

"Please teacher -"

Only teachers know how trying it is at times to deal with a roomful of children.

What a relief, sometimes, when closing hour comes.

Take time then, to make a cup of tea.

Nothing so soothing for tired nerves.

"The reformers are making the world a bitter place to live in."

"Brown says his European trip was completely spoiled." "As to how?" "Seems a careless porter lost a label off his suitcase."

WATERED THE JUDGE Maud Muller on a summer night. Lulled on the gate arrayed in white. The judge rode up and, with a drink. Said, "Child, can I have a drink?" Said Maud, "If you've the price to pay."

"What's in that little thing the artist always puts on Cupid's back, pa?" "It used to be supposed that he had arrows there, but in these days he usually carries a divorce decree in his quiver."

"Did you get another gold brick and you was in love?" "Well, my dear, I did not cover it with a sheet, but I did it to prop open the door."

"That queer mumbled song of hers?" I hazarded. He took another turn across the room before he answered that question. "Yes, I understood it," he said at last. "That song, as you call it, was an old Maori death chant." Doctor McAlister had resumed his thoughtful patrol of the room. "Of course," he said half under his breath "it may be a coincidence, just that and nothing more." "No," said I. "No, I can't believe that. There must be some stronger connection than mere chance, between the murdered body of that man in the house out at Oak Ridge and the death chant of that girl at whose bedside we stood tonight. It must be more than chance."

But my chief turned upon me sharply. "Don't make the mistake of thinking that," he said. "There is no greater source of error in the world than the belief that unlikely things can't happen. They happen every day, coincidences, against which the chances are a thousand to one. Still," he paused in his stride and plowed his hands through his thick gray hair—"still, to put it conservatively, it's vastly more likely than not that there is a connection; that this girl has some place in that unknown past of his, which he thought he had spunged out so completely." "Well," said I. "If she was any place at all, isn't it altogether likely that she is the person who committed the murder? And if that's so—well, what are we going to do about it?" "Tell Ashton?"

He wheeled round at that and smote a near-by panel with his great fist. "No, by thunder, not that. Not, at least, until we've solved this mystery for ourselves; until we are sure we understand it. And I mean by that," he went on, looking at me fixedly, "I mean a good deal more than merely proving she was the woman whom Will Harvey swore he saw in silhouette upon the shade; until we've proved more than that it was her hands that pulled taut the caught string around the old man's neck." "What more than that," I asked unsteadily, "can you hope to prove, or want to prove?" "This," he said, stopping before me and looking straight into my face; "this. That it was her will which directed the hands, and not her soul that was responsible for the crime."

"You mean," I gasped with sudden half-perception of his meaning, "that there may be another will concerned in the business?" "Exactly that," he answered. "I mean that judging from that girl's condition tonight, it may very well be that the real murderer of that old man was no nearer to the house in Oak Ridge than we are now."

WHAT! A PIANO IN THE KITCHEN?

"DON'T BE SILLY," you say. "Who would want a piano in the kitchen?" Quite right! But what we really mean is that the new Enterprise Ranges are so colourful and so beautifully built—anyone of them would add as much to the charm and comfort of your kitchen as a piano does for the beauty of living room or parlour. The modern mode is colour. And Enterprise Ranges reflect the trend of the times—made in cheery colours and porcelain white. No more "Kitchen Blues" when you own a colourful Enterprise Range! The Enterprise Ranges are as efficient as they are beautiful. For nearly two generations Enterprise Ranges have given perfect satisfaction to more than 250,000 Canadian women. What an enviable record!—And justly deserved—for these worthy ranges have been designed by expert engineers and made from the best material money can buy. The Enterprise Iron Duke (a cast iron range for coal or wood featured in the illustration) is a popular member of the illustrious Enterprise Family. In addition to many special features which make it ideal from the standpoint of cooking and baking, the full enamel porcelain sides have no holes or crevices to catch dust or grease. Simply wipe with a damp cloth and your range is ready for the next day's perfect cooking—spotlessly clean. You can buy any Enterprise Range for cash, or on easy terms if you prefer. If the latter is more convenient, you will find the regular monthly payments of $10 easy to take care of. Or—you can pay in larger amounts in three months periods if you desire. The initial cash payment in either case is comparatively small. There are several types of Enterprise Ranges for coal and wood burning—also gas ranges and the new Enterprise Electric Range. All are quality-built ranges backed by the iron-clad guarantee of their makers. For real cooking satisfaction nothing can equal any one of these Enterprise Ranges. Clip the coupon below and send it to the Enterprise Foundry Company of Sackville, N.B. You will receive our illustrated free booklet explaining the many advantages of Enterprise Ranges. Write today for it.
