing a large increase in business over last year Bob Tuplin's Queen Street Service Station on the corner of Queen and Sydney Sts., is drawing a large share of motor trade daily.
Dealers in McColl-Frontenac gas and oils Manager Tuplin and his staff are rapidly making a name for themselves for the courteous, prompt attention they pay to all cars coming in for service. Mr. Tuplin himself a member of the Air Force for three years, look over the station two years ago and has instilled into his staff of four the necessity of courteousness and promptness that is evident.
Cleanliness also comes into the picture. Right at the present time painters are busily engaged putting fresh coats of paint to exterior and interior and when completed the station will have a fine appearance. Last fall a new concrete driveway was also laid and this has added its share in making the station a spot where motorists seek.
An automatic hydraulic hoist is in use for greasing while other activities going on in the Auto Laundry included washing, simonizing and general repairs.
And in addition the station also carries necessary accessories such as Firestone tires and tubes, Exide Batteries and a long list of general accessories.
If you try the Queen Street Service Station you can be sure of getting a thorough job.
