SOCIETY ORGANIZED — A special meeting of the Allar boys of St. Paul's Church, Summerside, was held on Sunday evening, Oct. 14th for the purpose of organizing The St. John Berchman's Society. Following are the officers and committee appointed for the year 1934-1935: President, Ronald Macdonald; Vice President, James Heenan; Secretary, Treasurer, Elmer Macdonald; Marshal, Wilbert Gallant; Vestment Committee, Wilbert Gallant and George MacNeill; Choir Committee, Francis Arsenault and Donald Bonler; Sacristy Committee, Charles Hogan, Wedge, Edmund Gallant, Joseph Hillary Gaudreault, Daniel MacNeill, Billy Woods, Clair Kelly, Frank, Everett MacLellan, Junior Gallant and Herbie Gallant. Regular meetings of the Society will be held after evening devotions on the second Sunday of each month.

INSPECTING OYSTER AREAS — Interesting visitors to Summerside on Wednesday were Rev. A. P. Poirier of Canso, N. S.; Mr. J. E. P. MacDonald, Marketing Board, Nova Scotia; Mr. A. B. MacDonald of St. Francis Xavier University and R. J. MacGeeven of Antigonish. They came to the island to attend the Fishermen's Convention in Charlottetown, but were anxious to visit the famous oyster areas in Malpeque Bay. Mr. Neil Macdonald, fisheries inspector, took them by car to Bideford where they inspected the oyster areas in Malpeque Bay. They visited the Biological Station and were shown over the place by Dr. Needler. They were keenly interested in every part of the oyster industry. They were particularly interested in the way the spat was caught. They considered that Malpeque Bay had some of the finest oyster beds they had ever seen and the Biological Station was well equipped and in the keeping of the beds a great help. The visitors went away very much impressed with the oyster industry. They left about noon for Charlottetown.
