

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1912.

HOW THE PROVINCE MAY BECOME MORE PROGRESSIVE.

The enterprising Board of Trade of the city of St. John send out a weekly circular to the newspapers over a wide area of adjoining Provinces and States setting forth the progress being made in city and country, the new enterprises projected or under way and generally setting forth the attractions of the Province for settlers, for business chances and for sport and pleasure, with a view to attract both new settlers and tourists. This has been going on for several years and has been proved to be good paying work.

Special efforts are also made from year to year to induce former residents of the Province to return, at least for a visit, and if possible to resume residence in the land of their nativity. A "Back to New Brunswick Week" is in preparation for early in July. An effort is being made to secure addresses of as many expatriated New Brunswickers as possible, and where address are obtained special invitations are being sent to all such persons to come home and join in the celebration. All the people are also requested to write their friends and relatives abroad inviting them to come. Plans are made for many attractions during the week so as to give the friends from abroad a good time when they come, and make them want to stay.

Then the Provincial Government has developed a ready-made farm scheme, designed to attract new settlers and to repatriate natives of the Province who have gone abroad. Three Commissioners are to be appointed to form a Farm Settlement Board authorized to purchase and hold property, to erect buildings and sell the farms to settlers at a price not exceeding the cost with the cost of improvements. The purchaser will be required to pay 25 per cent down and the balance in ten yearly instalments with 5 per cent interest. In special cases the instalments may be extended two years.

The Board is authorized to borrow $100,000 for 20 years at 4 per cent, and it is provided that both the loan and the interest will be paid in payments of $5,000 annually out of the current revenue of the Province. Premier Fleming hopes that the plan will work so successfully that more than $100,000 will be needed. In Australia more than $19,000,000 has been loaned on a similar plan. The Dominion Government has promised to assist the movement by appointing an official who will act as Superintendent, and also to have a pamphlet on the ready-made farm plan prepared and circulated at all the agencies of the Dominion Government in Great Britain.

Now it is easily practicable to do the same things here in Prince Edward Island as are being done in New Brunswick. We could have "Back to the Island Week" and invite hosts of Islanders abroad to come back and see their friends and their old Island homes, give them reduced rates of transport, furnish a week of recreation and ourselves join in it. Moreover if proper steps were taken to acquaint them with full information as to farms vacant or for sale, business chances offering, and so on as is being done in the sister Province, many of these would be induced to resume their permanent residence here.

In any case the movement would advertise the Province, set people talking about it, stimulate tourist travel, bring buyers and sellers together and in a score of ways promote trade and prove interesting and profitable to all concerned. Is it not worth trying? Hitherto our Province has had very little advantage from the big expenditure and extensive advertising put forth by the Dominion Government to secure either the repatriation of Canadian exiles or to secure new settlers from abroad. We are entitled to share in this and can have it if we set about it as New Brunswick is doing. A thorough well-devised plan of repatriation might work wonders, and as a means to that end New Brunswick's ready-made farm scheme might be duplicated here, or some similar plan that would give sure footing to those who wish to return to their native land from abroad. It is time we began to get busy along one or other or all the lines above suggested.

THE SENATE AND ROADS.

There is loud condemnation of the Senate in every Province of Canada for its refusal to pass the Roads Bill, providing federal aid for permanent roads throughout Canada. The treasury of the Dominion overflows with a record surplus, the product of the people's taxes. The Dominion has expended hundreds of millions on railways and other means of transportation, but nothing on the public highways, the most important of all. Besides, the highways support and feed the railways with traffic. Federal aid for the roads was therefore both a reasonable and an urgent proposition.

And the Provinces needed the money—especially the Maritime Provinces. By the Senate's action Nova Scotia loses this year nearly $70,000, New Brunswick $50,000, Prince Edward Island $13,000. And the Senate is blamed for it. For its action there are few defenders and these are apparently half-hearted. Most Liberal papers prefer to treat the matter with silence, feeling that a great mistake has been made. The Senate's course in this matter is distinctly unpopular, and nowhere is it more so than in Prince Edward Island. We trust that when the matter again comes up next year better counsels will prevail in the Red Chamber.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

A serious charge is being widely circulated against Captain Moore of the steamship Mount Temple, an Atlantic liner on her way to St. John and since arrived there, in connection with the Titanic disaster. The charge is made by Dr. E. C. Quitzman of Toronto, who was a passenger on the Mount Temple, and by some members of the crew and others of the 1600 passengers, that they were in sight of the Titanic and saw the rocket signals from the sinking ship, but that Capt. Moore disregarded all signals and steamed away for St. John. It is an awful charge, but is squarely denied by Capt. Moore.

In an interview with the St. John Standard he admits having received a C. Q. D. signal from the Titanic on the fatal night. He says he was then about fifty miles distant from the sinking ship, but immediately changed his course and went at full speed toward the Titanic, and made ready for the work of rescue. Later he received a second message, and raced along in the darkness until he came to a large field of ice. He was then about ten miles from the Titanic, but he and his officers, keeping a sharp lookout, failed to see any signals from the injured ship.

Several officers of the Mount Temple confirm the captain's statement, which is contradicted by statements from some members of the crew. Sailors and firemen say they sat on the deck for hours and saw the rockets and red and blue lights of the Titanic, and only lost sight of them as the Mount Temple steamed away on her course. The matter is to be investigated, Captain Moore and Dr. Quitzman being summoned to Washington to attend the Senate inquiry, and the deposition of other officers of the Mount Temple to be taken by commission in St. John.

NOTES

We have seven letters on hand intended for publication against the repeal of the automobile Act. The subject has been pretty well threshed out and not much that is new can be said upon it. And there seems no prospect of the Legislature repealing the existing law at this session. We have also many pieces of original poetry on hand. Wherefore we ask our correspondents to be patient.

There are three hundred Rexall remedies and each one is of superior merit for curing the particular disease for which it is intended. These remedies are strictly non-secret—the ingredients are printed on each package—and the wonderful cures they have secured make them the most reliable and certain remedies now on the market. 5,000 druggists throughout Canada and the United States handle these preparations and we are one of them. SAMPLE DISTRIBUTION OF AMATITE ROOFING.

The manufacturers of Amatite ask us to say that they are ready to distribute samples of their roofing to any one who is interested in the new type of roofings. Anybody can obtain one of these samples by simply addressing a request for it to the nearest office of the Carritte-Paterson Mfg. Co., Limited, St. John, N. B., Halifax, N. S.

This sample serves to show the mineral surface of Amatite, which is its great unique feature. By this mineral surface, Amatite eliminates the painting nuisance. You lay Amatite on the roof, leave it alone and it will take care of itself year after year. It needs no painting or attention. Of course, this reduces the total roofing expenses considerably, for nobody who has had experience with the ordinary smooth-coated roofing is willing to consider that paint is cheap. It might be expected that Amatite would cost more than the smooth-coated roofings, but its price, in fact, is somewhat lower than roofs of the old type.

If you are interested in ready roofing Amatite is worth remembering.
