The council decided to legislate that only ordained ministers may conduct marriage ceremonies within the framework of the church, except in some cases when it may issue special permits with the understanding such an issue is an exception.

After a long debate the Council referred to the Home Missions and Christian Education boards the question of demanding one year's continuous service by candidates for the ministry before their ordination. The two boards will consider the question jointly and report back to the 1938 Council at Toronto.

The Council adopted the recommendation of its committee on negotiations with other churches reaffirming the desire and purpose to cooperate and "wherever possible and practical unite with any other Christian church on such terms in harmony with the Protestant heritage as might be found mutually acceptable." A standing committee was asked to continue study of possibilities for further union.

It adopted the recommendation of the same committee that "the possibility of setting up an inter-denominational body similar to the Federal Council of Churches in America be explored and a report presented to the next General Council."

Tonight the Council elected officers to fill vacancies occurring at the end of the year.

It elected Rev. J. R. Mutchmore, of Winnipeg, as associate secretary of the board of Evangelism and Social Service. Mr. Mutchmore was given an acclamation.

Rev. G. R. Cragg of New Liskeard, Ont., selected by a committee from a list of 30 men, was elected editor of the New Outlook, the official church paper.

Mr. Cragg, a considerable linguist replaces Rev. Dr. W. B. O'reighton, editor for the last 36 years.

Other nominees were Rev. Robert Graham, present assistant editor, Professor J. King Gordon of Winnipeg and Rev. H. J. Wilson, editor of the Napanee, Ont., Beaver.

INSURGENTS ENCIRCLED

LISBON, PORTUGAL, Oct. 1—(CP)—Government forces encircled 600 Insurgents tonight in Fort Estrecho de Quinto, on the Huesca front, isolating them in a siege similar to that of the Toledo Alcazar, the correspondent of the Diario Noticias reported.

Reports received Saint Jean de Luz, France, also that 50 Government sympathizers had barricaded themselves in a seminary in the centre of Toledo and had withstood Insurgent attacks since the city's surrender almost a week ago.

Women and children were said to be imprisoned in the seminary inside a ring of Insurgent machine guns from which there appeared to be no way of escape. The reports said two officers were killed in a vain dash and neither side dared venture into an open courtyard to retrieve their bodies lying there.

The besieged Insurgents in Fort Estrecho de Quinto, a few miles east of Huesca were reported plentifully supplied with ammunition but it was said their only source of fresh food was that Insurgent comrades dropped from airplanes.

The imprisoned garrison fought off Government attackers from behind the fort's barricades, the dispatches said, awaiting a rescue column from the Bilbao sector. It kept in contact with another hill-top Insurgent fort two miles away with signal flags.

Grant Autonomy

MADRID, Oct. 1—(C.P.—Havas)—With the Insurgent vanguard but 20 miles from the city's gates, the Spanish Cortes met today and unanimously endorsed Premier Francisco Largo Caballero's battle cry: "Better to die standing than to live on our knees!"

The Deputies voted autonomy for the Basque Provinces as the first step toward a federal "republic of workers" which Premier Largo Caballero said, would be set up if the government were victor in the Civil War.

Along the highways leading to Madrid, the Leftist militia fought to stem the advance of General Francisco's Franco's Moors and Foreign Legionnaires, flushed with their

Address and Presentation

On the evening of Sept. 21st the many friends and neighbors of Miss Margaret Croken gathered at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Croken, Emerald, to tender to her their best wishes and bid her farewell before her departure to enter religious life at Mount St. Mary's Charlottetown. After all had gathered the party was called to order and Miss Helen Smith read an address and Miss Leona McEntee presented the gift, a club bag, to which Miss Margaret replied thanking the one and all for their enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

Lunch was then served and the remainder of the evening spent in social enjoyment. Miss Croken also received many individual gifts.

Sept. 21, 1936.

