Chamberlain's COLIC, CHOLERA AND Diarrhoea Remedy

A few doses of this remedy will invariably cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea. It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success. It can always be depended upon, even in the more severe attacks of cramp colic and cholera morbus. It is equally successful for summer diarrhoea and cholera infantum in children, and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every man of a family should keep this remedy in his home. Buy it now. It may save life. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

THE WORLD OVER Thousands of Mothers are using

DR. CODERRE'S INFANTS' SYRUP

For Children's Ailments, you cannot but admit the fact that this preparation is one of merit and is all what is claimed for it. It is safe, pleasant and soothing for children teething, and a prompt checker of bowel and stomach troubles. Physicians and Professional nurses recommend it. In purchasing, see that Dr. Coderre's signature and portrait is on every wrapper. Beware of the many cheap imitations. Buy the genuine and made to look like Dr. Coderre's. Price, 25c. per bottle, or by mail on receipt of price. Sole proprietors, THE WINDGATE CHEMICAL Co. Limited, Montreal, Canada. STANTON'S PAIN RELIEF, A FAMILY REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL USE.

PANICS CAUSED BY PROPHECIES

End of World Predictions Which Convulsed England—Crazy Soldier Put All London in a Condition of Terror.

Thousands of people have been expecting the end of the world for years and have been disappointed. One well known prophet has been foretelling the end of the world for thirty years or more. It is an awkward thing to let the lease of your business premises fall in anticipation of the end of the world.

The latest day fixed by the prophet for the last day of this age is either Thursday, May 9, 1920, or April 9, 1931—he is still uncertain which. But between now and then twenty-two kingdoms or States are to be reduced to the ten of Caesar's original Roman Empire. Before this continental transformation is completed there are to be wars and earthquakes, troubles, commotions, famines and pestilence.

In the later months of the end the earth is to be visited with plagues of noisome sores, the sea, as well as the rivers and fountains, is to turn to blood, the sun is to scorch men for fifteen days, there is to be total darkness for three days, and then earth quakes are to shake down all cities.

At one time comets used to be the grand terror. Even educated people, including astronomers, supposed that one day a comet would bump against the earth, and either set it ablaze or shatter it into space. In the middle of the nineteenth century the greatest alarm was manifested all over Europe lest the comet which then appeared should crash the world to atoms. Men and women and children came out of their houses and watched with white drawn faces the long luminous tail sweeping through the sky.

In due time the comet disappeared from view, and nothing happened.

London has had several end-of-the-world panics. The famous Whiston once predicted that the world would come to an end on a certain 13th of October. The destruction of the mighty City of London, it was said, was to mark the beginning of the end. The inhabitants were seized with terror. Blinded faces were at every door. People thronged the streets terror-stricken. They rushed to Islington, to Hampstead, and congregated in all the adjoining fields to watch and wait, fearing the worst, hoping for the best. Hour after hour they waited until the dawn of another day. Then they felt safe, and, tired and weary, went home, leaving the world intact.

On another occasion a panic was caused in London by two earthquake shocks. The first shock occurred on the 8th of February, and down went several big chimneys in Poplar and Limehouse. On the 8th of March another shock occurred, but was confined mostly to the districts of Highgate and Hampstead. The coincidence of the one shock following the other at an interval of a month exactly excited widespread comment. Then it was that a crazy-headed soldier named Bell rushed through the streets proclaiming that the next earthquake, which would occur on the corresponding day of April, would destroy London as a preliminary to the end of the world.

People began to brood on the coming calamity. From brooding they frightened themselves into real panic. Thousands made hasty preparations for departing from London before the great catastrophe occurred. Vast numbers crowded into the villages for miles around as the day of doom crept nearer. Fugitives of all classes poured into Harrow, Highgate, Blackheath, Islington, and Hampstead, paying extortionate rates for lodgings.

The area of the panic quickly extended. Rich people who had laughed began to tremble. Beginning to tremble they concerted measures for their safety. Water seemed to offer greater protection than land. They rushed to the Thames, and crowded on the merchant ships there waiting for Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's to crash down. The eventual day came and passed leaving London in its normal state. Then there was a great rush home. Bell subsequently died in a lunatic asylum.

Some years afterwards, there was a panic on a smaller scale at Leeds, in Yorkshire. This happened because a hen laid an egg. It was not an ordinary egg. It was an egg inscribed with certain writing, announcing the end of the world. The fame of that egg was noised abroad, and, strange to relate, that hen commenced to lay other eggs inscribed in a similar way.

The place of miracle was soon besieged by crowds of people anxious to examine the amazing products of the hen. They came away pale-faced and distressed, believing that the end of all things was about to happen. Then it occurred to some persons of enquiring scientific mind that it would be an excellent thing to examine the eggs in a critical spirit. This they did, only to discover that the eggs had been written on with corrosive ink and brutally forced back into the hen's body. The panic ceased from that day. A few years before the great fire, London was the scene of a panic even wilder than those which have been previously described. The prophets on the occasion predicted the destruction of the city, not from comets or earthquakes, but from the overflow of the river. On the first day of February they said, the Thames would rise to such a height that it would wash away 10,000 houses.

Neglect the Liver And You Will Suffer

Scarcely an Organ in the Body but Feels the Effects of a Disordered Liver.

When the liver gets torpid and inactive, bile is left in the blood—causing jaundice.

Indigestion results, because the liver is an important organ of digestion.

Constipation arises, because bile from the liver is nature's own cathartic.

A torpid liver means a poisoned system—pain, suffering, chronic disease.

By their extraordinary influence on the liver Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively remove the cause of such disorders.

Biliousness, dyspepsia, constipation—headaches, backaches and bodily pains disappear when the digestive, filtering and excretory systems are set right by the use of this great medicine.

PARDON REFUSED.

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—At today's Cabinet meeting an order was passed allowing the law to take its course in the case of Charles King, for the murder of Edward Hayward, at Slave Lake last autumn. King is in the Mounted Police guard room at Fort Saskatchewan, and will be executed in one of the police buildings here. This was another Birchal case.

35 MILES AN HOUR.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 4.—A trial trip just made by a motor boat built from plans of Charles F. Herreshoff, at the plant of the American and British Manufacturing Company here, is said to have demonstrated that the craft is the fastest ever built. Although Mr. Herreshoff has declined to give out figures at present, he said the boat was a world beater and intimated that she made much better time than 35 miles an hour. "Let it go at that," he said, "for it would be impolitic for me at this time to give any information. I have wired my officials in New Jersey and will give out figures later." The boat is said to have engines of 75 horse power. She is about 32 feet long with less than five feet beam. Very much secrecy has been maintained in her construction.

TO BLOW UP SHIP.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 4.—An attempt to blow up a ship in mid ocean has been reported by Capt. C. Touze, of the French ship "Suzette," which has arrived here from Swansea, England, loaded with coal. He left that port in January last and six weeks later when far out at sea, dozen capped fuses such as are used by miners to explode charges of dynamite, were discovered in the hold of the ship among the coal. Had one of the fuses become ignited by a shock in a part of the hold where coal gas had accumulated the ship would undoubtedly have been blown to atoms. Two or three of them had exploded but fortunately at points where there was no gas, and consequently no damage was done. The presence of the fuses among the coal was discovered only by accident.

Rapid Circulation in the "Bison" Heater

The expansion of hot water in the heater causes circulation. If the water heats at the bottom first, it cannot circulate till the water in the upper sections is also heated. Most heaters heat the bottom water first.

The "Bison" heats the water at the top first.

That is why it gets almost instantaneous circulation of hot water into the radiators—it is one of ten reasons why the "Bison" is the best heater.
