GIRL GUIDE NEWS and Charlottetown Co. The closing meeting of the season which was attended by the parents and a number of friends of the Guides was held in St. Paul's Parish Hall on Thursday, June 20th. The program of this eventful evening was opened with enrollment and presentation of badges and inter-patrol competitions, and closed with a jolly sing-song. Miss Morris Wilson, Provincial Commissioner, was present and kindly enrolled the recruits, Emma Hanson, and made the presentations which were as follows: Service stars: Jean Hamm and Jean Walsh. Second Class Badge: Phyllis Armstrong. Landress Badge: Sylvia Block. Ambulance Badges: Hilda Richardson, Sylvia Block, Doris MacLaren, Janet McLaren. Health Badges: Sylvia Block, Hilda Richardson. Sick Nurse Badges: Doris MacLaren, Sylvia Block, Hilda Richardson. Pathfinder Badges: Janet Stewart, Sylvia Block, Sylvia Block. Much of the afternoon was spent in the Bluebird Patrol for the highest number of points earned during the last three months. These points were: Bluebirds 66, Orchids 67, Scarlet Tanagers 65, White Heathers 60, Orioles 49. During the intermission piano solos were rendered by Guides Sarah Forbes and Janet McLaren. A number of Brownies belonging to our Pack kindly sold the delicious candy which had been generously donated by the parents of the Guides and ladies of St. Paul's Church. Just before camp-fire, Miss Wilson spoke a few words congratulating the Guides on their year's work and commenting on the great event which was to take place in two weeks' time when the Province would be visited by the Chief Scout and Chief Guide of the World, Miss Reay, the Captain, then mentioned the five main features of Guiding, its Promise and Laws, its Company organization, its methods of training, its programme (Badge Tests), and its insistence on outdoor training and called upon each of her Patrol Leaders to explain one feature. Much of the Company's success during the past year is due to the untiring efforts of the Lieutenant and Treasurer, Miss Olive Thornton, and to the willing assistance given by the Company Leader, Miss Hilda Richardson. The Patrol Leaders for the past year have been the Misses Avis Higgins, Sylvia Block, Janet Stewart, Marjory Large and Helen Lawson who have worked faithfully and well in the interests of their patrol and Company.

HOLLAND GETS BULK OF PULPWOOD FROM RUSSIA Due to there being no domestic supply, Holland has to import all of her requirements in pulpwood, some 400,000 cubic metres, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. The great bulk of it comes from Russia, Finland supplying the balance. DEATHS PROCTOR—At her home, 213 Prince Street, on June 24th, 1935, Mrs. Agnes V. Proctor, aged 71 years. Funeral notice later. Former C. P. R. Manager Dies (C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, June 24—John McMillan, 69, formerly general manager of Canadian Pacific Railway communications, died here today after a lengthy illness. Mr. McMillan is survived by his widow, the former Jean Giffen of Glasgow, three daughters and two brothers. A private funeral service will be held here Wednesday at St. Andrew's United Church and interment will take place in Winnipeg. "Get-rich-quick" Scheme Probed (C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 24—An alleged new "get-rich-quick" scheme supposed to carry with it the promise of the "operators" of 400 per cent profit is under investigation by Ottawa police, Chief Detective Mortimer Culver today confirmed. The police were informed that the activities of two operators who opened an office in the heart of the capital, were being probed, Chief Detective Culver said. The scheme, the official stated, involved operation of one and two dollar lists. An "investor" would place his name on the dollar list. Chief Detective Culver gave as an illustration: As each "investor" found himself heading a list of six, he would collect $5 and the operators would pocket one dollar as "commission."

LOADED WITH LUCK (C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) EDMONTON, June 24—Roger Freeman, 15, and George Reid, 14, should be loaded with luck in future. Half-an-hour's picking in a clover patch yielded them more than 200 four, five and six-leaved clovers. While waiting for a street car they found 16 more.

