FORESTER'S MEETING.

the year when one can best leave home, I was unable to go, and was compelled to carry this amount over another year.

5. As to the amount which seems to be due the Supreme Court for our High Court charter, I may say that the Past High Chief Ranger, Dr. Robertson, and myself visited Sackville at the time of the meeting of the High Court of New Brunswick and there we had a long interview with the Supreme Secretary, during which we did our very best to convince him that our High Court should not pay this amount. He promised to bring our case before the Executive Council, which I am informed he did with results unfavorable to us.

6. Several members have complained to me that the Finances of their Courts are not satisfactory, and claim that the Secretaries do not keep proper accounts. It seems to me that some system of inspection might be brought into operation by this High Court such as they have in other Provinces and States.

7. While we have paid only a small amount for nursing there are some cases pending, the liability for which I am unable to give. There has been considerable difficulty in securing trained nurses, and in my opinion, if we take away the safeguard we placed around the plan last year we will open up the chances for even greater disputes than we have had. Our members still continue to go to the hospitals and I am of the opinion that it would be the greatest good to the greatest number if, instead of trying to nurse our membership in over a thousand homes, we would secure a ward in the hospital, and I strongly recommend that you make an appropriation for this purpose.

The following is a list of deaths during the past year:

NAME	Age	Benefit Paid	Reason why Full Amount was not Paid
Morrow John R.	1000 00	1000 00
Newsom John H.	1000 00	1000 00
Jelly, Wm. E.	688 88	888 88	Not paying on correct age
Lawson, Wm. A.	1000 00	1000 00
Amour, N. D.	1000 00	1000 00
Corbett, Richard W.	1000 00	1000 00
Sprague Richard W.	125 00	125 00	Suitcase
West, Thos. Fredk.	1000 00	1000 00
Hopgood, Wm. H.	1000 00	1000 00
Thompson, Russell	1000 00	1000 00
Stewart Donald	1000 00	1000 00
Thompson, John W.	1000 00	1000 00

You will observe that in two cases the full amount insured for has not been paid. In the first case, that of the late Brother Jelly, no one can complain as his beneficiaries received what he paid for. He represented himself younger than he actually was at the time of joining. But in the case of Brother Sprague it is altogether different, and the facts are these:—

The late R. W. Sprague joined the order in 1883 as a charter member of Court Silvan, and was while he remained at Montague was one of the most energetic and devoted members of the order. At that date there was not one clause in the constitution referring to suicides. The constitution has since been changed without his knowledge or consent. The first intimation the relatives had of it was the payment of only fifteen per cent of the amount due them.

Some years ago I advocated in this High Court to change the constitution so that if a member died before he was in the order three years, that he be paid only fifty per cent of the amount of his insurance. The proposition found no supporters in this body and afterwards I advocated it to the Supreme Chief Ranger. His answer was that while he would admit that such an amendment would save the order from many dollars, he would never consent to "grade the order."

If such a plan as the above would grade our order, what shall we say to the law that takes from a member for fifteen years a sum sufficient to insure him for one thousand dollars, and then pays his beneficiary one hundred and twenty five dollars? In my humble opinion it is not only "grades" but "degrades" the order.

If you believe, as I do, in matter you will leave no stone unturned to have the constitution amended in this respect, by electing a capable man to the next Session of the Supreme Court who knows how to proceed in matters of this kind. As no doubt several Perrin's kid gloves, a guarantee with every pair. We do not sell a glove that we cannot strictly warrant. 5 hook lacing gloves black and colors; 100 dome clasps; $1.15 and $1.25 per pair; 7 hook lacing black and colors, $1.25; Undressed gloves black and colors $1.35. Summer driving gloves $1.25. We have all the newest colors and shades.—McGougan and Wright.

It is noticeable that strangers find it difficult to locate the baggage master at the Summerside railway station and often bystanders are asked to check baggage etc. to the annoyance of the traveller and the bystander as well. Would it not be a good idea to have the officer in charge dressed in uniform as at all up-to-date railway depots? Even a hat, or cap to distinguish the officer from the travelling man would remove the trouble.

changes of the constitution will be changed at the next session of the Supreme Court, I recommend that this High Court petition to have section 13 (3) amended by inserting in the first and second lines the words "Executive Council" in the place of the words "Supreme Chief Ranger;" and section 70 (2) by inserting in the first and second lines the words "High Standing Committee" in place of the words "High Chief Ranger," and all other section and sub-sections of the constitution to harmonize with those two amendments. Knowing that you will give these several matters the consideration they deserve, I am yours in L. B. & C.,

Session opened at 2.30 p. m. The minutes of forenoon session were read and confirmed. Dr. Toombs, H. C. R. then conferred the High Court degree upon thirty-three members of the Order.

