RECEIVED SAD NEWS. Mr. A. S. McKay, Summerside, received Thursday conveying the sad news of the death of his brother-in-law, Dr. Frank Gale, head physician of the Westboro, Mass., Hospital. The doctor, was well and favorably known in this Province where he has spent many of his vacations and the news of his sudden death will be heard with a deep sense of regret by all who had the pleasure of meeting him. His wife was Miss Barbara McLeod, of Stanley Bridge and sister of Mrs. A. S. McKay. He was about 55 years of age, and paid his last visit to the Island two summers ago. His death was due to an attack of appendicitis with which he was taken ill last Saturday, his death ensuing during Wednesday night. He leaves to mourn besides his widow, one son, Gordon in Banilotton, Conn. The funeral takes place on Saturday in Westchester, Mass., the former home of the deceased. Mr. and Mrs. McKay who had been planning to visit Dr. and Mrs. Gale in the near future left this morning for Westchester, little thinking they would be going under such sad circumstances.

The ice is made from the purest of spring water, there being a continuous overflow of 250,000 gallons daily. Next year the pond is to be enlarged. The concern, with Messrs. Joe. Hughes, Patrick Keenan and L. B. McMillan as managing directors, has taken over the ice business of J. A. Farquharson & Co., and will store ice in buildings on the east side of the pond formerly used by that firm. An additional new ice house which will hold about two thousand loads has been erected.

bridge which formed in the river St. Lawrence from Quebec to Lewis shores yesterday. While hundreds had narrow escapes and five people drifted upstream on a cake of ice and were given up as lost, the check up by the authorities revealed that everybody had got safely to shore.

The five people when they disappeared in the darkness were given up as lost and it was not till after eleven this morning that the authorities were able to announce they had got to the shore. The ice fortunately floated up stream to a point where the river narrows to a spot at which the Quebec bridge hangs across it. The ice was jammed together again by the tide and the drifting people were thus able to make shore.

A Narrow Escape From Death

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 8.—A thrilling account of the latest battles with sea monsters by Mr. Mitchell-Hedges, the explorer and deep sea researcher, who is in search of a sea cow for the London Zoo, has reached London from Jamaica.

During eight hours' hard fishing, the explorer took two large sting rays, weighing respectively 250 lb. and 240 lb., and two monster leopards rays, weighing well over 200 lb. a piece.

The bigger sting ray, which is a fish which stings with small daggers, producing a horrible and certain death within three to six minutes, nearly proved fatal to the party.

When hauled aboard, the monster proved to be still alive. Mr. Mitchell-Hedges' revolver jammed when he levelled it at the fish, and the latter made a furious lunge at his captors with its poisoned daggers.

Luckily both Mr. Mitchell-Hedges and Lady Richmond Brown, who was accompanying Mr. Mitchell-Hedges' party, managed to jump back in time, the death dealing blow missing them by a tenth of an inch.

The movements of those aboard nearly upset the boat and its passengers in a shark-infested sea.

A native boatman was not lucky. He was slightly grazed, and instantly his arm became violently cramped.

A ligature was applied, and an operation performed immediately the shore was reached. He is expected to live, as the poison did not get into his blood.

The fish were caught with rod and line.

On the following day Mr. Mitchell-Hedges succeeded in capturing a hammer-head shark of vast dimensions.

The length is 14 feet, whilst it was a circumference measurement of just over five feet.

The weight is about 1,000 pounds. It took Mr. Mitchell-Hedges seven hours to manipulate the monster sufficiently near the boat to allow him to shoot it dead.