DELEGATES HEAR REPORTS ON INSTITUTE WORK

Delegates Welcomed Miss Elizabeth MacMillan, Supervisor of Women's Institutes for this Province, was in the chair when the Convention opened yesterday morning and introduced Premier MacMillan and Mr. H. R. Stewart, Deputy Provincial Secretary. In introducing the former she remarked that the Premier had ever shown himself a friend of the Institutes and had taken an active interest in them. It was a matter of wide and satisfaction that he had recently received the degree of LL.D. from McGill. The Premier expressed his pleasure in extending the official welcome to the delegates. Every attempt would be made to make the visit pleasant. It was felt that the proper place for the meeting would be around the historic table and in the historic chamber. The old building itself was undergoing extensive repairs, which age rendered necessary. There was no more important work in which a body of women could interest themselves than that of the Women's Institutes. He had personally followed the work done in this province and elsewhere. The greatest factor in public health, sanitation and assisting in school work was the women's institutes. The only criticism he had ever heard of them was in his own speeches in the House where he had said that he would give them the requests of the ladies. However, were always reasonable. After all the women were the greatest workers in society for the general good. Conditions were such as to require combined efforts. Mr. H. R. Stewart gave an historical sketch of the Confederation Chamber. He was followed with intense interest as he indicated the various features of note. Mrs. A. E. Walker, President, replied on behalf of the visiting ladies, expressing delight in the fact that the convention is this year being held in Prince Edward Island, of which the delegates had received a most pleasing impression. As an agricultural province the Island was a suitable place for the meeting of an organization largely representative of rural life. At today's business sessions reports will be presented on Home Economics, Immigration, and Child Welfare, and on the Pan-Pacific Women's Conference. Attention will be also given to the matter of revising the constitution and to financing the organization. The report on legislation will be presented by the National Convener, Gertrude S. Telford of Pelly, Saskatchewan. Apart from the members of the executive, a number of the delegates held and have held important positions in various fields of activity. Mrs. W. B. Leatherdale, Coldwater, Ont., is Secretary of Girls' Work for that province. Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, a member of the executive, is a practising lawyer at Trochu, Alta., and President of the Alberta Women's Institute. Mrs. R. B. Colton is President of the Ontario Women's Institute, which has 1300 branches and 40,000 members. Miss Bess Macdermand, Toronto, is newly appointed Superintendent of Women's Institutes for that province. She was educated in Ontario and took post-graduate courses in the United States. She was on the Home Demonstration staff for the State of New York with headquarters at Cornell University. Miss Hazel McCain was former Superintendent of the New Brunswick Institutes. She is now in Quebec attached to the Women's Institute headquarters at Macdonald College. Miss M. V. Powell, of Whitby, Ont., is Assistant Superintendent for that province. She is convener of Canadian Industries and directing the Canadian Industry plan which will be presented during this convention. Mrs. T. A. Cohoe, of Pilot Mountain, Manitoba, is convener of the League of Nations Committee and has taken on peace work of the Institutes, the major project being of Vancouver, national publicity secretary. Mrs. Price declared the picture of her founder, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless of Hamilton, Ont., should have a place in the Canadian Archives. She recommended the institution in her honor of an "Adelaide Hoodless Day" to be observed each February, the anniversary organization month, by all the branches, the program to be devoted to the study and growth of this Canadian idea. Peace Was Kept The keynote of the banquet programme given in honor of the delegates attending the convention by the executive of P. E. I. Institutes last evening at the Canadian National Hotel. Features of the evening were: League of Nations report given by the National Convener, Mrs. T. A. Cohoe of Pilot Mountain, Man. slides of the International Peace Garden in Southern Manitoba in which the Institutes have an acre. Doctors' bills, hospital bills, nursing care, eye glasses, community emergency kits, layettes, hospital beds and equipment had been financed. Institutes had acted as clearing houses in the distribution of health literature, pre-natal and post-natal letters, to lower the maternal and infant death rates by making mothers realize that the solution of this problem lies to a large extent in their own hands. While members in certain provinces had ruled against discussion of sterilization of the mentally unfit, in those provinces where legislation had been enacted, women were earnestly studying the subject. They were also keenly interested in all measures relating to public health and state medicine. Throughout the evening Mrs. MacMillan introduced the P. E. I. Executive, followed by introduction of national delegates. Tomatoes from farm of the National President, Mrs. A. E. Walker, of Bartonville, Ont., were on the menu. The vote of thanks to P. E. I. Executive moved by Mrs. W. H. T. Peake of Transcona was seconded by Mrs. C. E. Petch, Hemmingford, Que. Mrs. Cohoe's slides included some of the first peace plots, and also pictures similar to which it is hoped to create plots in the P.W.I.C. acre. In the peace garden, the Federated Women's Institutes are responsible for one acre, which is divided into six parts, one part for each province. Mrs. Cohoe reported for the Peace Garden Committee of which she is convener. There were 1,800 international acres set aside for the whole garden, she stated. The acre chosen by Mrs. Cohoe for the Institutes' garden is located north of the cairn. The garden is a unique and lovely emblem of international good will, she said. Each province is making its contribution of shrubs and flowers or of money for the purpose of accomplishing the P.W.I.C.'s objective. To the Women's Institutes will go the credit of being the first national organization to have a peace plot in an international garden. The main flowers will be lilacs and peonies of hardy varieties supplemented with perennial flowers which will ensure continuous bloom throughout the tourist season. Elizabeth Bailey Price also gave an address on the conference of the Pan Pacific Women's Association, which she attended last summer in Honolulu as a representative of the P.W.I.C. Women's Institutes throughout Canada, it was stated at sessions, have taken an active part in the recent Jubilee celebrations of the King and Queen's silver anniversary. They have given generously to the cancer fund, have arranged community patriotic programs and sent messages of congratulations to Their Majesties, Queen Mary is keenly interested in Women's Institute work and was the active president of the Sandringham branch. Mrs. A. E. Walker, Bartonville, national president, was congratulated on receiving a Jubilee silver medal. Committees The nomination committee was named as follows: Miss Helen J. Macdougall, Truro, N. S.; Mrs. Harrison MacFarlane, Fernwood, P. E. I.; Miss Alma E. Weldon, Fredericton, N. B.; Miss Hazel B. McCain, Macdonald College, Que.; Mrs. R. B. Colton, Lorne Park, Ont.; Miss Mabel Childerhouse, Rosser, Man.; Mrs. R. J. McAuslan, Adanac, Sask.; Mrs. F. J. Grevelt, Calgary, Alta.; Mrs. H. McGregor, Penticton, B. C. Following are the members of the resolutions committee: Convener: Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, Alta.; Miss Bess Macdermand, Toronto, Ont.; Mrs. W. R. Shaw, Cornwall, P. E. I.; Mrs. Gertrude S. Telford, Pelly, Sask. The courtesy committee is comprised as follows: Mrs. Ashley George, Upper Sackville, N. B.; Mrs. T. A. Bulloch, Lennox, Man.; Mrs. F. S. Browne, Lennoxville, Que., Experimental Farm.

