 FUNERAL ADDRESS GIVEN BY REV. DR. E. H. RAMSAY. SHE WAS LAID TO REST AT HUN-TER RIVER

flowed by the garden of her career and she has embarked thereon to be carried on its current to the spiritual "Camelot."

Her religion was not ostentatious, and perhaps for that very reason she was the more sincere, and her secret is available for everyone of us.
 When sorrow breaks upon our head, when cruel disease attacks our system and robs us of the last spark of vitality, shall we have the same secret of patience and courage and victory? It is there for us. It has sustained the faithful in all the ages. In its confidence, the apostles laid down their lives, the martyrs in the arena gazed upon the eyeball of the fierce Numidian lion, the missionaries of the Cross faced such not duplicate, and all the humble faithful won through to eternal life.

And what shall we say to these dear sorrow-broken loved ones who are left motherless and sisterless.
 Only this, that a quiet pride must be yours for the gift to you in so intimate a family relationship. The God of Grace who enabled her so to triumph will expect you to triumph by the same means. Her faith is a challenge to you, and overcoming as she did, you will meet your God as he meets you when you too have crossed the bar so.
 "Sunset and evening star, and one clear call for me And may there by no moaning of the bar when I put out to sea."

The late Mrs. D. M. MacLeod who passed away in the P.E.I. Hospital April 28th last, was born at St. Peters forty-five years ago. The daughter of the late D. A. Lawson, sta-tionmaster there at the time. Her childhood was spent in St. Peters, Georgetown and Hunter River.
 When twenty years of age she was married to the late Dan MacLeod of the last mentioned place. To them was born a family of four: Lawson Sutherland, Beatrice and Eulalie.
 In 1930 owing to Mr. MacLeod's failing health, the family moved to Charlottetown. In 1932 Mr. MacLeod died at the early age of forty-five years. Mrs. MacLeod now suffers from a long illness which has lasted six months, most cheerfully borne.
 Mrs. MacLeod has passed away at the same early age. Besides her own four children she leaves to mourn a brother, Henderson Lawson, of Fort Francis, Ontario, and five nephews. Her funeral service was held in Hunter River United Church, where she was organist and Sunday School teacher. Rev. Mr. Boothroy presided and Rev. Dr. Ramsay gave the address, which follows:

Tribute by Rev. Dr. Ramsay

Many of you here this afternoon knew Mrs. MacLeod longer and better than I, and could give her a more fitting tribute to her memory.
 But in the years I had the privilege of knowing her, I came to form as everyone who knew her, an impressive, a high estimate of her character and worth.

The first thought that comes to one's mind as he thinks of her life and death, is that of triumph. There are many things which are triumphs of science, triumphs of engineering, triumphs of diplomacy etc. But the greatest and truest triumph is that of a life. It was such a triumph that the greatest of humans, Jesus Christ our Lord, achieved. And such a triumph Mrs. MacLeod achieved in His Name and Spirit.

It is difficult to analyze the life and character of any one, but if we were to attempt it in Mrs. Mac-Leod's instance, we should have to divide it into two parts. The first part of all her remarkably dauntless spirit, which she carried through the night, no difficulty of the path, no growling of the lions, no rattling of the chains could cause her to lose heart or give way to a spirit of despondency. She belonged to that magnificent generation who were in their twilight years of the Great War broke out in 1914. I can recall how during the progress of the war I used to scan the many pictures of the young English officers who had fallen in battle which were reproduced in the Illustrated London News. There were so many of them! And they were so young and fine and refined! And I can imagine Mrs. MacLeod, if she had been among them, as brave and fine as any, for to that class she belonged. She was, as Browning says, "One who never turned her back, but marched breast forward.
 Never doubted though afraid.
 Never dreamt though right were worsted wrong would triumph Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better, Sleep to wake."

With her courage lived that twin virtue, self mastery. No matter how her heart might ache, or how sharply pains might gnaw, or how body she could retain her characteristic smile and her ladylike poise. And this was not affectation, it was the expression of a confirmed conviction. She felt it her duty "to better the world with a smile," as she wrote in a leaflet book of poems, intimate poems which expressed her own thoughts.

"So that my little corner of the world May richer be—nor poorer—for my birth
 I will seek beauty everywhere I go And where it is not try to make it so."

And this determination to be a blessing and not a burden to her generation, this disposition to guide and not shadow, was a deliberate purpose.

While she was ever ready to serve the human family as opportunity offered, in visiting the unfortunate teaching the children of the church, and in the expression of a guiding "to do" and so her own personal bearings in life, her attitudes and her personality were the means by which she did most good to her generation. And that will continue in the hearts and lives of all who knew her, as one of her recorded poems has it.
 "Sometimes long after the sun is gone
 As we watch at the close of day, The sky is bright with a rosy light And the evening shadows grey, Long after a beautiful life is gone To that fairer world on high, Our lives are brighter with its lingering light,
 For a true life cannot die."

