Col. Ralston Visits Mother At Amherst

OTTAWA Feb. 16.—(CP)—Finance minister Ralston will have a nominating convention in Summerside, P. E. I., on Feb. 23, according to an amended schedule of Liberal campaign speaking dates issued tonight.

The meeting was to have been tonight but was postponed because of the desire of Col. Ralston to remain in Ottawa for the funeral of Lord Tweedsmuir.

Col. Ralston left yesterday for Amherst, N. S., to visit his mother who has been ill but is expected to return to Ottawa Sunday. He will return to Summerside on Wednesday, Feb. 23, and will be accompanied by his wife, Mrs. J. Ralston, who will be visiting to Summerside on Friday.—S.

city and apparent immediate objective of the Russian attack.

In previous days, tonight's communique spoke of heavy Russian losses as the cost of the great offensive, in which the Finns say the invaders have been mowed down like wheat. But the supply of men, guns and planes is apparently inexhaustible.

The Russian aerial concentration on the isthmus yesterday, with 500 planes taking part, was the greatest of any day since the attack started, and the official report significantly noted the bombardment of Finnish troops along with attacks on Helsinki, Viborg and Lappeenranta in which 34 persons were killed and 60 injured.

Unsmiling Faces

The seriousness with which this little nation regards the isthmus battle was apparent in the unsmiling faces of citizens and officials while reading the latest official announcements. The contrast to smiling joking and confident troops seen on Saturday when the Russian infantry attacks were diminished in force in the Summa sector.

There was no question of any sudden collapse of the Finnish defence. Finnish military men said, in a calm, unexcited manner, that the never-ending attacks put a heavy strain on every fighting man.

Pilot Of Plane

The Air Force plane winged back to Halifax airport, and five minutes later a ski-equipped rescue plane was on the way. Another followed almost immediately.

The rescue planes landed on a lake about a mile from the tiny one on which Wade had attempted a landing. Two pilots and three engineers battled a rough sea to the wrecked plane, trudging through snow that was four feet in place.

They rigged up a stretcher, and took turns carrying the 185-pound Wade to the shore. Wade was down to his last strip of fabric, his last dry bough, and a most h's last drop of gasoline for the torch when they reached him.

Pilot Walks Out

Wade walked the distance to the rescue plane.

By the time they were ready to take off, it was pitch dark. Both pilots, in the aid of land lights, about 15 minutes later, they were over Halifax airport. Smoke pots set out by the R. C. A. F. Noonan and Wade were taken to hospital, but Jimmy was released after a check-up. Noonan couldn't find words to praise the pilot. "You are a 'brick' through it all. But he spoke rather longingly about that roasted rabbit.

That it had not gone through then, was probably part of the reason Brandon right now had as many on relief as before the war, he said. The Government refusal of the original British scheme was not only a betrayal of British but of Canadian industry and Canada.

Now, Britain had developed a plane industry of its own and was buying in the United States planes which should have been manufactured in Canada.

Bad Blunder

"If Mackenzie King never did anything else than that, he should be put out of office for all time, he said.

Under his wheat policy, which he said he would define in greater detail tomorrow at Regina, Dr. Manion said he would restore the Wheat Board to its status of five years ago and would restore the wheat advisory committee.

Addressing the city hall meeting here prior to an address broadcast nationally, he advocated raising farm prices generally to 1926 levels, provided other prices remained stationary, believing that "subsidization is not enough for the agricultural industry. The farmer, he said, should receive enough to pay his costs, meet his debts and have a margin for living decently on that. That was the foundation of all society.

He proposed a world wheat conference to work out some arrangement to be imposing and exporting nations. He said that farmers should be able to store their own wheat and be paid a cent a month on it and that wheat relief should be a national program, not dealt with entirely separately.

"I will consult the farmers," he promised, "as I have always done. I will visit the west, which Mackenzie King has never done. If it hadn't been for the King and Queen coming out here, he would have seen Western Canada yet since the 1935 election."

"The new Canadians of Western Canada, who left Europe to escape oppression, have every reason to support Canada's policy to maintain its democratic liberties," Dr. Manion said.

Work of Entomologists Worth Many Millions

An appraisal of the total financial value of many of the services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is extremely difficult, if not impossible, for it is not possible to estimate the saving effected by entomological work in the control of field insects in Canada through the gradual incorporation of the control recommendations into farm practice year after year is very great, but is not always easily apparent. For example, in the year 1938 officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture of Alberta estimate that the grasshopper control campaign alone resulted in a cash saving of approximately $30,000,000. A joint enterprise of the Dominion Entomological Division and the Province of Saskatchewan in the control of the grasshopper in that Province resulted in the saving of at least $40,000 in the purchase of supplies.

In Alberta, in connection with the control of the pale western cutworm, it is estimated a saving of $75,000 was effected through the use of the control recommendations, on which the maintenance of a "crusted summerfall" was followed by the farmers. In connection with the control of this insect, a clear saving of $235,200 resulted on 30,000 acres of wheat under observation when the control practice was put into practice.

If similar surveys could be made in connection with the control of other insects, such as the corn root worm, the Minister of Agriculture in his annual report, similar impressive totals would be accumulated. As illustrated by the saving of $1,000 on wheat on one farm alone near Drumheller, and a similar saving of $470 on another farm near Nobleford, Alberta, in connection with the use of a brome grass trap crop in protecting wheat from the stem sawfly. In British Columbia, the simplification of control recommendations saved about $900 to one hop grower in the Fraser Valley in connection with the protection of the crop in his hop yards from red spider mites.

