FURTHER PARTICULARS.—The item in yesterday's issue in reference to the automobile which broke through the shell ice up East River and stuck there was not altogether accurate. The automobile was not pulled out by another automobile but by a dozen able-bodied and obliging farmers. These men were engaged in mud-digging and on learning of the plight of the machine they most cheerfully jumped to the job of getting it out of the ice with teams. The members of the auto party are enthusiastic in their praise of the hospitable manner in which they were treated by the people of that section who took them into their homes and served them with refreshments while the auto was being released. Word was telephoned to Charlottetown from Webster's Corner telling of the plight of the machine but long before another auto got near the scene the jolly farmer boys had rendered all necessary assistance. Needless to say the excursionists are deeply grateful for the aid bestowed and no doubt this little incident will help to cement a proper spirit between farmers and autoists.

WEDDING CHIMES.—On the morning of February 18th, the early rays of the sun filtering through the handsome windows of St. Malachi's Church, Kinkora, rested upon a scene of beauty and more than usual interest. It being the occasion of the marriage of one of Albany's most winsome and popular young ladies, Miss Margaret Eliza Noonan, to Mr. John Murray, a much respected young man of the same place. The bride eclipsed her usual loveliness in a suit of blue with flesh colored blouse of silk crepe and black picture hat, with large white plume. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian, handsomely gowned in blue tulle with black picture hat and a pale blue ostrich mount. The groom was assisted by Mr. Bernard Ready of Irish town. After the nuptials, which were performed by Rev. A. J. MacIntyre, the wedding party, accompanied by a number of friends drove to Summer side where they partook of dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where a large reception was held, over one hundred and twenty guests being present. A sumptuous supper was then served and after the usual toasts Mr. George Trainor of Kinkora, was prevailed to express some remarks appropriate to the occasion succeeding in his usual good style amid great applause. Dancing was the main feature of the evening's program, interspersed some well rendered solos, and readings by Mr. Frank Flood, of Kelly's Cross, which deserves special mention. Violin music was furnished by Messrs Levi Trainor and Joseph Kelly, of Kelly's Cross, with Frank Flood and Robert Howatt, as accompanists. The bride's reception gown was of ivory duchesse satin with overdress of shadow lace. The presents including a large number of cheques were both costly and numerous. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold pendant, and chain. The newly married couple will make Cape Traverse their home at which place the groom is in the employ of the P. E. I. R. Many friends wish them bon voyage through life.

Petersen, who was sentenced from New York county for a five year term, has been the oldest man committed since George Grant, a civil war veteran, was released two years ago at the age of eighty-four.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman Law, of Ossining, to pension the family of Edward McCarthy, the guard shot and killed by Aresta Shillitano, a prisoner, when he escaped.

HARVESTER'S DIARY

There is an excellent rural telephone free to anyone in town and to anywhere within a about seven miles on every side of the town. The telephone posts and singing wires are a good guide to travel. I have seen three coyotes or prairie wolves at one time. One evening last fall just after dark while hauling a load of wheat from a back quarter section, I heard them howl quite near as I drove through a lonely bushy place. They are not considered dangerous animals; but about twelve years ago, a teacher kept a little boy in school after hours for some slight fault. The child started for home alone and all that was ever found of him were his feet inside of his shoes. Coyotes had got him.

This country is built on immense lines. Nature is vast in her moods. When Fortune smiles the farmer is fairly smothered with her bounty and when she frowns she sends him desolation.

A HARVESTER.

"HEART SONGS"

Refreshing as a drink at the OLD WELL

400 SONGS!	500 Pages of Sweet Music	400 SONGS!

HEART SONGS is not a mere collection of music and words! It is a book compiled directly by more than 20,000 people, who, in sending their favorite songs, told why they sent them.

From the lone cabin on the trackless prairie—from the snowy wastes of Alaska—from the mining camp amidst the pines of the lofty Sierras—from the coral strand of an island in the far Pacific, so remote that the ships come only once a year (it they do not forget)—from the garrets of London and Paris, with only the stars above—from the sandy deserts of the Orient, somehow seemingly forgotten by even God himself—came these outpourings of the human heart—from the men and women who loved them—and the singing of which oftentimes saved their sanity and faith in Heaven.

Every song in this wonderful book has had some sacred memory—some touching experience—some sweet and hallowed association—connected with it in the hearts of thousands. It is their song of joy—of sorrow—of thanksgiving—of love—of bereavement—of home-coming—of reunion—of all the tender sentiments that lift the human heart in worship to its Maker. It is for this—by inspiration—that this unique volume is entitled "HEART SONGS!"

ANOTHER HEART SONG THAT WILL LIVE FOREVER THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET

This Song to be found on Page 495 of "HEART SONGS"

WRITTEN by Samuel Woodworth, the son of a poor Massachusetts Farmer. His fame rests on his exquisite portrayal of the old-fashioned well on the home farm at Scituate, Mass. "The Old Oaken Bucket" was composed one summer day when living on Dundane Street, New York. He came home one afternoon overcome with heat and draining a glass of cold water said to his wife, "That is very refreshing, but how much more refreshing it would be to take a good long draught from the old oaken bucket I left hanging in my father's well at home." Thus inspired, he gave the world that matchless poem and song, "The Old Oaken Bucket," one of the "heart songs" which will live as long as the English language is spoken.
