Even if the drug is not used early it shortens the time till recovery and reduce the severity of the symptoms. If properly and universally used, Dr. Brewster says these anti-asthmatic drugs could reduce cases of common cold to nearly the vanishing point. We should soon hear more about this treatment of the common cold.

THE COMMON COLD

Never neglect the common cold as it may often be a forerunner of other more dangerous conditions. Send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing to The Bell Syndicate, in care of this newspaper, Post Office Box 59, Station G, New York 19, N. to make any impression, it has been his practice to assume a stern expression, strangely enough upon acquaintance not at all fearful to the youthful culprit. When this failed to work, or must be continued over an extended period, it gave away to an amaze over the ways of "these children of yours" which conveniently allowed him in a very helpless manner of course, to give the entire affair over as today to other hands.

"The dear little girl," he says now "we can't expect her to be grown up in a day. I do hope the sound of the wind won't keep her awake. Strong isn't it? This is a reminder that chimney and stove-pipes should be cleaned before another windy spell breaks. - - - my dear, look at the time! We should have been to bed long ago!"

Reliance On U. S. A. Imports In Canada

MONTREAL, Aug. 25 - Although Canada's export trade is undergoing "major readjustments" and recovery of gold and U. S. dollar reserves from the November 1947 low "may have been halted," Canadian demand for imports, mostly American, continues to mount to unprecedented levels.

This situation occupies much of the Bank of Montreal's attention in its latest monthly Business Review.

At a value of $1,159 millions, merchandise imports during the first five months of this year have been running "at the highest rate in history," the bank stresses, this being 12 per cent above the comparable period of last year and more than four times the level of 1938.

Last year, the review states, Canada was "the fourth largest importing nation in terms of the total value of commodities received, being exceeded only by the United Kingdom, the United States and France."

On Per Capita Basis

"In proportion to population, however," the bank adds, "this country was the largest importer of the four, per capita imports in 1948, expressed in dollars, having been $205 for Canada, $187 for Great Britain, $81 for France and $48 for the U. S. A."

Attributing the high total of import values largely to "the rise of world prices" and "the general level of business activity," the B of M also finds "that the advance in industrialization made in recent decades has not importantly reduced the need for imports in the Canadian economy."

It is significant that, in the past three years, producers' goods have accounted for a higher proportion of total imports than in the late 1920's, while consumers' goods have been of relatively less importance.

"But, while abnormal conditions have recently operated to enlarge the inflow of foreign commodities, the essential nature of Canada's chief import needs has been relatively constant over a long span of years," the bank comments. "The solid centre of our import pattern, consisting of fuels, steel, mechanical equipment, clothing materials and certain foodstuffs, has changed little, being determined by our climate and known natural resources and the size of markets for domestic production."

Import Pattern

Noting the predominant position of the United States as a Canadian supplier, the review points out that under the conditions of multilateral trade and convertibility of currencies in which the internal structure and external buttresses of the Canadian economy were built up, "a high degree of dependence on sources of supply in the U. S. would not be a matter of concern."

"But," it emphasizes, "with pressure appearing to militate against a return of such conditions, at least in the foreseeable future, the necessity of attaining a closer balance of trade with separate currency areas may well pose serious problems for Canada."

The review concludes that an appraisal of the facts "serves to emphasize the difficulties involved in effecting any broad or rapid alteration in the nature or sources of Canadian imports."

ENTERTAINED FORMER ISLANDERS - On Tuesday afternoon August 16th Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Provencher entertained at their lovely home in South Melville, by serving a delicious supper to Mr. Provencher's mother, Mrs. Isobel Provencher, his grandmother, Mrs. Duncan MacGillivray, who is in her 96th year and still quite active, also Mrs. John MacPhail, Bonshaw, Miss Jean MacGillivray, Jackson, Mississippi, and her sister, Mrs. Lettie Pearsoll, Sultan, Washington. It has been 22 years since Miss MacGillivray visited the Island. Mrs. Pearsoll has not visited since she left 58 years ago. They made the trip by car which is 3,000 miles, and enjoyed it very much. They expect to leave the latter part of the week, but hope to return in the near future.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER - On the evening of July 29 the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodolph MacDonald, Canoe Cove was the scene of a pleasant event when the many friends of Irene MacDougall, bride-to-be, gathered to tender her a miscellaneous shower. Irene was escorted to the decorated seat of honor by Velma Morcash. A decorated basket was carried in several times loaded with many lovely and useful gifts by the Misses Alberta MacLean and Sadie MacFadyen. Caroline MacKenzie cut the ribbons while Marie MacDonald read the accompanying verses and Laura MacNevin arranged the gifts on the table, which was centered by a bouquet of very beautiful red roses, donated for the occasion by Mrs. Daniel MacLean. Irene, in her usual jolly manner, thanked one and all for the many gifts. This was followed by the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." A delicious lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in social conversation and dancing. All wished her way home wishing Irene many years of happy wedded life.
