We have them in all sizes from 7 to 10. They compare favorably with the most 35c and 40c lines sold around the Town.

Pen-Angle Sweater Coats

EXAMINE one at your local merchant's and you will agree that nothing you own is more beautifully made nor more exquisitely finished. Try one on, and you see that it has the snug, stylish fit your taste exacts. Subject it to hard wear and learn that it retains its new, smart shapeliness. It must do that, for our Pen-Angle knitting process shapes these improved sweater coats into permanent fit. Thus they cannot become saggy or ill-fitting, as many garments do that resemble them in appearance only when brand-new. You will be lastingly satisfied with the sweater coat that bears this trademark.

TO POISON PATIENTS
ROME, Oct. 17—Very grave disorders occurred today at Segui, a town half an hour by rail from Rome. Rioting was caused by the action of the municipality, in adopting measures to stamp out cholera. The inhabitants believed the government intended to poison the cholera patients and a great crowd marched to the city hall and demanded their release.

U. S. Railway Commissioners Declare Them Needless Expense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—The twenty-third annual convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners was opened here yesterday by Chairman Clements of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The important event of the day was the submission of the report of the committee on express rates and express service. The keynote of the convention was struck in the address of the president, R. Hudson Burr, of Florida, at the morning session when he said it was his conviction that express companies should be eliminated and that the railroads should be forced to take over the business. President Burr, in the course of his address at the opening of the session, took up the question of the utility of the railway commissions. Bearing upon this point he said in part: "It is the duty of the legislature to make laws and of the courts to administer the laws as they find them. It is an essential principle of our government that legislative and judicial bodies should be preserved without any confusion of their functions, and yet it is a patent fact that the settlement of transportation problems cannot be arrived at through a legislative act or judicial decree." Concerning the express business, which it is expected will be an important issue in this convention, the president said: "I wish to say at this point that I believe the express business of the country should be conducted as a department of the railroad business; that I see no sound reason for the existence of separate and distinct express company as a means of transportation; that it is one of the factors of transportation business which should properly belong to the railway companies, and for which they should receive extra compensation for the service rendered."

so objecting to the provision in the receipt setting up no liability in cases where articles are not properly packed or are fragile, claiming this works a hardship on shippers, and petitioning that express companies should establish a central claim office, where all claims might be sent for settlement. 3. There seemed to be a strong belief that stock of express companies should not be owned or controlled by another express company or by any railway company. 4. Complaint was made as to the unfair classification, holding that special and general special rates bear manifestly unfair relation to the merchandise rates. 5. Serious objection was made to the present practice of express companies in the matter of routing shipments over their own line when many times by routing jointly over other connecting lines much time and distance might be saved, often to the great advantage of the shipper. 6. In the matter of refunds it was urged that express companies should be required in all cases to give notice to the consignee in cases where refunds of any character should properly be made. In this connection it was urged that proper notice should always be sent to consignee in case a shipment was lost in transit or refused at the point of destination. 7. It was urged that express companies should be required to furnish those entitled to the same with a receipt, and that in all cases the receipts should show, among other things, the rate charged. 8. Many claim that the express companies should be required to furnish tariffs to shippers in the same manner that railway companies furnish. (Continued on Page 6.)

Slow Getting Well

The pale, thin face of one who has just been through a serious illness is one of the saddest of all sights. With weakened, trembling limbs, and faltering steps they creep about—it takes so long to get well. We know something that is the greatest help to such persons of any remedy we have ever sold, and the way it hastens the return of health is truly remarkable. This remedy is Vinol, our preparation of cod livers and strengthening iron in the form of a delicious wine. It is far better than cod liver oil, for Vinol agrees with any stomach, however weak, and begins its work by enriching and strengthening the blood and improving the circulation, nourishing all parts of the body. Vinol will put you on your feet—if it does not we give back the money. Certainly a fair offer.—E. A. Foster, Central Drugstore, Sunnyside.

LILLIAN RUSSELL AT B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Lillian Russell, "the queen of beauty and song," will be the headline attraction at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. As the leading lady of the Weber & Fields' all-star music company and later as a legitimate star in Wildfire, Miss Russell occupies a place all her own on the legitimate stage. She was under contract to Werba & Luescher, producers of The Spring Maid, at star season in a new comic opera, but some difficulty was experienced in securing the proper vehicle, and Mr. Keith made arrangements to present her at his beautiful playhouse. During the week Miss Russell will sing several new songs, written especially for her, and wear some marvelous costumes that are bound to turn every woman in the audience green with envy. The novelty of the week will be Paul Seldoms' Venus, a series of wonderful reproductions of living marble statuary of exquisite beauty. This troupe is composed of three men and Miss Erna Claren, one of the most perfectly formed young women in the world. The surrounding show will be fully up to the standard of those that have preceded it, including Jones & Deely, in Hotel St. Rockless; Van Haven, the crazy magician; Cocoran Dixon, singers and dancers; the Six Abdallahs, whirlwind Arabian acrobats; Barry & Halvers in It Happened at the Fountain; Frohlich, a new cartoonist; and others to be announced.
