

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it. I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, all my troubles had disappeared, and saved me from an operation. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't daily with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation. I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend who had been cured of ovarian trouble, through the use of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it and can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—MRS. LUTHER BELL, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

INSURANCE ON LETTERS.

New Regulation of the Postal Department.

It Will go into Effect in Charlottetown on Next Monday—Loss of Letters Well Guarded Against.

A new scheme is shortly to come into effect throughout Prince Edward Island and Canada for guarding against loss of valuable letters by insuring them. This will be done by the Department upon payment of an extra fee.

The following regulations have been received by the Charlottetown Post Office Department: "On and after March 28th inland registered letters, that is letters posted at and addressed to a post office in Canada, may be insured against loss for amounts not exceeding twenty-five dollars, on payment of the following fees in addition to the full postage and registered charges:

Insurance Fee	Limit of Compensation.
3 cents.	$10
4 cents.	$15
5 cents.	$20
6 cents.	$25

"A letter tendered for insurance must be enclosed in a strong envelope or cover properly sealed with gum or wax.

"No letter will be received for registration or insurance if it seems possible to get at the contents without either breaking the seals or tearing the cover.

"Coins, articles of gold and silver, precious stones, jewellery and other articles of value must be enclosed in sufficiently strong boxes to be put up in accordance with directions furnished by postmasters.

"Envelopes with black or colored borders may not be used for registered or insured letters.

"As few stamps as possible should be used for the prepayment of the postage and the insurance and registration fees, and where two or more stamps are used they should be affixed with spaces between, in order to prevent stamps from being employed to conceal an opening in the cover.

"The stamps may not be folded over the edge of the cover.

"Before an insured letter is accepted from the post office by the addressee or his agent it should be carefully examined to see that it is in good order, since the acceptance by the addressee or his agent releases the postmaster general from all responsibility regarding such insured letters."

Under these regulations it will be seen that letters only will be accepted for insurance. This will include packages upon which the full letter rate of postage is paid. If a person desires to send a letter worth twenty-five dollars he will, in order to insure it for the full value, pay first of all two cents ordinary postage, then five cents for registration fee, and finally six cents for insurance. He will receive a special receipt from the postmaster, and the letter will be shown to be of value by a red seal which will be put upon it.

FREE LENDING LIBRARY FOR TEACHERS.

Inspector McCormac wishes to announce that he has purchased a library of over two hundred volumes of the best professional literature obtainable for the use of teachers, and that he places this library at the disposal of the teachers of his inspectorate. He expects to have the books catalogued in a week or so and a list placed in every school. In the meantime, that the teachers may at once avail themselves of the benefits of this library, the titles of a number of the volumes are here given. No charge is to be made for the loan of books. All the teacher has to pay is the postage on the volume required, and return the book within a month from the date of its receipt.

ENGLAND'S PERIL IN FAR EAST WAR

Norman M. P., Points to Continental Enemies.

When Climax Comes Great Britain Will Realize Japanese Alliance Will be Source of Great Trouble to Her.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Under the title "The War and After," Henry Norman, M. P., discusses the probable after-effects of the Russian-Japanese war in the forthcoming number of the World's Work.

He says that it is most important that one fact should be clearly realized, that "it is a fight for the control of China, Korea and Manchuria are subordinate or indirect issues. The real object is predominant influence in Pekin, bringing with it the ultimate domination of the Far East and in the future the headships of all the Asiatic races."

He points out the probability of war in the near east and England's peril from such an event and says:—

"A ready-made ally everywhere in Europe—a manifestation which is not at all surprising in view of the language of so much of the London Press. From the highest to the lowest, moderation of language, respect for the feelings of other nations, and a sense of responsibility, appear to have vanished from many newspaper offices. Denunciation of Russia is as extravagant as adulation of Japan is as exaggerated, and both are making England a host of fresh enemies every week.

"For all this a day of reckoning will surely come, for the passion roused against England will have reached its climax when—if this happens—Russia has practically evacuated Manchuria, and Japan, unable to continue a ruinous struggle of indefinite duration, requests the powers to recognize the retrocession of Manchuria to China and to decree the end of the war. Then England is likely to learn the result of her Asiatic alliance, for it is the universal conviction that it was the Anglo-Japanese treaty which rendered war in the Far East both possible and probable.

"In conclusion, I will venture upon one prophecy; namely, that the result of this war will be for Russia a blessing in disguise. The policy of expansion everywhere, at any cost and by any method, whether of arms or of diplomacy, together with its authors and upholders, will be discarded; the canker at the heart of Russia—the corruption of her bureaucracy—will be cut out. The statesman who desires to curtail military expenditure and to encourage Russian production and commerce will come back to power. The Czar will bask aside opposition to the ideals of humanity and peace that he cherishes."

An Absolute Necessity.

So Think At Least One Travelling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a travelling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have the rat food, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest, anyway I know mine won't. It has to have something to break the fall and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakers, that advertised medicines are humbugs, etc., but I notice that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion, while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and ready for my work when it needs me, and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in year out, and all the "joshing" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week and after standing this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myself for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in a patent medicine as much as in selling barbwire.
