An Ex-Serviceman Tells How His Wife Found New Health

"I wish to testify," says Mr. R. A. F. Hughes of Hamilton, Ontario, "as to the efficiency of your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the following reasons: Nothing has done for me since I returned home in May, 1919, after nearly five years' absence on army service, my wife had changed from a healthy, robust woman, to one whose life was a burden and ordinary duties almost impossible. Through war worries, loneliness and other factors, she had become a nervous, irritable, and debilitated woman. Her health had been steadily undergoing what I might describe as an undulating process, for years.

"I was fully aware from her letters that I would not find her the same woman, but when I reached home, I was terribly shocked. She had lost her healthy color and she was so emaciated, and her skin was so yellow. She was weak and listless and with difficulty moved about the house. She hardly ever moved out of the house, as she became so short of breath and found her daily walks, which she used to make, were becoming more frequent.

"The day I arrived home I visited our doctor, who is an old friend and, later through his advice, consulted with another physician of this city. Everything was done that was recommended and many faithful friends, as these were of no avail, I trusted that time alone would suffice to build up what had gradually been undone in the course of five years. After twelve months' conditions had become worse. Then I decided on a change of air. I moved to the country. Even this did not do any good. I think it added to my depression.

Company's siding on the outskirts of the city. The proximity to the scene of the fire of the three huge oil tanks of the Company, two of them containing kerosene oil and the other gasoline, created an anxiety amounting even to panic among citizens. At no time, however, thanks to the strenuous efforts of the firemen and the quick appliances with which the tanks were fitted, was there any serious danger of an explosion. The blaze was successfully confined to the warehouse, wherein large quantities of oil and grease were stored.

The fire was noted at about 2:30 p. m. and an alarm was rung in from the jail nearby. The workmen employed at the warehouse are off duty on Saturday afternoons and it can only be supposed that sparks from the outgoing Eastern train fell upon and ignited the highly combustible material in and around the building. The firemen on their arrival saw the building fiercely ablaze, with high columns of smoke, driving citywards by the winds, enveloping the nearest oil tank. The fire quickly gathered a crowd of excited citizens to the scene. The difficulty of getting water to the burning building was a considerable distance away. Finally another hose was connected to the hydrant on Lezworth Avenue but in both cases the water pressure was unsatisfactory. The firemen were kept upon the blazing warehouse while the latter played continuously upon the nearest tank.

All afternoon and until late Saturday night the flames crackled and roared. Nine thousand gallons of kerosene oil and about five tons of grease, along with the equipment of the cooper-shop contained in the burning building, went up in fire and smoke. The scene after dark was weird, spectacular and appalling. Nothing but the firemen kept the flames from spreading over the ground to the nearby tanks and oil barrels, and in this the fire-workers found sufficiently hard work. At 10 p. m. the fire had smoldered down and no further public was admitted. The firemen had worked on the job all night and played water continuously on the smoking embers. Yesterday crowds visited the scene and examined at leisure the blackened ruins.

The building destroyed was a one-story wooden shed 50 ft. by 50 ft. For convenience of shipping it was situated close alongside the railway siding and within a few feet of the main track. The roof was of corrugated iron and was supported by a series of posts. The building was filled with a large quantity of kerosene oil and grease was contained upon the fire-fighters in pretty strong language. The direction of the wind was right towards the tanks and had there been any real danger of the fire reaching the tanks, the fire-fighters' beams of water would have offered very little security.

Mr. E. F. Weaver, local manager of the Company, wishes to express thanks not only to Chief Reardon and his firemen but also to His Worship Mayor Jenkins and the many citizens who rendered what help was possible. Thanks are also due to Coan, and Mrs. Geo. McLeod for their kindness in furnishing the firemen with hot drinks and sandwiches.

Much of the damage caused by the fire is covered by insurance. The loss has not been totalled but it is estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000. This however will not cripple in any way the activities of the Company here, as they will still be able to carry on and furnish uninterrupted service to their patrons.

The big million gallon gasoline tank built by the company last summer is situated some distance from the track in the rear of the other tanks and was at no time considered endangered during the fire. The kerosene oil tank nearest the flames was about half filled with oil, the flames being allowed to escape through an open valve at the top.

