"Sleep is the great nourisher of infants, and without peaceful sleep the child will not thrive. This cannot be got if the infant be troubled with worms. Miller's Worm Powders will destroy worms and drive them from the system, and afterwards the child's rest will be undisturbed. The powders cannot injure the most delicate baby, and there is nothing so effective for restoring the health of a worm-worm infant."

Grand Evening Concert

A large and appreciative audience filled St. James' Hall last evening, and were rewarded by an exceptional high-class concert, given under the direction of Mr. Watkins.

Where every item on the program was a veritable gem in its way, it is difficult to particularize, each artist bringing to the occasion, and giving of their very best. Of special interest, and charm though, was Mr. Edgar McIntosh' delightful rendering of two of his rare poems. Charlottetown audiences will surely want to hear more of this talented young soldier's work in the near future. Mr. Watkins, too, gave immense pleasure, as usual, by his splendid playing. His own piano Sonata was given with fine verve and aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

The following was the program: Piano Solo—"Gondoliera" Liszt. Mr. F. T. Watkins. Songs—(a) "In the time of roses," Reichardt, (b) "The Gentle Maiden," Old Irish.—Mr. J. H. Malcolm. Song, "When you come home," Squire.—Mrs. J. A. Lawson. Songs, (a) "I hear a thrush at eve," Cadman, (b) "Wait,"—D'Hardelot.—Mr. G. E. Ritchie. Song, "A String of Pearls," Phillips.—Mrs. H. S. Henderson. Quartette, "Oft in the stilly night"—The St. James' Male Quartette. Recitation, Extract from "Anne of Green Gables," Montgomery.—Miss Edna Gordon.

Interval Piano Solo—1st movement from Sonata in E minor—Watkins—by request.—Mr. F. T. Watkins. Song, selected.—Mrs. P. Barlow. Song, selected.—Mrs. H. S. Henderson. Recitation, "Old Ace," Brooks.—Miss Effie Agnew. Duet, "Home to our mountains," Mrs. Lawson and Mr. Ritchie. Recitation, Selections from poems, McInnis.—Mr. Edgar McInnis. Quartette, "Sweet and Low," Barnby.—Mrs. Lawson, Miss J. McDonald, Messrs. Ritchie and Barlow. National Anthem.
