Brooklyn Dodgers Trounce Giants In Renewal Of Interborough Warfare 12-5

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, April 30—Those amazing Brooklyn Dodgers, still mesmerized by the spell of Casey Stengel, picked right up today where they left off picking on the Giants last year—crushing the New Yorkers 12-5 at Ebbetts Field in the first renewal this season of the interborough warfare that knocked the Giants out of the 1934 pennant.

A loud and raucous 17,000 turned out in the finest Brooklyn tradition, hooting the enemy, tossing fire-crackers at them, howling continually at their personal foes—Bill Terry, Giants' manager, and Dick Bartell.

Terry, who made that crack about Brooklyn still being in the league, escaped unscathed as Lefty Watson Clark, Giant cast-off, won his third victory of the season, busting the Giants' string of seven straight conquests, but Bartell had a fearful day.

Bartell and Joe Judge, out of baseball the year before, made two costly errors. The first, on a grounder from Len Koenecke with one out in the third, kept in motion a Dodger rally that blew Fred Fitzsimmons, Giants' starter, from the box, and enabled the Dodgers to run up six runs on triples by Buzz Boyle and Danny Taylor, singles by Lonnie Frey, Jimmy Bucher and Tony Cuccinello, and another error by George Davis in right before Frank Gabler got the side out. He tossed another into a three run Dodger rally off Leon Chagnon, who finished for the Giants, in the eighth.

Cubs Blank Pirates

With everything calm and orderly after yesterday's pugilistic encounters that caused the suspension of two players, the Cubs shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 at Chicago for their sixth victory in seven starts.

Roy Henshaw, young lefthander, pitched well in the pinches to turn in his first starting victory in his big league career, although the Pirates outhit the Cubs eight to seven.

Augie Galan, Cub leftfielder, led the winning attack with a pair of doubles off Ralph Birkofer.

Reds Trounce Cards

Young Gene Schott, only home town lad with Cincinnati Reds, pitched his first full game as a major leaguer today, and led his mates to a crushing 12-2 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

With the Reds' 21st and 22nd double-plays of the season to aid him, he held the Cards to five hits. The only runs off him came in the second as Medwick walked, Collins tripled, and Davis singled. Meanstime the Reds pounded the Cardinals unmercifully, getting well started on two trips around the batting order for an eight-run seventh inning.

Philadelphia was rained out at Boston.

Gar Wood's Marine Weapon Old Stuff

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 30—Gar Wood today visualized a mighty weapon of marine destruction, a wireless controlled boatload of high explosives able to smash into enemy warships at 100 miles-an-hour.

Wood, abandoning for the present further attempts to better in Miss America X his own world's motorboat speed record of 124.91 miles-an-hour, advanced the "speedboat of destruction" as a practical, wartime application of the high-powered motors developed in racing on water.

HALIFAX, April 30—By two months F. W. Baldwin, first man to fly an aeroplane in the British Empire, beat Gar Wood to the public visualization of a wireless-controlled speedboat as a wartime "surface torpedo".

He was a bit ahead of the Detroit speedboat driver and manufacturer, too, in the speed of their weapon. Wood looked to 100 miles an hour as its rate, "Casey" Baldwin saw an eventual speed of 125 miles an hour developed from the "Hydrodrome" which he helped Dr. Alexander Graham Bell invent.

The Hydrodrome is a motorboat built on the principle of the aeroplane—driven by an air screw and coasting over the water on "aerofoils," the nautical equivalent of the aeroplane's wings. As far back as 13 years ago, one of Baldwin's 'dromes was clipping off 72 knots on Nova Scotia's Bras D'Or Lakes, and he's developed its considerably.

Baldwin, a native of Toronto but now living in Nova Scotia and representing Victoria in the Province's Legislature, contends the hydrodrome is away ahead of the ordinary motorboat for the use he looks to. It can "turn on a dime," carry a heavy load with stability, and ride a choppy sea as though it were a millpond.

Will Renew Polo Classic

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, April 30. — British American polo rivalry, hitherto built around competition for the classic international cup, will be revived on Long Island this year with the visit of an official team from the Hurlingham Club to compete in the United States open championship. It will be the first invasion by a British four since 1930, when the last cup challenge was turned back.

The open championship will be held in September.

BASEBALL MEETING TONIGHT

The annual meeting of the City Baseball League takes place at the Holy Name Club rooms tonight at 7.30 and all members of last year's executive are asked to be present.

Officers will likely be elected for the ensuing year and plans for this year's loop discussed. At present it is expected that six teams will apply for admission and to ensure the success of the meeting it is necessary that representatives from each squad be in attendance.

A strong endeavour is to be made this season to bring ball back to its former popularity and anyone in any way interested in the League is cordially invited to be present.

SPRING FOOTBALL

REGINA, April 30. — Saskatchewan's junior football champions, Regina Dales, not only believe in spring practice, but in games. Twenty-seven candidates answered the call for practice and the idea is to arrange a game in May. The football season, at that rate, is never very far away for Reginians.