Comment Upon The Summerside Case

The Summerside Agriculturist, commenting editorially on the Chancery Court judgment published in full in Tuesday's Guardian, re the ownership of a disputed portion of land, says:

"The town of Summerside is to be congratulated upon the successful issue of the long-pending lawsuit in which it has been involved over the ownership of certain land. The judgment delivered by Mr. Justice Arsenault is one of the lengthiest pronouncements given in the Island Court of Chancery for some time and shows that the court had gone to a great deal of research to ascertain all necessary information in connection with the case. It will be remembered that the case was in reference to a portion of a street known as Bedford Row at the west side of the Weatherlie lot, which it was contended had been encroached upon. The result of this trial, which has extended over four years, it is hoped will have a salutary effect in causing people to think seriously before undertaking any hasty action in a matter of this nature where the town and public property are concerned. Mr. J. E. Wyatt, K. C., who so ably represented the town in this action, and upon whom devolved the intricate and difficult task of securing the necessary points of law, presented the case so clearly and in such a manner as to aid in no small degree in bringing about the result as stated. To Mr. Wyatt citizens will, we believe, unhesitatingly give due credit. It will be remembered that this action was instituted during the last term of office of Mayor Morrison, who felt that the town's interests should be thus protected."

A Fourteen Year Old Magician

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Bedford School rejoices in the possession of a sort of Peter Pan professor of science—a little flaxen-haired lad with blue eyes.

In his snow-white cotton collar he looks only 11, but he is 15 years of age, and he has recently given a personal demonstration of a scientific invention called "Musical Light" to the Duchess of Bedford, who unlocked the door of an exhibition at the school. "The Wonders of Science."

He demonstrated in easy platform style, with confidence and indeed with wisdom. Sir Oliver Lodge has been known to have been more nervous than this Peter Pan of Science, who is James Whaley McClelland, son of the director of electrical engineering in the British Admiralty, and a pupil of the school. Old men and elderly women pressed round young McClelland to hear how light could be turned into music when it is projected through revolving discs.

"It is very simple," he said, walking up and down in front of his mechanical "gadgets." "You observe that behind the revolving perforated discs is a piece of selenium. Here are two wireless valves and a loud speaker to amplify the musical light."

Now you will have observed that the electrical resistance of selenium decreases under the action of light, and the disc causes an intermittent source of light to impinge on the selenium cell. This produces electrical impulse in the circuits stirred by fresh activity to produce musical notes which are amplified by thermionic valves and low-frequency transformers.

"I don't know which is the more wonderful," said a listener, "the boy or the invention."

From the lad's demonstration appears that it would be possible to produce the notes of a piano by this means.

"AM A self-made man, sir. I began life as a farefoot boy." "Well, I wasn't born with shoes on, either."

Many and varied are the activities of Canadian Girls in Training at this season of the year. The girls of Scotts Bay, N. S., accord reports received by Miss Trotter, Girls' Work Secretary of the B. R. E. C., have been taking advantage of the crisp weather to learn to skate. They are now planning eagerly for a Valentine Tea, at which they will give a playlet illustrating C. G. I. T. work and each member of which they hope to start a library of worth while books. Their leader is Miss Leone Tupper.

The Girls of St. Paul's Frederickton, served a birthday supper recently. There were twelve tables, each named after a month and used to seat those whose birthday fell in that month. These same girls at Xmas time gave an impressive and beautiful dramatization of the Christmas story, using a programme supplied by the Training Mentor.

The Girls' Work Board of Amherst has been reorganized, with Miss Mary Trenholm, President; Miss Mona Bonnyman, Vice-president; Miss Gladys Harper, Secretary. It is proposed to hold a monthly meeting for study and conference. A story telling contest among the girls of the community is to be an early feature of the work of the Board.

New Glasgow Training Course. A good deal of interest was manifested among workers with girls in the three-session training course, conducted by Miss Trotter, Maritime Girls' Work Secretary, under the auspices of the New Glasgow Girls' Work Board, January 29-31. The first session of the training course was held in the Methodist church and the remaining two in the Kirk.

On January 30th Miss Trotter visited Westville, speaking at a community Rally of Canadian Girls in Training. She illustrated her talk with a set of lantern slides of C. G. I. T. work. On January 31st Miss Trotter made a similar slide-rip to Trenton, where an enthusiastic rally of girls greeted her.