Bro. A. W. McRae, P.H.C.R., of St. John, N. B. was then introduced and addressed the Court and conveyed the greetings of the High Court of New Brunswick. He came to fill the place of Bro. H. B. Hamersson who found it impossible to be present. His address was practical and contained many valuable suggestions.

Bro. Jas. Glendinning Ex. M. P. Toronto was called upon and gave a brief address re his work of organization on the Island. The committee on Constitution and Laws submitted their report, which in part recommended the following resolution:—"That after a brother has been a beneficiary member in good standing for three consecutive years his policy shall be indispensible for any cause whatever except non payment of dues and satisfactory proof of correct age."

Prof. Robertson's Visit to Rural Schools

THE PRACTICAL WORK. Of Training Boys and Girls Meets With the Professor's Approval.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—When Prof. Robertson, Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture, was in England recently he made special inquiry into the methods of education pursued in the rural schools. He visited several large schools of this class, with gardens attached, where each of the elder boys had his own particular plot to work in. The labor by the lads in the garden was counted as part of the school course, and evidently had a good effect in quickening the youthful intelligence, while at the same time it was the means of imparting a stock of useful knowledge to those who would afterwards spend their lives in the rural districts. In some of the schools also Prof. Robertson found that two or three lessons per week were devoted to training the faculty of observation, by lessons on objects, principally plants or parts of plants, and insects, which the children would bring to school on the days when these lessons were on the time table. "I look," said the professor to-day to the Globe correspondent, "for a great movement in England and in Scotland in the near future in connection with elementary schools in rural districts, in which the effort will be made to train the faculties of the children towards capacity in the sort of life they will mostly lead when they grow up, instead of, as one gentleman put it, 'mummifying' their minds by loading them up with lessons only from books. I would not single out any particular school whose methods could be copied in Canada with advantage, but I found the Queen's School at Winalpeg-ham, near Osburn, to be a most admirable one in the training which even the young children receive. I visited it with His Majesty's inspector, Mr. T. G. Roper, who has devoted very much attention to education in the rural schools, and has only recently returned from a tour of inspection in Germany made on behalf of the Department of Education of the Imperial Government." Prof. Robertson was also much impressed with the ability shown in the conduct of the girls' school at Whippingham by Mrs. Thomas and the excellent system in vogue there. The girls received instruction in sewing while sitting in the garden attached to the school, and were taken for walks and rambles, which formed part of the school course. On returning to the school the pupils were required to write down what they had observed during the walk this being part of the writing exercise. "I went one day with Mr. Roper," Prof. Robertson continued, "to a large school for boys near Rugby. It was an institution to prepare lads for the public schools, such as Rugby, Eton and Harrow conducted by Rev. Walter Earle. This gentleman invites the teachers of the elementary schools in the surrounding district to gather at his place, Bilton Grange, on Saturday. Over 100 were present when I had the pleasure of being his guest. The event of the meeting was an address by Mr. Roper of what he had observed during his visit to the schools in Germany, with a statement of some of his conclusions for the information and guidance of the teachers of Warwickshire. The collection and dissemination of information in that way must result in progress in the right directions and in the right spirit. I count my visit to Bilton Grange on that occasion as not the least useful and enjoyable that I made while in Great Britain. In Cheshire I visited a school at Bunbury with Mr. Charles S. Ronndell. The teacher there, Mr. Bailey, has been giving the lessons to which I have referred on plants, insects and other objects in the locality for over 30 years, and about 70 per cent of the boys from the school have settled in the neighboring country. I would not say that what I observed was attributable to the instruction given at the school, but taking the farmsteadings and the appearance of the country—its neatness and the excellent condition of the pastures and cattle—as I drove through it, I would characterize it as one of the most thrifty and prosperous districts in England. Really I think I would be warranted in saying that a good deal of this excellence was owing to the training of the faculties of observation and thinking on matters that concern the daily life of the people. One seemed to find a more intelligent look in the faces of the children in that school than in the countenances of the children in most of the rural schools in England, showing that the result is really the culture and development of the intelligence, for more than any special aptitude of the hand or even knowledge of agriculture." Prof. Robertson accumulated a large amount of information relating to education during his stay in England, and will embody some of it in a paper which he intends to read before the Dominion Education Association at its approaching convention in Ottawa.