He has our sympathy and earnest hopes for a good recovery.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN Church meetings.—A good attendance was present last evening to hear Dr. Genze speak upon the subject "The Judgment of the World." He said that Christ who gave Himself a sacrifice for the sins of the world, had a just right to become its Judge, but that judgment would be a just one and would be given to those only who did not confess their sins and become His followers. He eloquently portrayed the great mission of Jesus Christ upon this earth and showed what sinners should do to become Christians. There is a growing interest in these meetings from night to night and much good is being accomplished. Tonight Mr. Genze will again preach and a cordial invitation is extended to all. Come and hear the message.

WEDDING BELLS

A quiet and pretty wedding took place at the Mansie, Souris, on the evening of March 28th 1922, when Miss Jennie Aitken, eldest daughter of Douglas and Mrs. Aitken, Fortune Bridge, became the wife of Mr. Charles Townshend, son of Mr. W. H. Townshend of the C. C. R. The bride was assisted by her sister, Dora, while Mr. Edgar Francis supported the groom. This popular young couple have the best wishes of the whole community for a long and happy voyage through life.

A surprise and shock passed over Bay Fortune and community, when it was known that Miss Ruby Dinglewell had suddenly passed away at her home on February 28th, 1922, at the early age of 42 years. Miss Dinglewell had not been in good health for some time, but was happily enjoying on the day of her death was busy at her duties in the kitchen when the evil came. She was seen to become faint and was tenderly laid upon the sofa when it was at once perceived that her spirit had flown to him who gave it. She was a great home help, industrious and enterprising and was a favorite in the community. She leaves a brother, Johnston, and her niece, Gertrude in the home and one brother in the United States. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Denry, in the absence of her pastor, Rev. E. Lockhart, interment being at the Presbyterian Cemetery, Bay Fortune.

Among the passengers arriving by the mail special last night was Mr. W. H. Cocher of Hartford, Conn., Secretary of the National Trotting Association of America. Mr. Cocher, after having lunch at the Victoria Hotel, graciously gave a talk to the community. His wife, who was introduced by our well known horseman, Col. D. A. MacKinnon.

On being asked his first impressions of our Island, Mr. Cocher stated that this was his first visit here and he was greatly surprised to find that the Island was not such a hard place to reach. He had been told many times that to arrive on the Island would have to climb mountains of ice, but he was pleasantly surprised to find an enjoyable trip across. The engineer on the car ferry, he said, pointed out to him the boats used at one time in making the crossing, but he was of the opinion the present method was far more comfortable.

Mr. Cocher visited Fredericton, N. B., and at Moncton was met by Mr. P. A. Bellevue, who accompanied him here. When he was asked if he was ready to travel extensively, he replied that since the middle of December he has covered 10,000 miles. The week before last he was at a meeting in Georgia, where the thermometer registered 68 degrees and during the week he was in Virginia, where he was in Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia and Montreal.

Speaking of horse racing Mr. Cocher stated there was over 25 per cent. more races in 1921 than in 1920 and he expected that 1922 would see larger amounts being bet on racing.

Asked how long he has been secretary of the National Trotting Association, he replied that he has held the office continuously since 1895. Previous to that date he had been a reporter on various papers.

In conversation with Mr. Cocher it does not take one long to learn the fact that he is thoroughly acquainted with horse racing and knows every horseman of prominence in America. His visit here, particularly, is to meet the representatives of the various race tracks in this province, who are holding their annual meeting this afternoon. The National Trotting Association of which Mr. Cocher is secretary, governs harness racing throughout the greater part of Canada and the United States. Our local tracks are members and it is to meet those members Mr. Cocher is here. After leaving here, he will leave for Princeps Island, N. B., where he will attend a meeting of the Maine tracks circuit, after which he will be continually on the "go" until early summer when he will be closely confined to his office duties.

It may be interesting to note that Mr. Cocher is a Canadian by birth, being born in Quebec. He has to his credit several books on matters connected with the turf and to keep his hand in, in newspaper work, contributes a column weekly to nearly all the leading papers in America.
