

CITY AND COUNTRY NEWS.

The closing exercise of the Literary and Social Society of New Glasgow, will take place Friday evening, 27th inst.

The Tryon Dairying Co. have secured the service of one of our most up-to-date letter makers, Mr. Lang for this year.

WHAT might have been a serious affair happened recently, when one of Tryon's residents, Mrs. McWilliams, was attacked by a very cross dog on the road; but luckily help reached her in time to rescue her without injury, except some bad rents in her wearing apparel.

THE SOCIAL.—In the interest of the Ladies' Aid of Greenwich and Cable-Head a pie social was held in the hall at that place on the 11th inst. Mr. J. B. McEwen acting as chairman and the program which consisted of recitations, singing, graphophone selections, and comic reading was well rendered. The Ladies' Aid Society are particularly indebted to Mr. Sutherland for the free use of his graphophone. At the conclusion of the program the sale of pies began, Mr. Milton McLaren acting as auctioneer. The social was closed by singing of National Anthem and three cheers for the Ladies' Aid.—ONE PRESENT.

HAMPTON NOTES.—Most of the farmers in this vicinity have sold their fat cattle to Mr. John McLeod, the average price being about 4 cents per lb.—The Jacques Cartier made her first trip of the season to Crapaud on Friday the 20th inst. This first trip is always much appreciated by the people of Victoria, Crapaud and Hampton, as we have not got the railroad to Victoria yet.—The pupils of Hampton school are making splendid progress in their studies under the instructions of our worthy teachers, Mr. William Villet and Miss Maggie McNeill.

PAULINE, or the Belle of Saratoga to be given at the Opera House next Tuesday evening with a grand entertainment by Mr. S. N. Earle promises to be the treat of the season. The scene opens in a fashionable hotel at Saratoga. Sir Charles Grandiswell, a foppish young baronet, makes love to and is accepted by Clara Rivers, a rival of Pauline Western, the reigning belle. Pauline, much against her father's wishes is very much in love with George Ardent, a poor young French student, who is about to depart with our army for Mexico. Pauline introduces George to her father under the assumed name of Mr. Raymond. Capt. Western presumes that Sir Charles is in love with Pauline and Sir Charles entering with Clara is made to declare his love for Pauline. Much to Clara's chargin. George departs for the war, and Pauline is left sad and lonely. A year passes Clara is lamenting the perfidious conduct of Sir Charles. Pauline is still urged by her father to marry Sir Charles but George reigns supreme in her heart. A note falls at her feet, while she is dreaming and thinking of the absent one. It announces the return of George and that he is beneath her window. An elopement is planned, but it is frustrated by the appearance of Capt. Western, Sir Charles, Clara and guests of the Hotel. Matters are satisfactorily arranged on both sides and wedding bells are in the air. The solos, trios, choruses, duets, etc. are exquisite from a musical stand point. Read ad in another column.

An employee of Dry Dock named Foley, working on S. S. Coban of the Black Diamond Line, Saturday afternoon, in the dock being repaired, was standing on the gate and slipped, falling down below to the grating. As the suction is great at this spot when the dock is being pumped out, Foley would have been drawn through the bars but for the arrival of his friends, who lowered a weight and lifted him out of his perilous position.—Halifax Recorder.

YESTERDAY morning at ten o'clock there passed away at his residence, Pownall St., Mr. George M. Munroe, youngest son of the late Dr. Munroe of Alberry Plains. Mr. Munroe was formerly a teacher but lately was employed with Mr. Walter Mathieson of this city. Last Autumn failing health compelled him to seek a warmer climate and he went to Denver, Col. Finding no benefit from the change he returned to his home in Charlottetown where he continued to sink till yesterday when he breathed his last. He was married to Miss Bessie Jenkins, daughter of Mr. Richard Jenkins of Pownall who with a brother and four sisters is left to mourn.

An Exhibit of Millinery Elegance.

To-morrow (Thursday) evening from half past seven until nine—we're holding a reception at our store. You are especially invited. We want YOU particularly, to drop in and see the handsomest Millinery display ever yet held in Charlottetown. We are especially anxious to have you see the large range of elegant new designs by our Milliner.

Miss Emma Toombs

At no time previously have we shown a line so extensive, so stylish, so elegantly made—so beautifully trimmed. When you see the exhibit you will agree with us. And then there'll be an exhibit of untrimmed goods that will be worth all the time you'll take. There'll be hundred after hundred of elegant trimmed and untrimmed Sailors.

Ladies who have been in our Millinery room—say also—that no store in town can for a moment compare with our stock of Children's Millinery. Besides all this there'll be an elegant display downstairs of New Dress Goods, Silks, etc etc. Come early.

GUARDIAN readers will be pleased to learn that yesterday Mr. John Robertson of Long Creek, one of Prince Edward Island's foremost farmers and stockmen purchased the old Aldous farm, near Montague for ranching and other farming purposes. This farm was in former years one of the leading farms in King's County and there is no doubt that under his judicious management it will in the near future, occupy a place in the first rank. The property possesses an unlimited quantity of manure in alder mud and black muck. It is hoped that in the interest of Long Creek and vicinity that Mr. Robertson will not permanently remove the noted Stallion McGill, who has proved himself such a famous stock getter, but should he so decide Long Creeks' loss will be Montague's gain. Mr. Robertson's new farm will consist of 320 acres and is situated midway between Montague Bridge and Lower Montague and has unrivaled facilities for shipping. The land is well watered and especially adapted for grazing purposes.
