Hope Of Clarifying Dominion-Provincial Relations This Week

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP) — The currently muddled status of Dominion-Provincial financial relations is expected to be clarified this week following caucuses of supporters of the Ontario and Nova Scotia governments.

Premier Drew of Ontario is scheduled to meet his Progressive Conservative supporters tomorrow and it is expected he will sound them out on whether the Ontario government should take steps to enter a new financial agreement with Dominion.

Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia has called a caucus of his party supporters for Thursday for the express purpose of discussing the question of future relations with the Dominion.

Following the meetings the Premiers are expected to disclose what courses their respective governments will follow.

Three provinces — New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan—already have reached agreement with the Dominion. A fourth, Alberta, now is holding exploratory discussions with Federal authorities. British Columbia has indicated it will open similar negotiations later this month.

Quebec and P. E. I.

If Ontario and Nova Scotia make their stands known this week, only Quebec and Prince Edward Island will remain to be heard from.

The Island's government has sought information on the Dominion proposals to the Provinces as outlined in the Federal budget June 27, but has given no indication that it will accept them.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec has held to the views he expressed before the Dominion-Provincial Conference broke up in failure last May—that he is willing to enter an agreement that will not interfere with the autonomy of Quebec. However, he has made no move toward initiating such an agreement.

The terms of the agreements with New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have not yet been made public but it is believed they followed generally along the lines of the Federal proposals in the budget.

Provincial treasurer C. M. Fines of Saskatchewan made public the terms of the agreement between his province and the Dominion and said it was similar to the agreements accepted by Mantoba and New Brunswick. All agreements followed generally along the lines of the federal proposals in the budget.

The agreements are to run for five years and will replace the 1942 wartime taxation agreements under which all provinces agreed to vacate the income and corporation tax fields in return for payments based on what they collected from the taxes in 1941.

Optional Basis

The proposals in the budget were put forward on an optional basis and it was suggested that the new agreements run for five years.

Under the proposals the Provinces would agree to undertake on behalf of themselves and their municipalities to vacate the personal income tax field for the duration of the agreement. In the corporation income tax field a uniform five-per-cent tax would be collected by the Dominion for the provinces.

In succession duties the Provinces would have the choice of not levying taxes or of accepting a deduction in annual payments from the Dominion equivalent to the amount collected.

The agreeing provinces would be paid $15 per capita based on the value of gross national production.

Provinces which do not enter an agreement will be free to impose personal income tax and taxpayers in those provinces will be able to offset the provincial tax against up to five per cent of the Federal tax. There would be complete freedom to impose provincial corporation taxes, but they would not be deductable for the Dominion tax purposes.

Succession duties collected by non-participating Provinces would be allowed as a deduction up to 50 per cent of the Dominion succession duty tax.

Budget Proposals

The budget proposals were somewhat similar to those put forward at the unsuccessful Dominion-Provincial Conference, but they did not carry with them the Federal government's offer to bear the greater share of health insurance, social security and public investment programs.

There has been speculation in some capital circles that all Provinces will eventually seek new agreements with the Dominion, because of recognized opposition among the people to double taxation.

Some provincial authorities have admitted frankly that a provincial government's popularity would not be enhanced through imposition of a provincial income tax on top of the already heavy Federal tax.

A non-agreeing province could impose a personal income tax of up to five per cent of the Federal rate without increasing the net amount a taxpayer has to pay. Under the budget proposals, the income taxpayer in a non-agreeing province would be allowed to deduct up to five per cent of the Federal tax.

However, provincial authorities have said it would be difficult to convince taxpayers that they were not paying more taxes, even though they were being collected by two governments instead of one.

The possibility of a new Dominion-Provincial Conference at which a blanket agreement with all Provinces might be worked out appears to be remote.

Recent correspondence exchanged by Prime Minister Mackenzie King with Premiers Drew and Macdonald indicated that Federal authorities feel a new conference at this time would be inadvisable.

Card Of Thanks

Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Foster Garrett take this opportunity of thanking their friends and neighbours for their many acts of kindness and help extended to them in their recent sudden bereavement; also for the large number of letters and cards of sympathy, and for the many beautiful floral tributes.

In Memoriam

In fond and loving memory of my dear husband, Charles A. MacDougall, who passed away November 14th, 1941.

The month of November is here again
One of the saddest of all the year.
The blow was hard, the shock severe
To part with him we loved so dear.
Gone and forgotten by some he may be
But never forgotten by us will he be
Two little words not hard to write
But I will remember them all my life—My Husband.

Sadly Missed and Lovingly Remembered by His Wife and Family.

In Memoriam

In fond and loving memory of

MRS. L. G. HENRY

who departed this life November 14, 1945.

"From our chain this link has fallen—
In our land her star has set,
But enshrined on Memories' tablet
Her true worth we'll not forget."

Inserted by Husband and Family.

MRS. JOHN A. FORD

The death of Mrs. John A. Ford which occurred in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on October the 9th came as a great shock to her family and friends, being taken ill on Friday, October 4th, she entered the Hospital where all special nursing and medical skill could be done, was done for her, but God willed otherwise and she passed away on the above mentioned date. being of a kind and quiet disposition she had many friends who regret her passing at the early age of 36 years. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn the loss of a mother's love and care five children:—Velma, employed at S. A. MacDonald's; Orwell, Ellwood, Connie and Muriel all attending school. Also her parents Mr. and Mrs. Mayus Ford, Glasgow Road and the following brothers and sisters: Chester, Glasgow Road; Harold, Hunter River; Lloyd, Charlottetown; David, North River; Mrs. Sadie Ford, Milton; Mrs. Allison Ford, Winsloe, a brother Lorne predeceased her by five years at the early age of 30 years.

The funeral service which was very impressive and largely attended was conducted by the Rev. T. E. McLennan. Hymns sung were: The Lord's My Shephard, and Abide With Me. A solo Does Jesus Care was touchingly rendered by Mr. Roy Smallman. Remains were laid to rest in Winsloe North Cemetery. Pallbearers, Ben Ford, Arthurd Ford, Robert McKinnon, Melvin Ford, James Crabbe and Leonard Roberts.

BLOUSE BRIEF LATEST STYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 —(CP)— There's a new gadget on the market that should be a joy to suit-minded gals— the blouse brief, which is made in just one size, yet fits all sizes from 10 to 44, through an ingenious biased-bra fit and the device of a row of adjustable snaps on tapes which fasten at the back.

They say it won't twist or ride up, won't pull out of a skirt, and is designed to be worn with an open jacket with complete assurance. It even has shields built in to protect suit linings, though it has no sleeves.

It comes in styles tailored or frou-frou, in fabrics ranging from rayon crepe to crisp ogandie or starched nimbn. Trimmings include delicate laces and dainty cut-out work. Best of all, it's easy to wash and iron, saves time for the busy working girl.

Sleep is not just a habit but a necessity and one that is very often neglected to the detriment of the child and eventually the adult.