Will Discuss Year's Tennis Outlook Today

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Canadian tennis for a year expected to be lean in international tennis circles will be discussed tomorrow and yearly rankings announced at the annual meeting of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association here.

With all Davis Cup competition suspended for this season, problems concerning domestic play will occupy entire attention of delegates. Even in the home department, however, activities are expected to be curtailed greatly by the war.

Main feature of the meeting will be the announcement of the annual rankings for the year. The meeting, under the chairmanship of Charles W. Leslie, president of the Quebec branch of the association.

Bill's Tarshis, Montreal youngster who failed to get a call in the first term male performance, was favored to top the position on his showing both in Canadian tournaments and Davis Cup competition during the season.

Laird Watt, ranked first last year, likely will lose out because of insufficient tournament play. Tarshis, although losing handsly to Watt in their only tournament meeting in the Q. type open mixer, gained favor through a Davis Cup lone match victory in Canada's play against Cuba.

The women's division also faces a shakeup with Miss Eleanor Young, Vancouver, appearing to be favored to take the crown awarded in the last ranking to Mrs. Rene Boite of Montreal.

COL. G. A. DREW

order without performing services of any kind."

Three Charges

Col. Drew made three charges in his letter to Mr. Mackenzie King: 1. The Department of National Defence requires bombs for the Royal Canadian Air Force. Tenders were called for. The tenders were not opened in public. The Interprovincial Equipment Company Limited was awarded the contract. Its price was one cent per bomb lower than the bid of the Canadian General Electric Company.

The officers and owner of Interprovincial Equipment Company Limited are three insurance agents in Ottawa. They have no experience in the manufacture of munitions or of any other kind of similar metal product. Five minutes enquiry by telephone would have given information that this company was not equipped to make bombs or anything of a similar nature.

"They found it necessary to get someone else to make the bombs. The same mushroom company has received other government contracts."

Throwing Away Money

2. "The Department of National Defence occupies a building in the City of Ottawa owned by York Realty Limited. The President of York Realty Limited is Mr. George Rabinovitch. Mr. Rabinovitch arranged for the purchase of a building in Ottawa for $200,000. He then leased this building to the Department of National Defence for a period of 10 years at an annual rent of $23,700 a year. A contract was made which the lease has to run, the Department of National Defence will pay $237,000 for occupying a building which cost Mr. Rabinovitch $200,000. Mr. Rabinovitch will still own the building. There can be no question about the right and the duty of the Dominion Government to cancel a contract which throws away public money on such a lavish scale."

3. "A new airport has been constructed for the Royal Canadian Air Force near Vancouver. In addition to the hangars and other buildings required, an officers' mess was needed. In view of the fact that the construction was under way and that the material was already available, such a building could have been constructed for less than $10,000.

Bought Palatial Residence

"Instead of that the Department of National Defence bought the palatial residence of Mrs. J. T. Spencer for the sum of $94,446. The Department went through the form of expropriation proceedings. There was of course no necessity to expropriate. How suitable this building was for an officers' mess is well illustrated by two very small and very simple items included in the bill for the purchase of the house—fishpond $200, mature pig $60.00."

Col. Drew said Mr. Mackenzie King replied to the letter: "I shall see that the material for your letter are made available, immediately, to those responsible for the conduct of inquiries in these matters."

The provincial party leader appeared for formation of a National Government, citing those in Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and France. He charged Mr. Mackenzie King with suggesting "that Canadian unity depends upon his return to power" and with giving the impression that the Government was an intimate and generous association between English and French.

That attitude, Col. Drew said, "is an insult to the people of Quebec, who have offered proof of their loyalty and spirit of unity in the provincial election last fall, in which the Prime Minister took no notice."

"The man who gave vigorous leadership to the true sentiment of the Province of Quebec was that great Canadian, the Honorable Ernest Lapointe, he declared. "Without regard to party or to place of residence, the vast majority of Canadian people today wish the Liberal Party instead of Mr. Mackenzie King."

Stormy Weather Places First In Ocean Race

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Stormy Weather, the trim yacht captained by William Labrot of Annapolis, Md., was officially declared winner of the Miami-Nassau ocean race today after being awarded the victory once and then yielding first place to the scratch boat Tioga on the basis of corrected time handling.

Robert E. Collins, commodore of the Miami Yacht Club and statistician for the race, said final computations showed Stormy Weather scored her fourth successive victory in the 184-mile classic.

Tioga placed second in the official race in the manner of a record-breaking scratch boat, owned by Harry E. Noyes of Marblehead, Mass., to first place.

On a second revision of figures, however, Collins said that the errors were "lamentable" but that Stormy Weather officially had been decided to have won with a corrected time of 18 hours, 39 minutes, 32 seconds.

Tioga was ranked second with a time of 18 hours, 42 minutes, 23 seconds. Walker, 70 miles, owned by Harkness Edwards of Lexington, Ky., was rated third with 18 hours, 59 minutes, 50 seconds.

Three new 54 foot yachts owned by Robert W. Johnson of Princeton, N. J., and the Elizabeth McCaw, 63 foot yacht entered by R. J. Reynolds of Beaufort, N. C., were also entered. They were disqualified for giving a course marker. They originally had been given second and fourth place ratings, respectively.
