CURIOUS CROWDS WATCHING THAW

And the Wheels of Justice are Still Going Around Slowly, with Uncertainties Yet In Store.

(Canadian Press) COLERIDGE, N. H., Sept. 14.—The protection of the United States courts had not come to Harry K. Thaw tonight. Through his counsel obtained a writ of habeas corpus from United States Judge Aldrich at Concord, yesterday, the writ was not served on Sheriff Drew tonight and Thaw's lawyers said it would not be served until tomorrow afternoon.

(those who were willing to pay for a meal had this curiosity gratified as Thaw was brought to the dining room. Members of Thaw's counsel said today that Thaw's freedom was not sought as a reason for obtaining a federal writ of habeas corpus but the writ was obtained to checkmate New York State. Jerome, on hearing this, at once stated that counsel in making this statement trifled with the federal court and for so doing was liable for contempt. Unless Jerome has power concealed somewhere Thaw will be taken to Littleton Tuesday morning for hearing in the writ case. Thaw is being guarded by federal guards as they are determined there shall be no interference with course of justice.

REPORT FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1913

CHATTANOOGA, PENN., Sept. 13.—Headquarters for the 47th annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic were opened here today. When Commander-in-Chief Beers and the advance guard of veterans arrived here they found Chattanooga smothered in bunting, and as much enthusiasm over the old flag as they ever saw in any Northern city. The G. A. R. has never had more complete arrangements made for its entertainment than this year by the State of Tennessee. All the citizens of Chattanooga, which is to be the first camping place of the Union veterans in the old South, seem to have entered into generous rivalry to see who can spread the most bunting and contribute most to the entertainment of the visitors.

GRAIN BLOCKADE IMPOSSIBLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—E. J. Chamberlain, President of the Grand Trunk Railway and Grand Trunk Pacific, made an important statement in an interview with the Halifax Herald tonight concerning the progress on the N. T. R. between Cochrane and Superior Junction on his return from his annual trip over the line. He said—"There was still 275 miles of uncompleted line between Superior Junction and Cochrane, but the contractors have it fully manned and seem to be doing it as fast as possible to rush work to completion, and they assure us that the line will be in such condition as to permit handling of grain the present winter if it should be found necessary to do so."

The latter part of President Chamberlain's statement will mean that the probability of any grain congestion this winter will be to a great extent removed, which has not happened for several years. Mr. Chamberlain also said that he has been over the line from Cochrane for the purpose of noting the progress of work, and also in a matter of information, as he had not previously been over the line between Cochrane and Superior Junction. He said: "It is too early at the present time to state when the line will be completed, as there is a large amount of work still to be done, and much depends upon weather and other unexpected difficulties. It can be readily understood that a line of that length takes time to finish, and it is the unexpected that always happens in the way of sink holes, slides, bad weather and so forth."

CONSTRUCTION OF SHIPS BY THE GOVERNMENT.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—The department of marine and fisheries has let a contract to the Polson Iron Works of Toronto for the construction of a steamer to be used on the St. Lawrence river above Montreal, and on Lake Ontario in the lighthouse service. The contract price is $173,399. This is the first ship let under the new conditions, namely that construction must take place in Canada.

CONFESSION CLEARS MURDER MYSTERY

Priest Confesses to Murder of Woman. Body Found In River.

(Canadian Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—With the arrest early today of Rev. Hans Schmidt, Assistant Rector of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, charged with the murder of Anna Aumuler, the mystery surrounding the finding, twelve days ago of parts of a dismembered body in the Hudson River is solved.

Schmidt, according to police reports of the arrest, confessed and at the time he was placed under arrest, attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor blade. "I killed her because I loved her so much," Schmidt is alleged to have told the police, but the police version of the motive for the crime is that the young woman was about to become a mother.

He married her through a ceremony of his own performing without witnesses. According to the police the confession is complete. He is quoted as saying he killed the girl with a butcher's knife and cut up the body with a knife.

The deed was committed, the police say, while the woman slept, shortly after midnight on Sept. 2 in an apartment at 68 Broadhurst Ave., where he had placed her five days before. When her heart ceased beating, according to the alleged confession, he carried the body from the bed to the bathroom and commenced the task of cutting it up.

The murder was traced by the police through a fancy pillow cover which was found in the river. The cover was traced to a dealer who in turn traced it to Schmidt. The police knew of the affair hours before the arrest was made.

SPENDS THREE CENTS ON HER SHOPPING TOUR

SHENANDOAH, Va., Sept. 13.—A woman phoned a Shenandoah retail store and asked if they could call for her with an auto. She wanted to do some shopping.

Visions of the large sale that was in prospect from a woman with the supreme nerve to ask for private passenger service floated before the merchant's mind.

She lived away out somewhere near the edge of the town. They drove up to her front walk. She came out. She weighed 300 pounds. But by strenuous effort they got her into the car. They drove her to the store. By working carefully, intelligently and forcefully they got her in. She went into the store and began a systematic tour. She was very thorough. Finally she decided upon a fly-spatter fit cost three cents and she paid cash for it.