But all this self-mastery, dauntless courage and infectious cheerfulness of spirit were the fruit of faith and a hidden fellowship with the Master from whom she learned the secret of triumphant living. His optimism in the midst of sorrow was hers. His patience in pain was hers. His sacrifice of self for the good of the world was hers. That faith robbed, for her, death of its sting and the grave of its victory.
 So in the words of one of her selected poems written down a short time ago.
 "Death is only an old door Set in a garden wall."
 She has left us a latch of that door, gone quietly through, but not out into the wilderness, for the brimming river, the River of Life

TOURIST EVIDENCE COMPLETED

Senate Committee To Prepare Report On Result of Investigation.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
 OTTAWA, May 17—The tourist Senate Committee tonight concluded the hearing of evidence. Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax, chairman announced preparation of its report to the Senate would be started immediately.

The Committee was appointed April 28, and since that date has conducted two coast to coast surveys of the tourist industry, hearing witnesses or receiving briefs from the provinces, representatives of transportation companies, officials of Federal departments and private tourist organizations.

The bulk of evidence heard by the committee focused on the following recommendations:

1. Formation of a Federal bureau to coordinate the activities of existing provincial and private bureaus.
2. Development by the proposed bureau of a national policy for tourist publicity and advertising.
3. The question of whether foreign advertising and publicity should be in the name of the government or through a quasi-governmental organization.
4. An immediate campaign to aid the industry in 1934.
5. A five-year programme to increase travel to Canada from the United States and Europe.
6. Larger development of inter-provincial traffic.
7. The creation of additional national parks, in the central and eastern provinces, to be linked with those existing in the west—ultimately establishing a chain from the Atlantic to the Pacific.
8. An additional tourist business of $500,000,000 to be reached in five years.
9. A committee of federal departmental officials to coordinate the activities of departments contacting one or more phases of the industry, including trade and commerce, immigration and colonization, radio commission, the survey-general, national parks branch and the tourist branch, department of trade and commerce.
10. A permanent tourist committee of parliament.

R. U. Parker, New York and Boston, manager passenger traffic, Eastern Steamship Lines, was the concluding witness before the committee.

With an aggressive policy the Dominion's annual tourist revenue could be increased to $500,000,000 within five years, Mr. Parker told the committee. In 1929 the industry had a return of $30,000,000; in 1933 this decreased to $150,000,000. There is always a changing trend in the tourist business, witness said. The present trend was toward increased out-of-door recreation. Canada was ideally suited as an out-door playground that extended across the continent.

While Canada's tourist revenues had decreased in 1933, Mr. Parker said, Bermuda had increased its tourist traffic remarkably. He attributed this to an aggressive newspaper advertising campaign. This year Easter Day United States visitors to Bermuda totalled 10,000. Officials of United States travel companies would welcome cooperation from a federal tourist bureau in Canada, Mr. Parker told the committee. Detailed information of Canadian events attracting travellers was needed, witness said. June 1 was not too late to campaign for summer tourist traffic, Mr. Parker told the committee.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
 TORONTO, May 17—The condition of Archbishop Neil McNeil, confined to hospital here, was reported as unchanged today. He spent a fairly good night and appeared slightly better in the morning. Since then, however, he suffered a slight set back and his condition remained about the same as yesterday.

ADVOCATE NATIONAL PARKS IN EAST

Would Provide Great Tourist Attraction in Maritimes, Claim.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, May 17—A system of national parks for the Maritime Provinces, to be linked with western parks by the trans-Canada highway, was advocated today before the Senate Tourist Committee.

Eventually such a system of National parks from coast to coast would be linked by the highway as by the railways and highways, the committee was told by F. V.
 "Casey" Baldwin, M.L.A., Baddeck, N.S., Mr. Baldwin was the first subject to fly a plane. The flight was made Mar. 12, 1908.

National parks should be established in Cape Breton and in western and central Nova Scotia, Mr. Graham stated. Historical events would be appropriately marked by creation of parks in these places, he said, and they were necessary to preserve wild life.

The parks plan was also supported by Senator J. S. McLennan, Sydney, N.S., who appeared as a witness before his colleagues of the Senate sitting as a committee under the chairmanship of Senator W. H. Dennis, Halifax.

National parks were even more necessary for the recreational well-fare of Canadians than as an attraction for foreign tourists, Senator McLennan stated. Out-door recreation had one-time been looked upon as only for persons of means, he said, but this idea had been dispelled long ago. The whole population now enjoys out-door recreation.
 More national parks were needed as bird sanctuaries and games preservation, Senator McLennan told the committee.

National parks at present are almost solely confined to the west.
 Ontario has three small national parks, including one recently developed in the thousand islands, which was available as a playground only for those who had residence in the islands.