St. Mathews' Church, Halifax was the scene on Friday, Feb. 1st, of a most successful conference of Intermediate Canadian Girls in Training. There were about 160 in attendance. The theme of the conference was—"Follow the Gleam," the program being attractively illustrated by a ship, with sails full set, making for the far horizon. Toasts were given by several girls, to young mariners of different countries, including Jenny Lind of Sweden, Florence Nightingale of England, Runtids Ramabal of India, etc. Discussion groups were the chief feature of the afternoon session, while at the supper hour the toasts were followed by a talk by Miss Trotter, and Mrs. Harper explained a set of C. G. I. T. lantern slides.

The Nova Scotia Girls' Work Board met on Saturday, Feb. 2nd. Among other things it was decided to hold a second Girls' Camp at Wallace if the registration warranted it, and to make the age of girls attending camp 15-18 (inclusive). For those over eighteen, a leadership camp will be promoted at Wallace. Detailed arrangements for camps were deferred till the March meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Halifax Girls' Council, with over 100 members present, was held in the First Baptist Church, Saturday, Feb. 2nd, from 6.00 to 8.00 p. m. This was one of the most delightful and profitable councils of the year. The theme was missions, and the group discussion brought out many hints as to how C. G. I. T. can forward the cause of missions. After this a little missionary pageant was given, and Miss Trotter, Maritime Girls' Work Secretary, made a plea that the girls devote themselves wholeheartedly to the missionary enterprise.

CHINESE IVORY BALLS

Secret of How One Ball is Enclosed Within the Other

The beauty, delicacy and depth of Chinese carving in ivory, tortoise-shell and sandal-wood is well known and recognized everywhere. The instruments used to carve the delicate ivory articles are minute chisels, flat or bevelled at the point, says "The Antiquarian" of New York. Some of the tools have a projecting tooth at one side to enable the workman to carve under the figures. It is by this means that many of the figures seem to be carved over lace-work. The delicacy of this carving is extreme. The ivory balls, which are elaborately carved and create astonishment and admiration by the series of concentric balls apparently carved one within another have puzzled many persons. The fact is that each ball is constructed of two pieces, the edges of which are finely scraped down, the edge of one hemisphere being made to overlap its counterpart with the greatest exactitude. Thus, each separate ball is enclosed within the other. The joinings are then united by a very strong cement aided by the use of heat and pressure, and over the joinings devices are carved. The fact can be proved by applying liquid heat to one of these balls. After a considerable time the joinings will open.

Confederation Life Wants Agents

We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, of the Confederation Life Association in which they call for applications from responsible parties, for agencies in the various parts of the Island. We have no hesitation in recommending this old and well managed company to the insuring public, and any who may contemplate taking up the work of Life Assurance.

The Company is now in its 53rd year, and the statement as shown in our columns a few days ago, shows remarkable growth during 1923, the total net insurance issued for the year being $3,778,949, an increase over the previous year of some $5,090,610, and a grand total of insurance in force of $168,383,791.

The net revenue from premiums and annuities was $6,481,646 an increase of $803,666, while the net revenue from interest and rents was $1,981,136, which was an increase of $163,721 over 1922. The surplus earned on the year's operations was the largest in the history of the association, and amounted to $1,208,387. The total assets at December 31, 1923 amounted to $26,889,701 being an increase over the previous year of $3,359,164.

The total death claims for the year, after deducting re-assurances amounted to $1,060,925, a decrease of $89,163 compared with the previous year, and is 45 per cent of the expected mortality.

Mr. W. G. Hogg is the manager for the Confederation Life on P. E. Island, and is now entering upon his eighth year with the association. He has gathered around him a successful sales staff, but is desirous of increasing this by appealing active men at the points where the Company is not now represented. Applications for appointment in King's and Queen's County should be sent direct to the Charlottetown office, and for points west of Summerside, to Mr. Louis A. Moore, the General Agent of this Company at Summerside. 1421 2 9 11