THANKSGIVING DAY

VETERANS AT CHATTANOOGA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The high court of impeachment, composed of the judges of the Court of Appeals and the members of the State senate, will meet Thursday for the trial of Governor William Sulzer of New York. The actual beginning of the trial is not expected to come until the Monday following, but the Sulzer demurrer to the impeachment based on the alleged illegality of the assembly taking such action in executive session, will have to be fought out before the trial itself proceeds.

Important developments in the Mexican situation are not improbable, Tuesday will be the Mexican national independence day and it is rumored that the people of the southern republic have selected it as an appropriate occasion for a nationwide anti-American demonstration.

STARTING SHOOT ON RUBBER PLANT

My rubber plant did not grow on the shapely lines which I wished for it, so I consulted a gardener to know if there might be any way of influencing the plant to send out shoots in a desired spot. He told me to bind moist earth over the place where a branch was wanted. I did this, binding the earth on securely with a piece of rubber hose, and left it on for two weeks. When the binding was removed, to my surprise a shoot started out almost immediately.—Cor. Woman's Home Campaign.

WINDSOR, ONT., Sept. 11.—Coroner Brien seemed satisfied last night that the identity of the dead woman found in the corn field at Old Castle would be established within 12 hours. It is supposed there that a Mrs. Newman, of North Bridge, a hamlet ten miles north of Windsor, Mrs. Newman has been missing from her home for several days and her husband and son are under surveillance.

FOUND DEAD BY ROADSIDE

Hotel Keeper of Bridgewater, Me., Fell Out of Carriage Near Hartland, N.B.

IN SESSION IN WINNIPEG

(Special to the Guardian) HARTLAND, N. B., Sept. 14.—The community was startled this afternoon by the announcement that the dead body of a man had been found on the roadside, near Lakeville. Dr. Curtis was summoned from here and went to the scene in his auto. As Coroner it became his duty to investigate and he found that the man was Tyler Kennedy of Bridgewater, Maine.

His wife was communicated with by phone and she arrived this afternoon. She stated that Mr. Kennedy, who for some years had conducted a hotel at Bridgewater, had been west but returned a short time ago. On Saturday morning he left home with the intention of buying cattle in the country back of Hartland and had with him about $140. This was the last she had heard from him until receiving word of the finding of his body this morning.

One witness stated that he had passed Kennedy on the road last night about dusk and he was then apparently all right. No one seems to have seen the man until this morning when his lifeless body was found by a man named Kirkbride about a half mile from Lakeville.

He had evidently taken a weak spell and fallen from his carriage as the lap rug was found about his feet where it had been dragged when the unfortunate man fell. The horse which had been wandering around all night was found near the body, which dispelled any idea of a runaway. Where the unfortunate man had been or what he had been doing could not be ascertained at this writing.

VETERANS REMEMBER SEDGWICK

GETTYSBURG, PA., Sept. 13.—Several handsome floral wreaths were placed today about the base of the memorial erected on the Gettysburg battlefield by the State of Connecticut in memory of Maj. Gen. John Sedgwick. The offerings were sent by G. A. R. posts in various parts of the country in recognition of the fact that today was the centennial anniversary of Gen. Sedgwick's birth. Gen Sedgwick is remembered as one of the ablest and bravest officers of the Army of the Potomac. Born in Cornwall, Conn., Sept. 13, 1813, he graduated from West Point in time to see active service in the Florida war against the Seminole Indians and in the Mexican war of some years later. Soon after the beginning of the civil war he was given command of a brigade of the Army of the Potomac. He was wounded twice at Antietam and distinguished himself in the Chancellorsville campaign. At Gettysburg he made one of the most extraordinary forced marches on record to arrive in the field on the second day of the fighting. In 1864 Gen. Sedgwick, in command of the 6th Army Corps, took part in Grant's campaign in the Wilderness. He was directing the placing of some artillery in position in front of Spottsylvania Court House, May 9, 1864, when he was instantly killed by a bullet from the rifle of a sharpshooter.

ALDRERSHOT VERY ORDERLY

KENTVILLE, Sept. 12.—Everything is progressing quietly and successfully at Camp Aldershot, where over three thousand of Nova Scotia's citizen soldiers are under canvass. The ordinary routine of the camp is now in full swing. The infantry are getting squad and company drill and will be given battalion work in a few days now. Shooting is a progress at the range and the camp presents a busy scene. The health of the men is very good, there being but four cases of illness. None of these are at all serious. The 66th P.L.F. arrive in camp tomorrow night from Halifax. The Y. M. C. A. is proving as big an attraction as ever. It has accommodation for over four hundred, and Gypsy Simon Smith has been conducting a series of meetings with great success. Facilities for writing letters were offered here which are widely taken advantage of. So far the order has been excellent. There has been no trouble of any sort and the conduct of the men has brought forth many commendations.

NOTED NEW YORK POLITICIAN DEAD

Rose from Newsboy to Congressman. Escaped While Ill, from Nurse, Was Struck by Train and Killed. Unidentified for Thirteen Days.