We your friends have gathered here this evening before you depart for your noble calling, to profess the warm and kindly feelings we all hold towards you. In these past few years, part of which we have spent together, you have won a warm place in our hearts, and we have found your presence both enjoyable and interesting. The qualities and attributes which have radiated from your character in the past are those essential for the holy life you have chosen. You may find many difficulties and obstacles to overcome but we feel sure that as in the past your courage and perseverance will lead you successfully onwards and upwards. We know that God's choicest blessings and graces will be showered upon you in your noble work and in return your kind and loving disposition will enable you to serve your Master in a more wholehearted and heavenly way. We ask you to accept this gift as a reminder of our feelings toward you.

We trust that your work will not weigh too heavily on your physical strength but that your health will be good and enable you to fully participate in and use God's graces and blessings.

We all join in wishing you God's speed and confident of your ability we feel sure that an energetic and worthy flower of our Saviour has entered His Vineyard.

NOT WORTH THE COST

In a west of England church the banners between two parishioners had been read for the first time. After the service the vicar was accosted by the prospective bridegroom.

"Mr. Goodbody, I want to speak to 'ee about those banners. Can I 'ave 'em changed?"

"Certainly, if you wish," was the surprised reply. "You are not married yet, or legally bound in any way."

"Ah," with a sigh of relief. "That's what I wanted to know. You see I've been thinking, and seems to me I'd rather have her sister."

"You can please yourself," replied the vicar. "But, of course, fresh banners must be published."

"Ah," A pause. "Mr. Goodbody, I paid 'ee half a crown for putting up those banners. Shall I have to pay another half crown?"

"Of course you will."

"Oh," A long pause. Then, with sudden resolution, "Aw, well, leave 'em be as 'tis."

The Insurgent encampments tonight all but ringed the capital, their unbroken line looking on the map like a clutching hand over Madrid, with the "wrist" stretching off to the east.

Welcome Extended To Baptist Pastor And His Bride

The congregations of Freetown and Bedeque Baptist church extended a cordial welcome to Rev. Douglas Murray Fraser and his bride on their arrival in Bedeque from their wedding tour. On Tuesday Sept. 22nd the Freetown congregation gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Scales to honour the young couple with a post nuptial shower. Mr. Leslie Simmons very capably presided. Several short addresses were given by members of the congregation to which Rev. Mr. Fraser suitably replied. Vocal and instrumental music made the time pass pleasantly until refreshments were served by the ladies.

On Friday evening the Bedeque congregation met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Leard to welcome the bride and groom. Mr. Roy Campbell was chairman and on behalf of those assembled welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Fraser to their midst. Rev. Mr. Fraser in replying, assured them that he and his bride very much appreciated the cordial wishes extended to them and also the valuable gifts presented to them from both congregations. During the evening Elden Leard played some very fine selections on the piano. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies before the guests retired. Rev. and Mrs. Fraser have moved into the parsonage and have taken their place in the social and religious life of the community. A beautiful dining room suite was the gift of both congregations.

An account of their wedding taken from the Halifax Herald will be of interest to their new parishioners.

FRASER—WEBB

An event of wide interest took place at the home of Mrs. Helen Fraser, Westchester Station, Cumberland County, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 17th, when Florence Hazel, daughter of Mrs. Margaret and the late Charles Webb became the bride of Douglas Murray Fraser eldest son of Mrs. Helen and the late Archibald M. Fraser, formerly of Truro. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. A. Meister, of the Baptist Church. The bride and groom were unattended, with some 40 relatives and friends of the contracting parties witnessing the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in navy blue silk crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and snapdragon.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served in rooms tastefully decorated with sweet peas and gladioli. Mrs. Alex McLellan, Pictou, and Mrs. D. D. Fraser Pelly Lake, aunts of the groom, poured tea, and a group serving, included Mrs. Everett MacKay, Truro, Mrs. Roy Webb, Maccan, Miss Ruth Fraser and Miss Bessie Doyle.

The bride prior to her marriage was in charge of the post office at Westchester and was active in church and social life. The groom is a graduate of Pictou Academy and later attended Acadia University. Concluding a short tour of Nova Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser will reside at Central Bedeque, P. E. I., where the former is pastor of the Bedeque Baptist Church.—S.