A YANK TO BEAT A YANK

ROME, April 30.—Italy not only has Jimmy Foley, a Canadian, to coach her Olympic hockey team, but an American to look after the track and field forces. Boyd Comstock, track and field coach of Los Angeles, A. C., has been brought across the seas to coach Italy's hopefuls. Comstock believes the Italians team will be a strong one.

CHINESE GIRL STARS

LONDON, April 30.—A tiny Chinese girl, Miss Gem Hoahing, is going places in English tennis. Standing not quite four feet high, she already is Middlesex junior champion. She uses a racquet weighing only 11½ ounces and, much to amazement of all spectators, has perfect control.

ROBINSON GETS BIG

MONTREAL, April 30. — George Robinson, Montreal's Canadian junior tennis champion, has added weight during the winter and probably will play an important part in open tournaments this summer. George put in a busy winter at hockey, playing for Westmount High School seniors.

WILDE GETS ORGANIZED

LONDON, April 30.—Jimmy Wilde, the old Welsh flyweight king, is forming a union of professional boxers in this country. Wilde's chief idea is to get higher wages for preliminary boys who are fighting four and six-round bouts for little more than the exercise.

PLAYERS DON'T AGREE

LONDON, April 30.—A move is on foot in English Football League circles to bar soccer players from driving either automobiles or motorcycles. When a club pays perhaps $50,000 for the services of a player it doesn't want to take any more chances than necessary of the player getting killed on the highway. The idea has widespread support—but not among players.

MICKEY LIKES FREY

BROOKLYN, April 30. — Linus (Junior) Frey, Brooklyn Dodgers' shortstop, is the best in the business, in the opinion of Manager Mickey Cochrane, who, having his Detroit Tigers in the other big league, can view National League doings with detachment. Frey is only 22, is playing his second season with Brooklyn and is clouting home runs in addition to fielding well.

JUBILEE OF THE RING

LONDON, April 30.—Twenty-five years ago Dick Burge, noted promoter, opened the Blackfriars arena and called it The Ring. The move gave the common man a chance to see boxing champions at work. The Ring's jubilee show was held recently, conducted by Burge's widow who has carried on. Light heavyweight champion Len Harvey was the headliner.

CHECK RACE MALPRACTICE

DURBAN, April 30.—To take up allegations of malpractice of any kind on or off the racecourse the Durban Turf Club is considering the appointment of a steward at a salary of between $3,750 and $5,000 a year.

Veteran Ball Player Dies

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HAMILTON, April 30—James Myers, grand old man of baseball in its earliest professional days here, died today aged 82. Mr. Myers played for the Standards, Hamilton's first professional team and an entry in the International League.

An interesting stunt introduced into baseball by the old time player was the training of two cocker spaniels to retrieve balls that had been hit out of bounds. The animals did their duty at games in Dundurn Park in the seventies.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX

(By The Associated Press)

With most of the leaders idle, the only change in baseball's big six yesterday saw Rollie Hemsley, St. Louis catcher, take over second place in the American League trio and Jack Hayes of the White Sox shoved out of the select group. Hemsley connected with three hits in as many times at bat to send his average soaring to .390, only one point below Jimmie Foxx. Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop, was the only other member of the group to get into action and he lost six points when he got only one hit. The standings:

$60,000 Is Offered For Soccer Player

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, April 30.—Still angling for Tommy Walker, starry Heart of Midlothian footballer, Arsenal is said to be dangling a record bait of $60,000 before the directors of the Edinburgh Club in an effort to obtain the 19-year-old forward's services for next winter's campaign. A match between Hearts and Arsenal is reported to have been held out as an additional inducement.

Idol of Scottish fans, Walker is the most sought after player north of the Tewed and the Gunners offered $50,000 for him a few months ago. The young inside right is regarded as the biggest soccer discovery in 20 years.

COMMISSION SERVES NOTICE TO BOXERS

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, April 30.—The New York State Athletic Commission today served notice on the contestants in the four major lightweight, welterweight and heavyweight boxing bouts to be fought here in the next two months to post appearance and weights forfeits within the next 24 hours.

Thus far only Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N.Y., who will meet Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden May 10 for Barney Ross's vacated lightweight throne, has complied with the Commission's week-old edict to post $2,000-$1,000 for appearance and $1,000 for weight.

The same requirement was made of Ross and Jimmy McLarnin who will battle for the latter's welterweight title, while the four heavyweights, champion Max Baer and James J. Braddock, and Primo Carnera and Joe Louis have been ordered to post $2,500 each to guarantee appearance.

Two weeks ago the Commission dealt out an indefinite suspension to Richard Shikat the wrestler, for kicking Dano O'Mahoney in a bout at the Garden. Today the Board lifted the suspension so that Shikat can meet Chief Little Wolf in the Garden next Monday night.