(Special to the Guardian) NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Big Tim Sullivan the New York politician who rose from newsboy to congressman is dead. His mangled body was identified by a step brother, Larry Mulligan after having lain thirty days in a local morgue. Sullivan who was ill, eluded his nurse early on the morning of Aug. 31, and a few hours after was struck and killed by a train at Pelham Parkway with no identification marks on the clothing or articles in the pocket. The body lay in the morgue for thirteen days when it was removed to Bellevue morgue where it was identified by chance. Preparations are now under way for the funeral which promises to be the largest ever seen in New York.

FIVE MINUTE INTERVIEWS DERELICT TOWED INTO HALIFAX

(Special to the Guardian) HALIFAX, Sept. 14.—Silent evidence of the seas unsoiled tragedies in Halifax Harbor tonight, an overturned schooner picked up in the path of transatlantic traffic by the American revenue cutter, Seneca. Befores the fact that the derelict had been drifting for several months and the craft was about a hundred tons nothing is known of her.

Capt. Johnson thinks the craft captured either off the Nova Scotia coast or in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. HALIFAX, Sept. 13.—C. H. Harvey, agent of the marine and fisheries department, received a wireless message from the United States patrol steamer Seneca which stated that she had a derelict two-masted center-board 80-foot keel schooner in tow, which had been found bottom up. The name could not be made out. The craft had been found at six a. m. in lat. 42.50 N., long. 62 40W. The derelict was taken in tow for Halifax and progress was being made at the rate of two knots an hour. The tow is expected in Halifax on Sunday. The location of the derelict when reported would seem to be somewhere in the vicinity of Sable Island.

To-night the moon reaches its full phase. This lunar change, it is hoped and generally believed, will have a corresponding effect on the weather, and consequently bring benefit to the harvest, for which the time has already arrived. All over the country, however, the harvesting is considerably backward. The prevailing rains have hampered the harvesters; the farmers, had so the effect of the lunar change that occurs to-night is eagerly looked forward to. Talking over the prospects of the harvest with a Guardian man, Mr. G. E. Auld, of Messrs. Auld Brothers, wholesale merchants and produce dealers, of Queen street, said:—"The weather we are now having is not beneficial to the harvest, but I don't think that any material damage has been done to the crops; only it has served to delay harvesting operations. I know that a great deal of grain has been cut, but not saved, and there is still a good deal to be cut. I don't think any one has suffered materially, but they will if the present weather conditions continue."

After the harvest comes the Provincial Exhibition, which opens in Charlottetown on the 23rd inst. The present prospects for the exhibition would seem, however, to be far more rosy than they are for the harvest. Such, at least, is gathered from the opinion of Mr. C. R. Smallwood, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Exhibition. To a Guardian representative, Mr. Smallwood said:—"At this stage the outlook is as favorable as I have ever known it to be. And I think we are going to have a great exhibition all round. Our entries are not yet closed but they are coming in splendidly, and as far as they are concerned and I can judge from our books, I think the exhibition will be up to the standard of any former exhibition, and probably will be better. As regards the horse races, we have offered on this occasion more money in prizes than we ever did before, and we have a larger number of horses entered for the races than have ever been raced on the Charlottetown Driving Park since it was established twenty-five years ago. There are fifty different horses entered in the races, among them being some of the fastest animals in the Maritime Provinces. As regards the attractions in regard to amusement and entertainment, they are this year better than we have ever had. The aeroplane exhibition last year proved so successful that we have decided to repeat it again, and we are getting a flying machine to make two ascents a day. On each occasion the aviator will take a passenger with him. First, it will be a man who, when the machine is a certain height in the air, will leave the plane and descend with a parachute. On the other occasion a spectator will be taken up. I think myself that the attractions in this respect are away ahead of anything we have ever had. The two principal feats, I think, apart from the aviation performances, will be the tight-wire exhibition and what is called in our advertisement, the leap for life. Then there will be several side-shows, both entertaining and amusing."

THE HARVEST.

THE EXHIBITION.

MERGER STORY CONFIRMED

QUEBEC, Sept. 10.—Mr. John T. Ross, president of the Quebec Steamship Company, asked if there was any truth in the story respecting the alleged sale of the Quebec Steamship Company, with its West Indies and Bermuda lines of steamers, to the Canadian Transport Company, replied that the Quebec Steamship Company had entered the merger known as the Canadian Transportation Company. Negotiations have been completed, and all that now remains to be done is the turning over of the securities. These securities would be issued from London, England, where an advisory board of the Canadian Transport Company will be named, and later the election of officers in connection with the Canadian board is only temporary.

MAYOR GAYNOR'S FUNERAL FOR SEPTEMBER 22.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Board of Estimates, called together by Mr. Arloph L. Kline, the mayor's successor, was scheduled to meet this forenoon to arrange for a public funeral to be held after the arrival here of Mayor Gaynor's body on board the steamer Lusitania, which sailed today from Liverpool and is due here a week from today. Sept. 22nd has been suggested as a tentative date. There were also to be meetings of the dead executive's cabinet, commissioners of the various city departments and of the board of aldermen, to pass appropriate resolutions on the death of the chief executive, and to take in hand the reins of the city government, confused by the mayor's sudden taking off.
