Some Diamond Grit

BY QUIN HALL

YOU MAY think that it takes a lot of nerve for some of these major league pitchers to shoot over the in-shoots and upshoots to a battery of heavy hitting players the way they do but it is nothing compared to a finger finishing an important game after he has been soaked on the knee cap by a hard batted ball.

Every once in a while you hear an example of gameness on the diamond, which demands more than just a passing mention. Waite Hoyt, the big right hander of the New York Yankees furnished such an example in a game last year. It happened during a time last summer when the whole Yankee machine, especially the pitchers, were hitting the skids.

Hoyt, on the hill, failed to get out of the way of a hard line drive which was zooming straight out to centerfield and laid him low. He arose, limped around the back of the mound, waved his teammates back to their places, and continued pitching—the first ball after the accident going over the plate for a strike, but the effort of making the throw put him down again. Every time Hoyt pitched his weight went on his right leg. Every throw ended with Waite hopping almost over to third base. But Hoyt finished the game and he won it.

Max Carey, another ball player whose nerve has never been questioned, once finished a game with two broken ribs and a threat of pneumonia hanging over him. The broken ribs came in a nasty collision at second base and the threat was the result of a physician's examination following the crash. All this occurred when Carey was working with the Pittsburgh Pirates in a World Series game between the Pirates and the Washington Senators.

"Chick" Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals, played throughout the 1926 World Series although he was almost blind in one eye following a run-in with Douthett in centerfield.

Boley, of the Athletics, broke the index finger of his throwing hand in a "Little World Series" game while he was with the Baltimore club and no one ever figured out how he finished the series with a finger hanging loose in its socket.

Nerve? Plenty of it. Much more than it takes to raze some player who may be doing his best under very trying circumstances!

Record Crowd Witness Races

Over 4000 Attend Great Race Meet At St. Peters Yesterday—The Aubrey's, Bingen, Ruby And Mickey Won Their Respective Classes.

Over 3800 people paid admission to the St. Peter's horse races yesterday afternoon, which means that with the horsemen and officials and attendants there were well over 4000 on the grounds. It was without doubt one of the largest gatherings brought together in Kings County for some years. The beautiful weather, good advertising and the fact that the meeting last year was such a success, all had its effect. They were all ages, from babies two months old to almost nonagenarians. It was a great meeting spot, and many hundreds, perhaps thousands, of old friendships were renewed. The writer met several people that he had not seen for years. From the top seat of the grandstand a pretty good view could be obtained of the entire grounds, as they slope easterly and the grandstand is almost at the western end. It was stated by good authority that there were almost 1000 automobiles and a Yankee remarked that Prince Edward Island must be the most prosperous spot on the face of the globe, when so many new and beautiful automobiles could be driven by its inhabitants.

It was a good natured crowd and there was very little kicking at the dust nuisance. This was avoided last year by the use of calcium chloride or snow flake, but although ordered it was unobtainable in time. Next year Secretary Quigley informed us that he will have a large stock on hand early enough so that this occurrence will be dealt with in future.

The races which were well filled and hotly contested, drew a large amount of enthusiasm from the spectators. Almost every horse had a bunch of rooters who cheered vociferously for it. A regrettable feature of the day was the serious accident to Al Worthy, owned by Willard Kelly of Southport. In the second heat of the 222 Class, Al Worthy made a misstep and cut his right front tendon almost to the bone. The terrific speed which he exhibited in the first heat showed that he had the makings of one of the best pacers in Canada, and good judges were talking 2.10 for him. The injury will mean his retirement for a year at least and comes as a severe blow to his very popular owner-driver.

2.27 Trot.

This class had thirteen entries but only nine took the word. They were a hard bunch to get away, but Starter Wright was very patient. Owing to the clouds of dust which they kicked up it was almost impossible for him to distinguish the trailing horses and Mary Volo, who was not turned when the word was given, was overlooked and regrettably distanced. Johnnie Walker had the pole. At the first turn Donna Harvester, who had a trailing position shot around them and grabbed the pole, followed by Mack Todd. These two had a great race from the three-quarter pole home, Mack winning by a neck in good time considering the track, 2.19 1-2, Ruby Aubrey third and Johnnie Walker fourth, all four horses only separated by a few feet.

Second Heat. Donna Harvester had the lead for a large part of the mile, but in the dash to the wire was outspurred by Ruby Aubrey and Mack Todd, Captain Jackson fourth, Eastern Lady landing fifth.

Third Heat. Mack Todd went to the lead before the first turn was reached, with Donna Harvester trailing, Ruby Aubrey third, the Captain fourth. Before the half was completed Captain Jackson was in the lead. At the three-quarter pole it looked as though Ruby Aubrey would collar him. They were almost on even terms from that to the wire. It was a great race between these two, Captain Jackson just getting the decision. Donna Harvester third, Mack Todd fourth.

2.29 Pace.

This was a nice race with plenty of interesting changes in it. The first heat York Oia flashed to the lead and looked a sure winner until fifty yards from the wire when he made a tumble in the hoppers. He finished first but was set back to second place, Louis Set, who was awful close being awarded the heat with Dr. Audubon third, Mickey Aubrey fourth.

Second Heat. York Oia again went into the lead and to his friends looked like the money, but fifty yards from the wire Mickey Aubrey came very fast beating York Oia in a rousing finish, Louis Set being this time third, Dr. Audubon fourth.

Third Heat. York Oia again went into the lead but was passed at the half by Louis Set and Mickey Aubrey. Louis Set looked like a sure thing until the last fifty yards when Mickey Aubrey came with his usual rush and landed first. These pacers are pretty evenly matched and another race between them will create considerable interest.

The officials who conducted the meeting admirably were: Starter, F. E. J. Wright, Summerside; Judges, W. S. Brown, Charlottetown; George Callbeck, Summerside; Frank Warren St. Peters; Timers: Bert Large, Charlottetown; H. Murphy, Charlottetown.

MADE GOOD SHOWING AT ANTIGONISH

Dennis Ryan 3rd in Mile and Loses Half in Hard Luck Finish.

Word comes from Antigonish that Dennis Ryan, classy half miler, running under the Abegweit's colors, finished third in the mile event and would have won the half mile run, had he not stepped in a hole near the finish. He placed third.
