

CHANGE OF CLIMATE DID NOT HELP

But GIN PILLS Conquered His Rheumatism

THE FACT that men of standing and responsibility do not hesitate to come out and state frankly how much good GIN PILLS have done them, speaks volumes for this good old remedy.

Mr. W. G. Reid, of Hamilton, whose statement we publish below, with his permission, is one of the best known commercial men in Canada. His many friends throughout the country will be delighted to learn that he is quite himself again. He says:

"I have been for the last two years a cripple with Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I have tried almost everything known to medical science to relieve me of the intense pain and inflammation. I sought change of climate in Kentucky and other Southern points without relief. Your manager in this city recommended GIN PILLS and I have since taken eight boxes and am now cured. I consider GIN PILLS the conqueror of Rheumatism and Kidney Disease."

(Signed) W. G. REID.
Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica and all other troubles arising from weak, inactive or diseased kidneys, have little chance against GIN PILLS.

The curative properties in these pills go straight to the root of the trouble—the failure of the kidneys to keep the blood free from the irritating Uric Acid which is continually being formed in the body. GIN PILLS help the kidneys to perform this function properly, and the train of troubles vanishes.

Just try it and prove it to your own satisfaction. There is no risk—money back if GIN PILLS do not help you.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN ENDS INDIGESTION

Time It! No sour gassy stomach, or Dypepsain in five minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; it's harmless; it's certain unailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs; it's millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach troubles has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat lays like lead, ferment a sour and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

LEE'S BURIAL CASKET

Strange Manner in Which It Came When It Was Needed.

Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett tells this story connected with the burial of General Robert E. Lee. It seems that when he died at Lexington, Va., the North river, a tributary to the James, had overflowed its banks, and Lexington was cut off from all communication with the outside world. A warehouse was washed away and with it all the supplies contained therein, including all the coffins in the city.

"In this extremity," writes Mrs. Pickett in Lippincott's, "Professor Nelson of the University of Virginia was consulting with some of the other professors as to what could be done. In the midst of their dilemma two boys came up to them in a timid way, hesitating to approach the group of dignified strangers, yet feeling the necessity of imparting the information they were bringing. Each feared to be the first to speak and pushed the other on, saying:

"'You tell.'"
"'No; you tell. You saw it first.'"
"'No; you saw it at the same time.'"
"'Saw what?' asked Professor Nelson, who was a judge of boys, and perceived that there was something of unusual importance on their minds.

"'Yes; saw what?' repeated one of his companions.
"'Encouraged by the readiness to receive their tidings, one of them replied, 'A coffin.'"
"'We saw it,' affirmed the other.

"'Yes; we saw it there upon the shore—there by the island.'"
"'On the shore—a coffin? Where?'
We saw it; said the boy who had first spoken. 'Maybe nobody's in it. We was so scared to-do more than see the outside and then we tucked out. 'Tain't never been used. It's bran' spankin' new.'"
"'I wonder if they really saw it or only imagined it,' said one of the gentlemen.

"Professor Nelson arose and turned to the boys, saying:
"'Come and show us the way.'"
The boys led on and all followed, uncertain as to what they were to find, but trusting that in some way heaven had graciously supplied their great necessity. Along the river bank they walked until their two guides stopped beside a long closed box that had floated down the swollen waters in the great flood and drifted ashore. In the box was a beautiful coffin.

They carried home the box and in that casket all that was earthly of the famous general was laid to rest in the college chapel.

WALLED LAKE

Where its Water Comes From or Where it Goes is a Mystery. One of the curiosities of the west is the "walled lake," something over a hundred miles west of Dubuque, Ia. This lake is from two to three feet higher than the earth's surface. In some places the wall is ten feet high, fifteen feet wide at the bottom and five feet on top. A remarkable circumstance with reference to this odd lake is the size of the stones used in its construction, inasmuch as the whole of them varies in weight from three tons to 100 pounds. There is abundance of stones in Wright county, but surrounding the lake to the extent of five or ten miles there are none.

No one has any idea as to the means employed to bring these stones to the spot or as to who constructed this lake. Around the entire lake is a belt of woodland half a mile in length composed of oak. With this exception the country is a rolling prairie. The trees must have been planted there at the time of the building of the wall. In the spring of the year 1886 there was a great storm, and the ice on the lake broke the wall in several places. The farmers in the vicinity were obliged to repair the damages to prevent inundation. The lake occupies a ground surface of 2,800 acres. The depth of the water is as great as twenty-five feet. The water is clear and cold; the soil is sandy and loamy. It is a singular fact that no one has been able to ascertain where the water comes from nor where it goes, yet it is always fresh and clear.—New York Press.

How to make a stew—a really good stew.