Quebec is without a national park.
 There are none in the Maritime Provinces.

Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission said, the Commission began in 1932 to publicize Canada's natural attractions on the air, interchange of programmes with networks in the United States, was a part of this policy.
 Inter-provincial broadcasts had also been developed, he said, with a view to interesting each part of the Dominion with every other part.

Rapid Development Of Aerial Transport

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., May 18 Major Stuart Graham of Montreal, district inspector in the Civil Aviation Branch of the Department of National Defence, spoke here on aviation and aerial transport as a present day utility and afforded his hearers a glimpse into the industry's future.

Major Graham predicted that in the near future the Maritime Province, which now has only seven or eight licensed airports, will be more closely linked up by a chain of airports.

He commented on the rapid development of the Summerside, P. E.
 I., airport as an example of vision and foresightedness and expressed the hope that other cities and towns would be awakened to the benefits of aviation.

ACQUITTED ON STAMP FORGERY CHARGE

Gordon Elton, St. John's, Nfld., Found Not Guilty By Jury.

(C.P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 17—An intricate stamp forgery case was closed today with the acquittal of Gordon Elton, middle-aged garage proprietor who had been awaiting trial for more than three months. Elton was charged with counterfeiting special issues of postage stamps including one marking the 3,700-mile trans-Atlantic flight of Clarence D. Chamberlain from New York to Esbjerg, Germany, in 1927.

The only witness against him was C. Ellis, who faced a similar charge but turned King's evidence after his preliminary trial and the finding of a true bill in his own case. Ellis told the court he had agreed with Elton on a "fifty-fifty" basis to forge stamps. He declared he had obtained type from a New York foundry and another source by stating Ellis wanted it for job printing. No other evidence was brought out against Elton and the jury returned a verdict for acquittal.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 18—Montreal Stock Exchange securities performed in a hesitant manner today, finally submitting to a downward movement of a fractional nature. Irregularly ruled until just before the final hour of the session when business crept in. Trading was light with approximately 9,100 shares changing hands. Two issues closed with losses of more than a point, and only one stock advanced above a point.

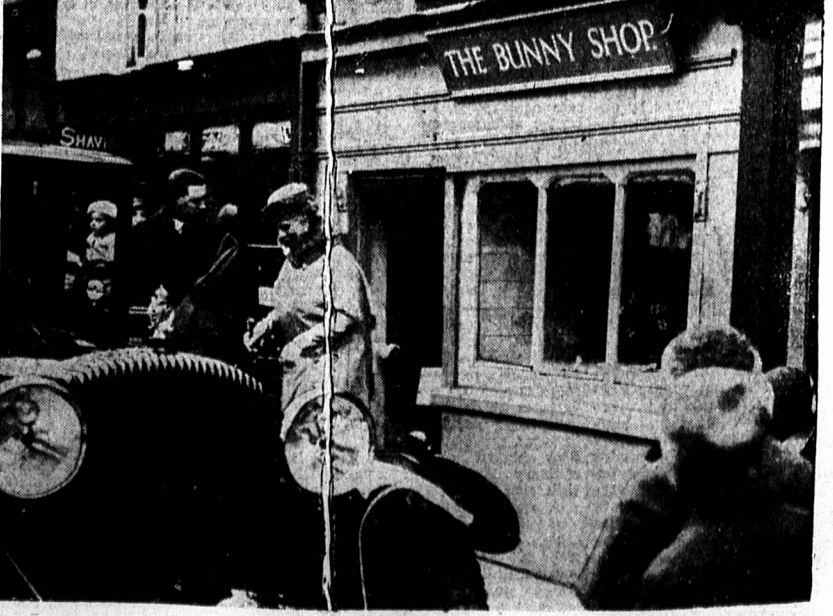

Consolidated Smelters which spurred 6 1-2 points yesterday dropped two to 154 1-2 while Royal Bank was down the same amount at 15 3/4. A favorite of the days of '29, Famous Players, made one of its now infrequent appearances at 5 where it recorded a gain of 5 3-4 points.

International Nickel sold off 50 cents at $27.50 while Brazilian Traction dipped 1-2 and Canadian Pacific Railway 3-8. McColl-Fronzonac, St. Lawrence Paper Preferred, Quebec Power, Canadian Car Common and Preferred and St. Lawrence Corporation Preferred all so low fractions.

Hollinger was a late strong spot, rising 80 cents at 17.00 on substantial sales. Bruck Silk, Steel of Canada, Maple Leaf Milling and B. C. Power "B" were also up small amounts.

Among the issues to hold unchanged from their previous closing prices were Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Shawinigan, Bathurst, Dominion Steel, Howard Smith, Massey-Harris, National Steel Car and Winnipeg Electric.