the organization of the Institute Acre in the International Peace Garden between Manitoba and North Dakota. WILL MEET (Continued from Page 1) with the Government in maintaining law and order. Cheers and applause from government and opposition members broke out as Mr. Bennett finished a brief outline of the situation in response to a request from E. W. Turnbull (Cons. Regina). Mr. Bennett expressed concern for some of the younger and less experienced men among the marchers who had been induced to leave their camps by the agitators and were being exploited to serve the subversive objects of the movement although they had no such intentions. STAGE PARADE REGINA, June 24.—Orders to "be ready to move at a moment's notice" were issued today to Regina's 2,000 relief camp strikers from British Columbia and Alberta by their 80-man committee. The battalion staged a parade and a mass meeting, but no definite plan of action was announced pending arrival of the eight delegates who placed the strikers' demands before Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in Ottawa Saturday. As far as could be learned no permit was issued for the parade but the men kept strictly to their military discipline. They returned to their exhibition grounds encampment after marching to the Market Square. Spokesmen for the men said no plan would be formulated until their negotiators returned from Ottawa Wednesday. Opinion among the ranks however, appeared to be that the mass march to Ottawa would resume. Under orders to halt the strikers should they attempt to move eastward via freight train, 500 railway police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police are gathered here. ADDITIONAL (Continued from Page 1) $58,000; Halifax, repairs and improvements to wharves and buildings at R. C. N. Barracks and H. M.
