GREAT

CLEARING OUT SALE

Continues From Day to Day

This is a clean sweep sale from attic to cellar, from corner to corner of our big store, everything must be sold, only six more weeks in which to do it as the contractors take charge of the interior on January 15th, take out the old ceilings, put in new stairway, shelving, etc. So rather than pack away any of our stock we are going to clear it all out at from 25 to 50 per cent discount. Our stock is now so well known that it is unnecessary for us to enumerate the different lines we carry, but everything goes. This is a rare opportunity of securing high class goods at nearly one half their value. As we have been requested from time to time during the past two weeks by the working men of this city to keep our store open until 8 o'clock to enable them to do their buying at night, we have conceded to their request and will keep our store open till 8 o'clock for the next four weeks and would ask them to call as early as possible to enable us to close at the above time.

S. A. McDonald

P. S. We have been asked from time to time during this big sale if it is our intention to retire from business permanently. We might here state that it is not. We will retire from business for a few weeks only, last of January and first of February and will be open for business in the new store but the same old stand March 1st next, and will open up on a much larger scale. An important announcement in this connection will be made public shortly, but in the meantime we are too busy with our big sale.

Sincerely Yours
S. A. McDONALD.

SALARIES OF SOME RULERS OF THE WORLD

A Careful Estimator Of the Sums Which the Kings and Emperors Of the Chief Nations Of the World Receive

LONDON, Dec. 10.—One of the most difficult tasks is to form an estimate of the revenue of the world's rulers, partly because of the many sources from which the money is obtained, and also because of the different ways in which the wealth is distributed.

The Zar is the richest monarch in the world, and probably the richest that has ever lived. His total annual revenue is about £80,000,000; but expenses are proportionately heavy, and after he has paid for the upkeep of his million square miles of cultivated land and forest, as well as the expenses of his mines in Siberia, it would seem that he has none too much.

King Edward receives £470,000 but little more than a fourth of this goes into the privy purse. A stipulated sum is invariably put aside for household expenses, salaries, pensions, charities, rewards, etc.

The Reichstag allows the German Emperor about £130,000. He has also a salary as King of Prussia, which amounts to about £787,500. He has great estates and many resources at his disposal, but his expenses are tremendous.

The Emperor of Austria is also King of Hungary, and therefore like the German Emperor, draws two salaries. The amount of each, in his case, is nearly £362,500.

The King of Italy receives about £760,000 a year but out of this allowances are paid to the Queen Dowager, to the Duke of Genoa, and the children of the Duke of Aosta.

King Alfonso has an allowance of £357,500, and as provision is made for other members of the Spanish royal family outside of this the sum quoted is practically all his own to spend as he pleases.

Leopold II. receives about £175,000 but he has keen business instincts, and all the world knows of the way in which he augments his salary to gratify his luxurious tastes.

The smallest salary paid by any power to its chief is the £125,000 allowed by Congress to President Roosevelt.
